

"AX" MURDERS

Man Held at St. Louis Accused of Slaying
Three Persons

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 22.—The investigation of 50 "ax" murders committed in five states since 1911 was reopened here yesterday after the arrest last night of Loving Mitchell.

The warrant on which Mitchell was arrested charges him with the murder of William E. Dawson, his wife and daughter, who were slain in their home at Monmouth, Ill., on the night of Sept. 30, 1914. Since that time communities in Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Colorado and Kansas have been terrorized by similar crimes.

In every instance the murderer, armed with an ax, killed an entire family as they slept. Scores of persons have been arrested, but invariably the police were forced to release them for lack of evidence.

In the house at Monmouth where the Dawson family lived the police found an electric flashlight on which were scratched the words, "Colorado Springs" and "Loving." This was virtually the only evidence ever found by the authorities after the discovery of the bodies of the victims.

Mitchell's arrest followed a search of more than three years. He had been employed near Monmouth, but disappeared after the murders in the Dawson home. He was later traced to Independence, Mo., and from there to St. Louis.

Late last night the prisoner was taken back to Monmouth by Chief of Police Morrison and Mayor Brown of that city. Before leaving Chief Morrison said:

"Dawson, his wife and daughter were murdered by three negroes, two men and a woman. Revenge for attention which the negroes believed Dawson had shown their relatives was the motive for the crime. The negro woman in the case I will arrest soon; the other man is now in the Joliet, Ill., penitentiary."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
A treat is promised Lowell Opera House patrons this week in the presentation of "Gretchen Green," with Marguerite Clark, dainty and magnetic, in the principal part, that of Dolly Erskine. "Gretchen Green" is a fascinating romance, with scenes laid in Scotland.

The original play was named after the celebrated spot of the same name in Scotland where, according to the law of the early 19th century, couples were married by the local blacksmith, the town clerk, or in fact, anybody who happened to be handy at the time such impromptu marriages occurred. About this novel fact is woven one of the most ingenious and amusing romances of the day.

In this picturesque comedy drama Marguerite Clark portrays the character of the capricious heiress, who meets and falls in love with the disguised Earl of Basset (who is residing at Harrowgate, Inverlorn, in the guise of a poor fishing master) disregarding the fact, often proclaimed by her guardian, Sir William, that she will forfeit her fortune if she weds another than one with a title. The Earl, in a boasting moment, wagers with a friend that he will conquer the heart of Dolly Erskine by his title and wealth, within a month. Dolly overhears only enough of this vain promise to think the Earl a proud cad, and refuses ever to see him again.

Now, through an accidental statement intended to vindicate the honor of her sister, she realizes that she has declared herself to be the wife of Murray, how she threatens to obtain an immediate divorce, and how she subsequently learns that her marriage is not so unbreakable, after all, are dramatically and humorously depicted in the development of the plot.

This latest Marguerite Clark characterization establishes her in a more pronounced manner than ever as one of the ablest and most charming screen stars of the world, an owl greatly adds to the already imposing number of her stage and screen admirers.

Miss Clark is surrounded with a superbly chosen cast, including such notable players as Arthur Hoops, Julia Wolcott and Helen Luttrell. The numerous beautiful sets throughout the production, faithfully suggesting the scenery of the world, and the striking and unique costumes of the period contribute to the general charm of the picture.

Dr. Devereux has arranged for a program of music taken from the old time favorite, "The Mikado," and Frederic's orchestra will entertain with selections of variety and quality. Musical and Keystone films will be seen at all performances, with the Paramount, of course, the central feature.

The management has the pleasure of presenting war paintings by Paul Philippot, and will exhibit them with special illuminations during the next few weeks. The first picture will be "The Greys of the Nations," an admirable production.

Attention is called to the opening hours, 1:30 and 7:30 p. m., with performance beginning at 2 and 8 o'clock p. m.

L. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

How the "little" girl, by a very innocent mistake, caused six persons much grief and embarrassment, and five of them, is told in "A Telephone Tangle," a straight comedy which will be presented by Joseph Hart at the L. F. Keith theatre this week. Dorothy Regal will appear in the part of the telephone operator who caused all of the trouble, and six other carefully selected persons will play the parts of the subscribers who get thrown in contact with each other and who misinterpret everything which is said to them.

Julia Nash is one of the best known actresses on the native stage, and it is well that she has been chosen for the part of "Molly Farwell." In Willard Mack's play of the same name, called "What Molly Knew," Mr. Mack, since his "Kick in" was produced has risen very rapidly to the very forefront of American playwrights. He has the very unusual knack of twisting life so that it shall fit into the limits of stage works, and nothing he has done demonstrates this any more clearly than does "What Molly Knew." As a foretold the piece is not a comedy, rather does it deal with the demerit, the half world, where those who are losing their sense of self-respect mingle with those who have quite lost it. It is a sort of melting pot, where the best have not gone to the gutter are fast being levelled. And Mack has constructed of this a gripping story. Eleanor Carleton will have the part of "Frankie" White, the woman in the case, and Henry Chesterfield will play the crook. The piece will be staged under the personal direction of Charles Mack. Countess Gracina, Italian pianista and piano-accompanist, will add much of refinement to the bill, for the countless, who has long been known as one of the best entertainers on the European stage, brings with her that polish and refinement of manner which seems specially to be a part of imported artists. She will play several well known piano numbers and will then give a repertoire on the piano-accompaniment, which is one of the rarest of concert instruments and of which the countless is mistress.

Lopez and Lopez are Andalusian musicians who will bring with them not only several of the uncommon instruments of their native province, but who will show that wealth of costume for which the Spaniards are noted. Their act is called "Melodias in Crystal" and it is said to be wholly different from any other act before the public. Special electrical attachments are used in the presentation.

Herbert Cyril and Auster Stuart are English music hall performers, and their act is known as "The Chimples." Cyril has appeared in this city in the past, and he is known as a most agreeable singer of ballads. Stuart has been in several of the bigger English musical comedies in leading roles. The men will offer the real flavor of the strand, for they are exponents of the higher type of English comedy.

The Misses Mildred and Ruth, two charming young women, are billed as "Two Girls and a Piano." They sing and dance and chatter, and play the piano. Eddie Howard is a tumbling clown with lots of novelties to offer, and the latest "Sole" News Picture will offer a lot of new foreign and domestic pictures.

Good seats may be obtained in advance. Phone 25.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

"The Black Box," perhaps the greatest motion picture serial ever produced, will start at the Academy of Music today and the opening reels will be shown today, Tuesday and Wednesday. This is the first serial picture to be offered at the Academy since the theatre became the property of Mr. J. J. Lyons. "The Black Box" is a wonderful mystery story and its scenes, produced in various parts of the world, are most realistic. The picture is full of surprises and thrills. No one should miss the opening reels as they are among the very best in the entire series. This is a most unusual photoplay and will doubtless be a big drawing card at the Academy. Mrs. Clara Macdalen will be the multiple reel feature today, Tuesday and Wednesday, featuring Catherine Countess and Lionel Royman. There will be other fine dramas and the funniest comedy Bill Ritchie ever appeared in. This is the best program ever offered at the Academy.

A Prescription For Spring Fever

USE LOWELL COKE

As Spring comes on, housework drags. The labor of tending fires, sifting ashes and scrubbing and cleaning, seems more than you can bear.

Why not take things easy by throwing off the burden of coal and using clean, light Lowell Coke. No dust or ashes, no annoying gases, no danger of injuring your grate. You get a quick, hot fire and one that keeps well too.

Another burden escaped is the high cost of coal. Lowell Coke users, as stated in their letters which we have published, save upwards of $2.00 a ton.

December 18, 1914.
Lowell Gas Light Company,
Lowell, Mass.
Gentlemen:—
Anyone who wants a fine fuel and to save money too, certainly ought to try Lowell Coke. For $5.00 I get the same heat which would cost over $7.00 for coal. I don't have any trouble with burning the grate—fire is easy to build, hot and steady, with little ashes, clinkers, etc.
Yours truly,
(Signed) JAS. E. MOODY,
Manager Turner Centre Creamery.

You can figure it out yourself.
Lowell Coke costs you only $5.90 a ton. 4 tons for $23.00. Extra heap measure---Look at your weight slips.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

This will be a big night for the Merrimack Square Theatre, for the sporting editor of this paper for tonight his first attempt at play-writing is to be produced at the Merrimack Square Theatre. The name of this young man as most of you know is "The Lucky Nine." In four acts and as many scenes, with each scene a character a thrilling, breath-taking human being and the action of the play is laid out there in the west. It's a play that is bound to be successful. Not only because it was written by a rather partly action for Walter Woods assisted by a Lowell man, but because of its merits. And it has a lot of merit too. You'll say the same thing after you've seen the play. And of course you'll want to see it. This afternoon will mark the first performance, and tonight will mark the first evening performance. A large party of Mr. Woods' friends have planned to make it a big event. Seats now.

THE OWL THEATRE

Well folks, we're to come back to the old policy, never to change this time. Beginning today, the regular four changes a week will prevail. And for a great big start, in order to spirit up a crowd of eminent and enterprising competitors, we will offer Kipling's

"Vampire" as a special feature photo-play.

"Vampire" as a special feature photo-play, taken from the first line, and you should see Edward Ross in this part, to understand the great folly of a weak man. Theda Bara, an actress specially imported to play this part in this feature, will make you shudder with her weird and magnetic personality as the "Vampire." She plays in two guises, one of which she calls her "tiger" life dress. The first is more entirely of rubber skin and has long right sleeves falling over her hands to make her arm look like the paws of a deadly feline. The tiger life gown is wrought of real gold leaf. Theda is one day. There are ten men of the same type—men who take everything from women—look, devotion, beauty, touch and give nothing in return. The vampire is the vengeance of the sex upon its exploiters. You see, she's evil. "I have the face of a vampire but the heart of a feminist." There is no denying that this woman is of a very peculiar nature, and her personality is a wonderful mixture. Well, folks, what do you think of this? Bara's trade against you! Maybe she's right. However, she is worth looking at in this first five-part production. And remember, other new-to-Lowell reels will add greatly to the performance.

THEATRE VOYONS

For the first half of the week the Voyons has a very good show with several of the best movie stars on the bill. Alice Joyce, one of the big stars, Helen Holmes, the queen of Greek stunts, Guy D'Arcy and Leo D. Maloney, considered two of the handsomest leading men on the screen and last, but not least, a 2-part comedy that will make you fall off your chair with laughter over two hours of entertainment for ten cents.

REV. WM. A. BARTLETT

He Turned From Rum to the Bible and Its Teachings—He Called for Converts

Rev. Dr. Bartlett's auditors at the First Congregational church Sunday night included the jury on the Grogan murder trial. Dr. Bartlett took as his sermon subject "Are You a Christian? Does It Make Any Difference?" He said in part:

"At the close of last Sunday evening's service, after I had placed the responsibility of the rum-ridden condition of Lowell, a swarm of people came to me with accounts of the things they had seen within 24 hours. Four drunken men sitting or rather wallowing at the side of the road, fighting for a bottle of whiskey; a man thrown out of a saloon, apparently with delirium tremens, pitched out as far as the door, and his hat thrown after him! Truly the rum is a wonderful friend to those it destroys! Friends pleaded with me to see persons who were throwing their lives away, but didn't appear to realize it."

"From all I hear, there is much misunderstanding and much ignorance concerning the great truths of the Bible. I have been touched at messages urging me not to shorten these sermons because as one said: 'We do not understand these things, and are hungry to know more.' It has become a truism that people do not want doctrinal preaching any more. But those who say that do not know what they are talking about. The people and the churches are longing for doctrinal preaching. Doctrine is teaching; and teaching about the way to live, and the life hereafter, and man's relation to himself and to his God, and the greatest and most urgent matters which can fasten the attention of any one. All other affairs are trivial compared to that of the present and future destiny of the soul. If we Protestant ministers should preach such sermons as are now being preached to Catholic congregations on the subject of God, and the final separation of the millions of earth's inhabitants, we would be called medieval and out of date. But we would have larger congregations. There is a voice in the heart of every man, woman and child which speaks of sin, of righteousness and of judgment to come. The ministers must have a message from the pulpit as searching as the voice in every heart."

Follow Me
Jesus made the Christian life very simple. When he called his first disciples he said "Follow Me." And we read that these unlettered men "left all and followed him." They left their business, their nets or like Matthew, the money changer's table. They left their homes, and joined his circle. But Jesus would permit of no half-way measures. The beginning was simple, but if they were to become followers of the Divine One, there was no going back, no trimming, no compromise, no half-way course. The man who wanted to say goodbye to his family was told that the Son of Man had less of a home than the birds and the foxes. The man who wanted time to bury his father, was told that this was a life mission which could not wait for funerals, and that he must follow at once. Men were told that home, honors, funds, precious possessions, even the body itself, were of no importance compared to the one great decision.

Drawing the Net

I have been strongly urged to "draw the net," or to call for a decision. Let us make no mistake about this thing. All Jesus asks of his ministers is that they preach the gospel to every creature. If any man will show me a command for me to draw the net, I will do it. True, we are to be "fishers of men," but fishing men is more delicate business than fishing trout. I am preaching the gospel, and in the name of Jesus I am inviting you to partake of the "living water" which the woman of Samaria found, and made her a missionary within ten minutes, after a life of sin. But I want to drive you into the kingdom, and I do not propose to try it. I saw one of the most famous evangelists try to drive men into the kingdom, here in Lowell, and they wouldn't drive, not one arose. Then he got mad and preached more hell to them, and tried to scare them; but there is something peculiar about human nature, and it won't be forced, and it won't be scared. I believe in presenting the solemn, yes, the awful truths of God to mankind, and to give the warnings we should, there is not enough of that. But I believe also, that we present Jesus as he pray God, I may be presenting him tonight as the Wonderful Saviour, the friend of sinners, the One altogether lovely, and who can, through the shed blood of His precious sacrifice, wash us till we are clean; purge us till these red and guilty hearts are whiter than snow.

TRIBUTE TO IRISH VALOR

Scotch Soldier Writing From the Trenches Describes Heroism of Irish Soldiers

The following tribute to the bravery of Irishmen in the European war describes a situation that duplicates that celebrated in the poem "Pattericoil" by Thomas Davis when the Irish brigades were defeated in a historic battle on the continent.

Following is an extract from the Irish Weekly and Elster Examiner which is a good example of the reckless bravery of the Irish and Scotch in the present war.

Private Robert McGregor of the Gordon Highlanders, writing to his father, who resides at 511 Great Eastern road, Parkhead, Glasgow, gives the following thrilling account of an engagement with the Germans:

In Fierce Fighting

"I am leaving the trenches, where we have been for about 10 days, and we are now enjoying a well-earned rest at ——. You may have heard of the severe fighting by this time. It was awful, and I am sorry to say many of our poor fellows will never come home again."

"On the night of Dec. 25 we were informed that the Germans would make an attack on our trenches, so that not an eye was closed that night. About 4 o'clock we thought it was a false alarm, and we settled to enjoy 40 minutes when their artillery opened fire on us. Our trenches for two miles were of a V-shape, and the Germans seemed to direct all their guns on this part, but, thanks to their poor marksmanship, our immediate neighborhood didn't get much attention at first."

"We were near what I think you call the apex of the V, and howling shot and shell tore overhead dropping all other sounds, until we heard the thrashing of an aeroplane. Then a search light played on us, followed by the dropping of bright bombs, which brilliantly lit up the whole place, and in a few minutes the shells got us, and we came plump into us. One shell came right into our position and knocked over 12 of our fellows. They were practically torn asunder, and the whole side of the trench was torn up."

Daring of the Irish

"Our guns were blazing away, and I think, found the fellows who were annoying us, as their fire got slack, and finally ceased. This sort of thing was kept up till day dawned, and we lost (remainder of this sentence censored.) Then we saw the Hun advancing as unconcerned as if on parade. On they came in close formation, and there must have been 10 to 1 against us. We fired as fast as we could, but they seemed to come out of nowhere, and never halted. When they were getting too close we charged. It was our only chance. When they saw us leaving the trenches they halted for a moment, but afterward came on to meet us. I don't remember much of what took place then. It was stab and hack, back and stab. You could hear the smother of gun against gun, the thud, thud, but beyond this an uneasy silence."

"Now and then there was an oath and a groan. How long this went on I really don't know (but it seemed a year to me.) We drove them back about 100 yards. Our officers saw the Germans reinforced, and sounded the retreat, but owing to a few machine guns we couldn't get back to our trenches. The Germans now greatly increased, came on again, and our fellows, only about 170 left, got ready to meet what seemed certain death. But just at that moment we heard the sound of singing, and the song was 'God Save Ireland.' It was the Connaught Rangers coming to our relief."

"We were irresistible. I have seen some reckless Irishmen in my time, but nothing to match the recklessness and daring of these gallant Irishmen. They took the Germans on the left flank."

"The Germans now would probably number about 2000 against about 500 Connaughts and 170 of us; but had there been 50,000 Germans I don't believe in my soul they could have stood before the Irish. They simply were irresistible, and all the time kept singing 'God Save Ireland.'"

"One lone red-haired son of Erin having broken his rifle lost possession of a German officer's sword, and everything that came in the way of this giant went down. I thought of Wallace. Four hundred and seventy Huns were killed and wounded and we took 10 prisoners. Had it not been for the Irishmen I would not be writing this; and then it comes to a hand-to-hand fight there is nothing in the British army to approach them. God save Ireland and Irishmen!"

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Stanislaw Daperey, was removed in the ambulance to the Lowell hospital, about 10 o'clock, on Sunday morning as a result of being injured about the face and shoulder in an accident in the David Ziskind yard on Howard street. The man was not seriously hurt.

Church, Mrs. Heald and family, Walter Murphy, Morris family, Mrs. C. Smith. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

DEATHS

WOODS—Henry Woods, for the past 10 years head bookkeeper at the North Chelmsford Machine & Supply Co., and well known among business men in this city, died very suddenly Saturday afternoon at his home in Middlesex street, North Chelmsford. The cause of death was given as heart trouble. Mr. Woods hurried for a car while returning home from the Vesper-County club and had just stepped into his house when he dropped dead. His age was 71 years. Mrs. Woods has been associated in business in North Chelmsford with George C. Moore for the past 25 years and was a man of keen business instinct and mental capacity. Mr. Woods was born in 1842, one of a family of 11 children. In 1861 he married Eliza Woodroffe Daby and came to this country in 1869 and has lived in North Chelmsford since 1876. His wife died in 1885 and he later married Marion Alice Wells of Boston, who survives him. Besides his wife, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. George A. Kingsbury of Roxbury; a son, George H. Woods of Boston, and four grandchildren and one great-grandchild. He was a member of the Vesper-County club and of Lowell council, Royal Arcanum.

MOONEY—Mrs. Mary Mooney, wife of Matthew Mooney, about 69 years of age, was found dead in bed early yesterday morning by her husband at her home, 117 Fayette street. Medical Examiner Melick viewed the body and attributed death to natural causes. She leaves besides her husband, a brother, Patrick J. Powers.

MELVIN—Mrs. Eliza A. Melvin died yesterday at her home in South Chelmsford, aged 73 years. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Annie L. Melvin of South Chelmsford and a nephew, Charles E. Dame of Chelmsford Centre.

KANE—Mary Kane, infant daughter of Daniel and Katherine Ponchoe Kane, died Saturday at the home of her parents, 22 Lawrence street, aged 6 months.

FERINHA—Frank Ferinha, infant son of John and Virginia Ferinha, died yesterday at the home of his parents, 5 Molloy's Court, aged 9 months and 6 days.

SEWTER—Mrs. Emma F. Sewter died Sunday in Westboro, aged 81 years, 2 months and 8 days. She leaves her husband, William F., and two sons, Percy and Arthur H. Sewter. She was born in 1834 and was a member of the Vesper-County club with George C. Moore for the past 25 years and was a man of keen business instinct and mental capacity. Mr. Woods was born in 1842, one of a family of 11 children. In 1861 he married Eliza Woodroffe Daby and came to this country in 1869 and has lived in North Chelmsford since 1876. His wife died in 1885 and he later married Marion Alice Wells of Boston, who survives him. Besides his wife, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. George A. Kingsbury of Roxbury; a son, George H. Woods of Boston, and four grandchildren and one great-grandchild. He was a member of the Vesper-County club and of Lowell council, Royal Arcanum.

RACKLIFF—Mrs. Emily E. Rackliffe died March 19 in Beverly, at her home, 11 Chelmsford street, aged 55 years. She leaves one son, Charles L., a daughter, Mrs. Lindsey E. Libby, and one sister, Mrs. Harriett A. Nichols, all of Beverly.

JONES—Mrs. Ann M. Jones died yesterday at the home of her son, Edwin E. Jones, 94 West Sixth street, aged 81 years.

PARENT—Uella Parent died yesterday at the Chelmsford Street hospital, aged 35 years. The body was taken to the rooms of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

NUTTAL—Mrs. Annie (Teague) Nut-tal, a well known resident of the immaculate Conception parish, died yesterday at her home, 31 High street, aged 26 years. She leaves her husband, John A.; five sisters, Mrs. Nell Monahan, Mrs. Patrick Hayden and Mrs. James McNulty of this city, and Mrs. John Slavin and Mrs. John Donohoe of Ireland; also her father, John Teague in Ireland.

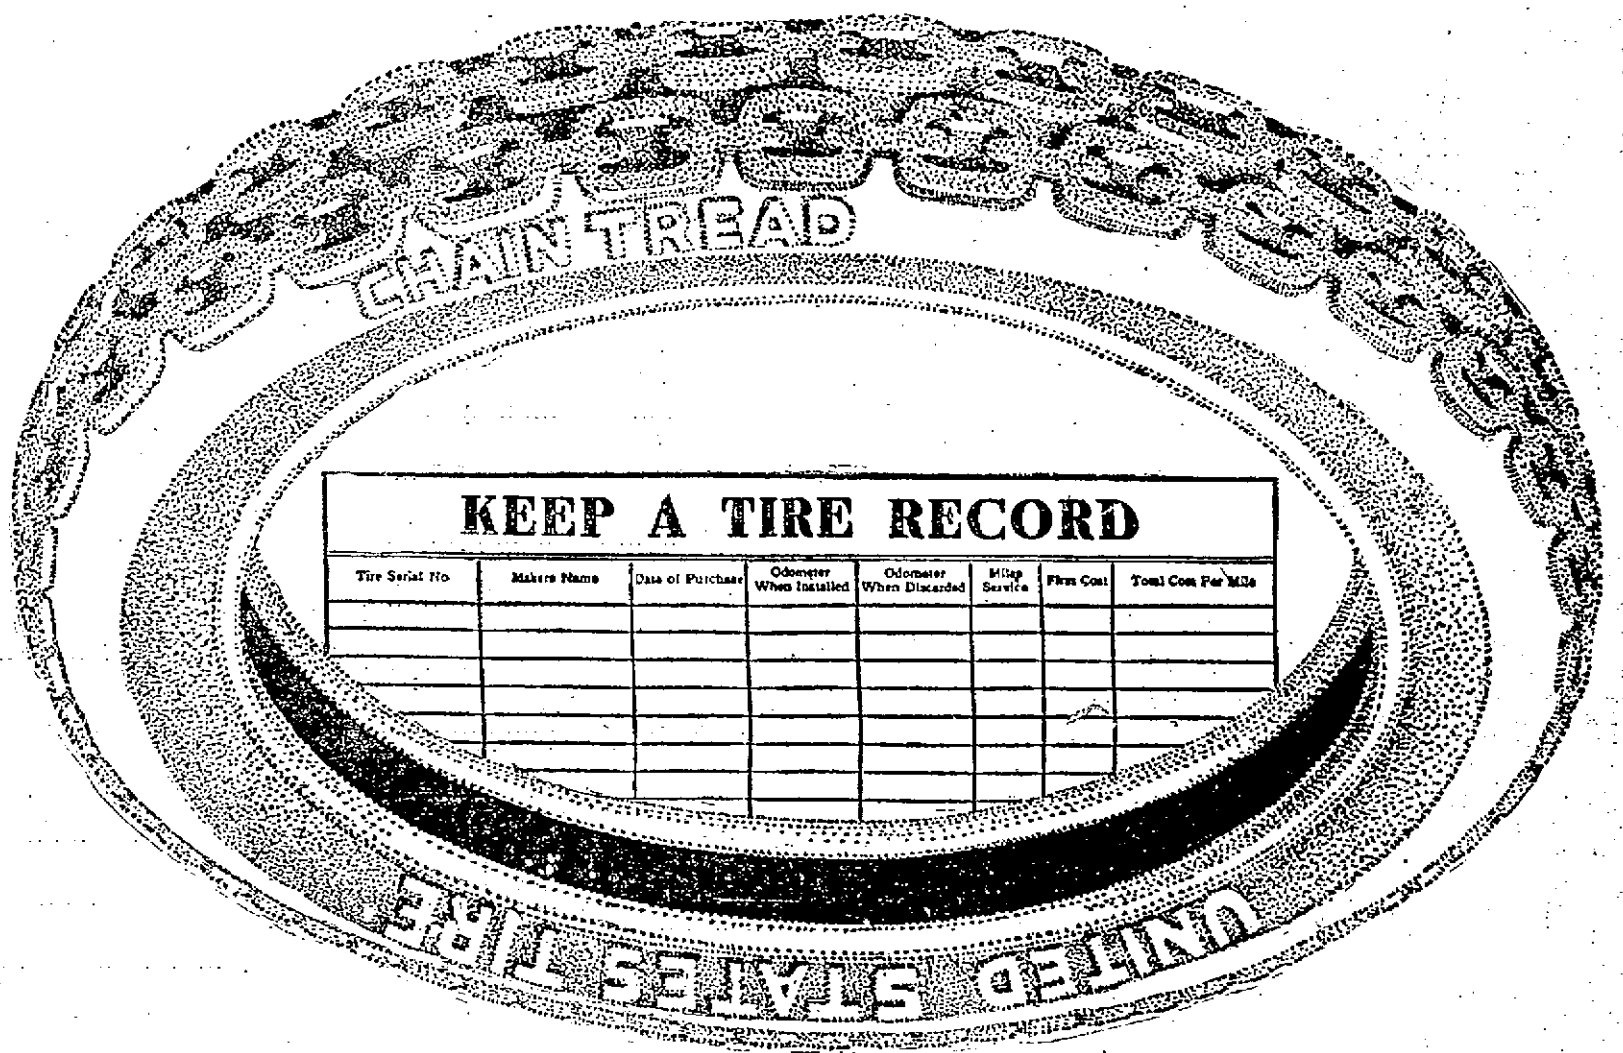

CLANCY—John F. Clancy, an employee of the street department, died Saturday night at his home, 560 Broadway, after a brief illness. He leaves his wife, three sons, Peter, John and Charles; three daughters, Mary, Sarah, and Helen Clancy, all of Lowell. Deceased was a member of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church, Court Merrimack, E. of A., and Div. 9, A. O. H.

HENSON—Mrs. Catherine Henson died Saturday at her home, 163 Lawrence street, aged 75 years. Deceased was born in County Waterford, Ireland, and came to this city in 1831, where she had conducted a grocery business up to the time of her death. She leaves three daughters, Margaret T. Benson and Mrs. M. W. Haloran; a son, John, of New York, and one granddaughter, Mrs. Annie T. Galvin. Deceased was a member of St. Peter's parish for many years.

GERRY—Esther Gerry, infant daughter of Louis and Alice Gerry, died Saturday at the home of her parents, 7 Richardson avenue. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

MANNING—Mrs. Bridget Manning, wife of Michael Manning, died last night at her home, 1 Hancock avenue. Besides her husband, she leaves one son, John, two daughters, Helen and Mary; her father, Denis Moran; two brothers, John and Patrick Moran, and two sisters, Katie and Mary Moran.

SWAMPED IN HEAVY SEAS
Lt. Commander Bricker of U. S.
Converted Yacht Scorpion and Three Sailors Drowned

CONSTANTINOPLE, via Berlin and London, March 22, 10:24 a. m.—Lieut. Commander William F. Bricker of the United States converted yacht Scorpion and three sailors named Ford, Howell and Leverings were drowned on the night of March 20 while attempting to reach their vessel with a rowboat. The Scorpion was anchored in the Bosphorus off Constantinople near Dolmabahceh palace.

The rowboat was swamped in a heavy sea thrown up by a south gale. Lieut. Herbert Babbitt and one sailor who were in the boat were saved.

Lieut. Commander Bricker arrived at Constantinople only on March 16 to succeed Lieut. Commander Edward McCauley, Jr., in command of the Scorpion.

The Scorpion is a converted yacht purchased for the navy in 1896. It has a displacement of 550 tons and has been stationed at Constantinople for some time.

Lieut. Commander Bricker who formerly was naval attaché at the American embassy at Paris left that city on Feb. 28 for Constantinople to assume command of the Scorpion. He was born Jan. 18, 1875, in Pennsylvania and is pointed to the naval academy from the same state in 1896.

GREAT REGRET AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Great regret was expressed by naval officers over the death of Lieut. Commander Bricker, who was well known here.

Seaman Irvin Howell was from Annapolis, Md., where his mother, Mrs. Hattie Howell, lives. Charley Ford's home was in Oxford, Miss. Naval records show no sailor named Leverings. No official advices on the accident had been received by the navy department early today.

TOOK BAD INDIANS ALONE

SEC. GARRISON AWAITS FULL DETAILS OF ACCOMPLISHMENT BY BRIG. GEN. SCOTT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Secretary Garrison today awaited full details as to how Brig. Gen. Scott, chief of staff of the army, succeeded in persuading the four Plate Indians who recently led a band of their tribesmen on the warpath when the federal authorities attempted to arrest the Ne-Gat for murder to return with him. Only meagre advices had been received from General Scott, who in a message from Bluff, Utah, announcing the success of his mission, said he was on his way to Salt Lake City with the four Plate Indians and that all was quiet when he left southern Utah.

Secretary Garrison promptly sent a message of congratulation to General Scott, who in undertaking his mission went unarmed and accompanied only by an orderly and two Navajo scouts.

JAMMED IN HEAVY FLOES

WIRELESS REPORTS FROM SEALING FLEETS INDICATE THAT OUTLOOK IS UNFAVORABLE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 22.—Wireless reports received today from the sealing fleets indicate that the outlook for the season is unfavorable. The eight steamers off the eastern coast after working their way through the ice for some 250 miles up the eastern coast of Newfoundland are now jammed in the heavy floes off Cape St. John at the northern point on Notre Dame bay and about 125 miles south of the easterly entrance to the Strait of Belle Isle. Five hundred seals taken by the steamer Florizel last Saturday comprise the total catch to date. In the average season the eastern fleet captures about thirty thousand seals by this date. The vessels of the western fleet so far have made no catch.

It was reported by wireless today that the steamers Adventure and Bel-Adventure had sustained damage to their propeller blades which will impair their activity somewhat.

COMPLETE THEIR WORK

EVANGELISTS CURRIE AND PETERS HELD FINAL SERVICES AT PALMER ST. CHURCH YESTERDAY

Evangelists Currie and Peters completed their four weeks of revival services at the Palmer Street Baptist church last night.

Rev. Mr. Currie's theme for the evening was "Repentance." The afternoon meeting was inspiring and the church was crowded to the doors. The chorus choir completely filled the large organ and pulpit platform, and the singing was, as usual, no small feature of the service. Mr. Currie complimented the singers on their efficiency and their sustained effort throughout the month of service and said he felt that Lowell had been an inspiring field for work because he had found such willing and efficient helpers. It was not his effort alone, nor that of Mr. Peters that counted, but rather the gathering of the harvest so well prepared by Rev. B. R. Harris, the pastor of the church. Mr. Currie also paid a generous tribute to his wife, who had joined him only last night and who was present at the meeting as a member of the chorus.

Rev. Mr. Harris thanked Mr. Currie and Mr. Peters for their work here. He said they had come here unknown except by reputation, but they went away with the blessing of the entire congregation. Rev. George M. Smiley, pastor of the Central Methodist church, assisted at the evening service by offering the prayer.

THE STORE FOR THRIFTY PEOPLE

Forty years ago this week the founders of this business began a basement selling by moving the bedding into the floor below the street, giving it a counter by itself and one clerk who assisted upstairs when he was not busy. From such a beginning has grown the large plant so familiar to you with its scores of counters and half an acre of selling space, salespeople into the hundreds, offering Household Needs of every sort, Clothing, Footwear etc. etc. at the lowest prices in this section.

Known everywhere as the most Economical Shopping Place in New England, our Great Underprice Basement celebrates its 40th anniversary with bargains in every department.

ON NEUTRAL RIGHTS

Almost every day some principle or rule that guided nations heretofore in their respective dealings with other powers, in time of war, is being broken or disregarded and chaos and confusion have taken the place of what was once known as international law. Germany has declared her intention of adopting certain policies which seem to disregard all the rights of neutrals, and England has declared reprisals that ignore neutral rights still further. Should Germany and England follow out their proposed naval policies, we will certainly be confronted with a time of serious friction and grave uncertainty, that will tax all the diplomacy of the nation and those who guide its destinies.

Since England established her recent blockade by the publication of the Orders in Council, four neutral powers have protested—Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Holland—and, according to reports from Washington, this country is preparing a vigorous protest. What form the American protest will take is not yet known, but it is expected that our government will insist on a full recognition of what we have regarded as our shipping rights since 1812. As in all previous complexities, neutral nations will probably be guided by the attitude of the United States, for this nation being the greatest of the neutral powers is the one best calculated to protest in the name of all.

Present complications throw into relief a suggestion made by some commentators many times since the war began, viz: that neutral nations call a great international conference for the purpose of deciding what the non-belligerent nations consider their inalienable rights, and bringing pressure to bear on the belligerents for the abandonment of any war policies that inflict illegal injury on those who are outside the war zone. Such a joint protest would have greater power than the proposals or protests of all the neutrals severally, and the proposition seems entirely practical, as all neutral powers have about the same interest in the present situation different in degree perhaps but alike in kind.

As the latest English blockade of German ports is understood, it proposes to exert all the rights of an actual blockade without considering the necessity of making it effective by the presence of a sufficient naval force. England, while declaring her intention of making full reparation for any damage unintentionally done, reserves the right to stop every shipment to and from Germany, and holds herself at liberty to consider any and all shipments contraband of war. In some cases, the ships and cargoes will be disposed of by a prize court, but in others, England will confiscate shipments to and from Germany if she considers their delivery contrary to her interests. This policy might easily create a serious situation here, even the stoppage of cotton shipments and dyestuffs, meaning a decided hampering of our cotton and textile industries. As the tendency would be to make the regulations stronger instead of relaxing them, American shipping can claim no liberty during the war except that allowed by England, unless the protest of our government proves effective.

In some quarters the suggestion is being made that the United States congress take steps towards reprisal in the form of an embargo against Great Britain and France for their declaration of an illegal blockade. Such a policy was adopted in this country in 1807, but it reacted more unfavorably on ourselves than on France and Great Britain. It is not likely that anything so drastic would be sanctioned by American public opinion at the present time and in all probability diplomacy will offer some way out of the difficulty without endangering our peace or straining our relations with any power.

In the last analysis we may as well make up our minds that Germany and Great Britain will not prevent international niceties to interfere with any effective policy towards the enemy in the present war. Neutrals may suffer and will suffer to some extent, but the grievances of neutrals are merely secondary considerations. Yet, it might be well for all neutral powers to get together and protest so vigorously that their complaint may be heard above the din of war.

PLANS FOR CLEAN-UP

The plans made by the board of trade in cooperation with the Middlesex Women's club promise a thorough and complete clean-up campaign, calculated to arouse at least a temporary zeal for civic cleanliness in all parts of Lowell. Such a campaign has now lost its novelty but coming annually at this season it cannot but have some beneficial effect, and the offender one is stirred up to consciousness of its need, the stronger will its appeal appear where it is most disregarded. The objection is sometimes made that a period of clean-up activity is useless unless it fosters permanent habits, but surely a movement of general cooperation to such an end must leave some lasting results behind.

Publicity is the great agency making for civic cleanliness—full publicity, followed by discussion by the citizens generally. It is proposed by the two active bodies in charge to have hand bills printed in various languages giving instructions for the removal of rubbish and general cleanliness. This is a good idea, especially if supplemented by individual action in the congested districts, but the greatest effects may be achieved by cooperation between the police department and the bodies in charge. If the various police officers interested themselves for a week or so in their respective beats, they could call the attention of those responsible to all external agencies making for unclean or unsanitary conditions.

The problem of a clean-up campaign for the whole city is merely the problem of a great many units—an untidy house here and there, carelessly kept lawns, broken fences, run down property of all kinds. All that is necessary is to interest the individual owners and tenement dwellers and during the period of the campaign we shall have a zeal for cleanliness and healthy conditions that cannot but leave effective memories before the time of the next clean-up campaign comes round.

IN THE DARDANELLES

The loss of the English battleships Irresistible and Ocean and the French battleship, Bouvet, together with some minor vessels at the entrance of the Dardanelles last Friday indicates that the allies must be prepared for very heavy losses if they would take Constantinople. The fact that these losses did not cause a cessation of the attempt to silence the forts indicates, however, that grave losses had been anticipated. One factor in the losses is not yet clear but upon it depends a great deal and this is whether the sinking of the three battleships was and there is a feeling of confidence where until recently there was a feeling of uncertainty.

THE JITNEYS

In spite of determined opposition the jitneys are spreading their sphere of action and favorable reports generally follow their activity in large cities. One of the latest cities to report enthusiastically is Providence where the five cent bus has drawn a great deal of public patronage. In the west and south the jitney is an accepted institution, but as yet it is an experiment here. As is to be expected the street railroad men oppose them strenuously and they are also opposed by street railway employees and the labor unions for obvious reasons. On the other hand the public seems to approve, and this may be because of the novelty of the experiment. Outside of the larger cities the taxi has not been a success, and it is doubtful if the jitney would find permanent favor.

SEEN AND HEARD

It is just as easy to catch cold in March as it is in any other month.

Just how short does a hute have to be to be a note and not a letter?

A man may eat fruit salad, on compulsion, but it takes a girl to get really enthusiastic over one.

If the kitten should forget and bestow an iron cross on the sultan, would he sultan come back with a crescent?

The time will come, and before many months, too, when the fashionable girl wouldn't be seen on the streets with a stick-on feather in her hat.

A very sensible Lowell woman says that so long as she can always get the men to do what she wants, she doesn't care to rule them.

What a filthy old contraption your new typewriter seems, after the agent of a rival machine has been in the office making a demonstration.

Perhaps there wouldn't have been any war if woman suffrage had been the universal rule, and perhaps the war would have been even fiercer still.

Sometimes a woman is so bright that after you have talked with her for half an hour you wish you could remember everything she said.

The women who go shopping have their opinion of the shop girls, but it is nothing sometimes to the opinion that shop girls have of the women who go shopping.

After the piano mover has been moving pianos all day long, how it must rest him to get home at night and sit down after supper and take wife on his knee!

A man always has reason for a sense of pride if the dressmaker comes to the house and he can tell her a bit of gossip that she hasn't heard in all her travels.

Again the season of the year has come when it is particularly timely that the professional baseball player, beginning his spring practice, should live on better cakes.

A man who was in Lowell last week says—and judging by his nose, he knows—that the nearest whiskey in shoe shine is the whiskey in prohibition states.

Some people make such careful preparations for doing a little thing that when they are ready to begin they have no time left in which to get it done.

Write for any of the sporting papers your reminiscences of a baseball game that was played 30 years ago, and someone is sure to write in the next day to show where you were wrong.

You can't be sure nowadays that there is sickness in the family when you see a man going into the drug store. He may be after a pack of playing cards, an ivory toilet set, or a hot chocolate.

A romantic girl always has in her mind an idea of the way that she would like to marry, but if she has common sense she doesn't turn down at that account a likely man who asks her to marry him.

Those of us who do not eat regularly in restaurants do not know how to sympathize with those that do. For instance, a man who went into one of these purveyors of everything the other day and ordered fishballs was making a quick getaway with them, while a man who went into another one, something he had, he stopped the process of plucking a chicken, and to his surprise, he found a wire ball about an inch and a half long bent horse shoe shape. Perhaps it was used as a hook to catch the fish that was used in the cake.

Quickly Relieves Without Distress

The suggestion of waste and refuse from the stomach, fermenting in the bowels, generates poisonous gases that occasion distress and invite serious illness. Health and comfort demand that this congestion be speedily relieved and the foul mass expelled.

The well-founded objection most people have to the violence of cathartics and purgative agents is overcome by using the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepper that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A dose at night brings relief next morning, without discomfort or inconvenience. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 432 Washington St., Monticello, N.Y.

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

Finds Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa. "I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have paid if I overworked or lifted anything heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what your medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and do all I can to recommend it."—Mrs. A. B. ROSCAMP, 604 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.

Tons of Roots and Herbs
are used annually in the manufacture of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is known from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminent successful in controlling the diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to any of the women whose testimonials letters we are constantly publishing. They will tell you the experience and give you confidence to try the medicine.

of the storekeepers of Newport. It will afford an excellent opportunity to display their wares and bring them before the public, and shoppers will undoubtedly respond with the result that business will be started with a rush. The plan is especially valuable because of the unanimity with which it is endorsed, the committee of the board of trade which is making arrangements meeting with practically universal approval, and the prospect that the whole thing will be a small minority. Everything which tends to increase local trade should have the hearty endorsement of the merchants and a correspondingly hearty support by the people. All up for this move.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

MARIE ON INSOMNIA

"Some nights I can't sleep at all," sighed Marjorie, rubbing her eyes lazily and stretching herself. "I don't even feel sleepy, but of course, I feel wretchedly tired the next day."

"Well, if one keeps in trim one is pretty apt to sleep well at night," answered Marjorie. "Some keep in trim by walking, riding horseback, dancing, engaging in various sports, Turkish baths, gymnasium work, or by making regular visits to a masseuse. While out-of-door exercise is the first choice, a masseuse cannot be too highly recommended; for one who is versed in the art of giving such treatment is able to direct the patient's efforts intelligently, which results usually in a very apparent 'relief.'"

"Well, I can't afford those kind of exercises," Marjorie replied, dejectedly. "Housework is very good exercise, and I am doing it properly. After breakfast is a good thing for exercising; for one usually commences the day filled with hope and enthusiasm, and whatever one does is done energetically. As one goes about one's housework shifting the furniture and making the beds—things, especially the turning of mattresses, entails the covering, etc.—various muscles are strongly brought into action, and the various muscles and strengthen the various muscles brought into use."

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A well attended and interesting meeting of Branch "X" of the Irish National Foresters, was held yesterday afternoon in Carpenter's hall with Chief Ranger Hugh Macreary in the chair. The anniversary of the birth of St. Patrick was celebrated with an appropriate program. Two new members were admitted to the lodge, and three applications for membership were received and acted upon. The quarterly reports of the financial secretary and treasurer showed that the society is in a good financial condition. Immediately following the regular business a social hour was enjoyed in the form of a St. Patrick's dinner celebration. The principal address was delivered by the mayor and one of the early members of the branch. Mayor Murphy gave an interesting talk on the trials of the early Irish settlers in this country and the uphill fight that they had to make to recognize their rights to the prejudice held by the societies that have long since ceased to exist. At the close of his remarks he was liberally applauded and congratulated by the members present.

Efforts to contribute to the success of the affair were: Past Chief Rangers Hogan and Larkin, John O'Brien, Thomas Costello, Thomas McNamara, James Vallery, Thomas O'Hare, William Burke, John Mullarkey, James O'Brien and others.

ENTERTAINMENT

There was a large and appreciative audience at the organ recital in the Lenten series given Saturday afternoon in the First Congregational church by Mr. George D. Reinberger. The recital was one of the most enjoyable of the season. The program was as follows: Sonata in D Major, Reinberger; Tempo Moderato Andantino; Fuga cromatica Pastorale in G; Bolero scherzo; Concerto ouverture in D major; Scherzo from Sonata No. 2, Chopin; Prelude No. 20; Chopin; Haydn's Overture; Tchaikovsky.

ment to "boost business"—Newport News.

MILK SITUATION

If things are permitted to go on as they are now going, the price of milk is bound to rise still higher, and the proportion of cows to inhabitants is bound to be cut still more. In view of these undelicate facts, some specific and drastic course of investigation and action is imperative and the objection raised against any further investigation by certain selfish interests should be entirely disregarded by the legislature in the face of the crying necessity for some remedial action—Practical Politics.

CURE FOR JINGOISM

Vice President Marshall recommends as a prescription for jingoism, the assignment of those addicted with the malady to places in the front ranks of the army should they succeed in plunging the country into war. That would be apt to operate as a preventive rather than a cure, inasmuch as there would be precious few jingoes advocating a war with anybody, if they were to understand that such a move would be to be pursued—Fall River Globe.

SUNDAY'S SALARY

Rev. Mr. Sunday's occupation is of the seasonal character; that is, he does not work all the year around. He doesn't have to in order to make a decent living. The people to whom he talks pay him more than well in fact. If his net receipts were everywhere so great as in Philadelphia and he worked the entire year his income would be $125,000 or $150,000 more than a thousand dollars a day. Eleven weeks in Philadelphia netted $90,000 according to reports. The annual salary of the president of the United States is $75,000—Lowell Courier-Observer.

TWO FIRES YESTERDAY

Yesterday was a comparatively quiet day in the department circles, only two alarms calling out the firemen during the day. An alarm from box 55 at 12:02 o'clock yesterday morning was for a blaze at the home of George South at 110 Lakeview avenue. The blaze is believed to have been started by a carelessly thrown lighted match or cigar stub. The damage was extensive. A telephone alarm for a grass fire off Dunbar avenue was also called at 1:17 o'clock. The blaze was extinguished at 1:30 o'clock Saturday night was responsible for an alarm from box 118. The blaze was extinguished before the arrival of the firemen. A brush fire on Mammoth road, shortly before 6 o'clock Saturday, was promptly quenched by the members of Hose 10.

New Suits

Easier styles—not for old men, but who today is old?

It is true today, that men are only as old as they act and look—

Men in business—men everywhere—seem to be growing younger.

Note the men you meet, note the youthfulness they show.

This is the modern trend; the age is progressive; "Old Fogey"—there's not one in a thousand—and that man's a curiosity.

Youth is life's jewel—keep it as long as you can—don't throw it away by thinking in old ways—by acting and dressing an old man's part.

Our Suits this Spring are for men who want to keep their youth—

None of them suggest old age—they're individual, they're dignified, they all embody a sprightly touch of youth.

To see these Suits on yourself is to note at once that they have a style that other clothes lack—and we want you to see them. The Men's suits are ready from..... $10 to $33

UNDERGROUND FIGHTING NEW SCIENCE OF WAR

THEY fight like moles in France and Flanders now. No more is the advance made with the glare of bands, as often the Germans boldly did earlier in the war, nor even at the trumpet call, "To the charge!" No more the gallant officers jump out in front, waving their caps on the points of their swords and shouting "Forward!" No more the hurrah and rush of a mob of men, all gallantly hurling themselves full in the face of the enemy. Mattock and spade are the weapons used today. The advance is made silently—and underground. The attackers are invisible. The shock of the charge comes only when an explosion from beneath blows up a portion of the enemy's trenches and hurls sky high the poor fellows who happen to be standing over it. The gap is the thing! It is the deadliest kind of warfare, this working in the dark and in silence toward the enemy's line. Sapping is the slow process of working a way toward the enemy's position by means of burrowing below the surface of the earth. The Germans, always methodical and given to much detail, have it down to an exact science. Here is how they work it, as described by one of the official observers attached to British headquarters: "The approaches are excavated by pioneers working at the head, the German pioneers being technically trained troops who correspond to our sappers. Owing to the close range at which the fighting is conducted and the fact that rifles fixed in rests and machine guns are kept permanently directed upon the crest of the trenches, observation is somewhat difficult, but the head or end of the approaching sap can be detected from the mound of earth which is thrown up. This cannot be done, however, when the advance is conducted by a 'blinded sap.' The latter type of sap is made by tunneling below the surface. "In some cases, usually at night, a sap is driven right up to the parapet of the hostile trench, which is then blown up by a charge. Amid the confusion caused and a shower of hand grenades the stormers attempt to burst in through the opening and work along the trench. They also assault in front. As in their ordinary infantry attacks, machine guns are quickly brought up to any point gained in order to repel counterattacks. "As may be imagined, what with sharpshooters, machine guns and bombs, this kind of fighting is very deadly and somewhat blind, owing to the difficulty of observation." Passing of Big Forts. "Such is underground fighting up to date as narrated by eyewitnesses. This style of combat conclusively proves that the day of massive fortifications is over. Belgium's last word forts of steel are now merely blackened piles of riven metal—charnel houses for thousands of souls a few months ago. At best, the permanent fort, no matter how strong in steel and revolving turrets, is no more than a pivot and starting place for the disposition of the mobile forces. Even permanent field fortifications are of no use beyond holding the enemy until such time as the requisite number of troops may be brought up and sent out of their cover to deliver blow after blow in sledge hammer style until the enemy crumbles from the momentum of repeated shocks. Undersurface advance was rarely resorted to in wars of bygone days. A notable example of this in our own civil war was when the Union troops tunneled for weeks to get under the Confederate lines before Petersburg. When the great charge of gunpowder was touched off under the feet of the unsuspecting southerners, a great chasm was blown in the earth which exists to this day—"the crater" of history. And into it swarmed thousands of Northerners, white and black, to meet their death and maiming, for the great exploit came to naught, and the Union army was signally defeated that day in '64. Today all is different. The destructive power of modern heavy artillery has made necessary the underground approach to the enemy's lines. An active attack with the spade is the real ground gainer. It is the most successful way of turning the other fellow out of his trenches. The commanding general decides that it is necessary to take a portion of the opposing line. It is strongly entrenched, however. Then the spade is called into play. A point in the hostile trenches is selected, the capture of which will give the attacking troops such a good foothold in the heart of the enemy's position that the adjacent earthworks can be commanded and reduced in detail afterward. Then the mole soldiers begin. Sufferings in Trench. The sufferings of British soldiers in the water filled trenches in northern France are described as follows in a

Centenary of Bismarck, Founder of German Empire

It is just a hundred years ago that the great armies of Napoleon and the allies were bivouacked on the very ground where today the Germans, French and British lie in newly dug trenches. And a century ago—to be exact, April 1, 1815—saw the birth of the founder of the German empire, Otto von Bismarck. It is said that history was the favorite study of Bismarck when he was a boy and that he also acquired such familiarity with French and English as to surprise both Napoleon and Beaconfield. He was also fond of all kinds of sports and through them developed the remarkable physical powers for which he was afterward famous. At the age of seventeen he entered the University of Göttingen, where, it may be inferred, he did not devote himself very assiduously to study because during the course of three semesters he fought twenty-eight duels. In all of which he drew blood from his opponents, while in only one did he receive a wound—the one which caused the noticeable scar on his left cheek. His schooling was completed at the University of Berlin, where he entered upon the study of law and passed the requisite examinations. Then he resorted to his estates in Pomerania, where he devoted himself to the life of a country squire. His initial participation in affairs of state was marked by his membership in the Prussian house of burgesses. It was not, however, until he entered the German diet, in 1847, that he exerted some influence. His first diplomatic post was that of ambassador to St. Petersburg; later he was sent to France to study the government of the Tuilleries. Then he returned to Prussia and took the portfolio of foreign affairs and became president of the cabinet. During the turbulent period of parliamentary affairs which ensued the government was unable to induce parliament to make the necessary appropriations for the army, whereupon parliament was dissolved and the king acted without its sanction. Austria and Prussia were dissenting over the occupation of the duchies of Schleswig-Holstein, and Bismarck saw that a great opportunity had been presented to enlist the sympathy of the whole empire for the cause. Accordingly, when Prussia successfully defeated the Austrians in 1866 military supremacy had been gained and Bismarck was universally recognized as the head of the movement. The result of the war was disastrous to the relationship of France and Prussia. The military prestige of Bismarck was overshadowed, and Bismarck was the moving spirit in causing the establishment of the new German empire, with the king of Prussia as its head. The title of prince was given to Bismarck, and he proved that he was a prince of diplomacy when he dictated the signing of the treaty of Frankfurt that Alsace-Lorraine would be ceded to Germany. He thereby incurred the enmity of all of France. Bismarck then entered upon what was the most remarkable part of his career. He saw that the welfare of Germany demanded the development of German resources. He held that the sentiment of France was such that Germany was not free from another outbreak of war, so he succeeded in uniting Germany into the triple alliance with Austria and Italy. He also caused the German army to be greatly strengthened. He secured the adoption of a law establishing a high tariff on foreign goods so that German industries should develop. His prestige as the foremost citizen of Germany continued until Wilhelm II. ascended the throne. It became apparent that he and Bismarck were not harmonious, so in 1895 the prince sent his resignation to the throne. His death came five months afterward, July 30, 1898. A French army surgeon named Czernicki, in a supplement to the Illustration, gives a very interesting and pleasing reminiscence of Bismarck, placing the "iron chancellor" in an unaccustomed light. Dr. Czernicki had been left in charge of an ambulance at Rezonville before the siege of Metz, and when Bazaine ordered the retreat of the Second corps d'armee into Metz on the night of Aug. 16-17, 1870, the am-balance, with some 600 wounded, was left behind and found itself within the Prussian lines. On the morning of the 19th Dr. Czernicki was accosted by an officer, who informed him that the king of Prussia, with his suit, was in Rezonville and that he would introduce him to Count Bismarck. The rest may be told in his own words: "There on a stone bench, close to the door of a rustic cottage, at 7 in the morning was seated alone the celebrated Prussian minister at breakfast. He had spread a sheet of paper on his knees, upon which lay cold meat, sausages and bread. Beside him, on the bench, was a bottle, from which he was drinking. When he saw us he left off eating and, rising to his full height, saluted with a kindly laugh. "Out of this long visit to the battlefield I will only tell one episode, which places Bismarck in a new light. Seated on some straw and propped up against a pillar of the church of Rezonville was one of our poor soldiers, a quite young man named Rossignol. A shell, striking him like the lash of a whip, had carried away both eyes and the bridge of his nose, leaving the front of the skull bare. This fearful wound was covered with a dressing. He lay there calm, silent and motionless, in quiet resignation. Bismarck stopped in front of him and asked me what was his case. He seemed really touched. "There is war for you, messieurs, the senators and deputies!" Then, turning to one of his suit, he said, "Please bring me some wine and a glass." He filled the glass to the brim, took a sip and then, gently tapping the shoulder of the poor martyr, said: "My friend, will you not drink something?" Rousing himself from the deathlike stupor that was creeping over him, the man assented. "We then saw Bismarck stoop and very softly and slowly give the wounded soldier the wine. Rising again, he drank what was left in the glass and said, 'What is your name, my boy, and where do you come from?' Rossignol, from Bilitany." The count then took his hand and said, "I am Bismarck, my comrade, and I am very proud to have drunk out of the same glass as a brave man like you," and, stretching his hand over the horribly mutilated head, he seemed to give him a mute benediction."

It only remains to add to this touching and pleasing anecdote that at the request of Dr. Czernicki the two Prussian ministers gave every facility for having the ambulance full of wounded transported into the French lines. For weeks past German societies in different cities of this country have been planning a celebration of the anniversary of the birth of the great statesman. The anniversary of the founder of the German empire comes at a time when the country he loved so well is putting to its severest test the splendid military organization which was the pride of Bismarck.

The Dawn of Easter

CELESTIAL glory fills the sky. The rosy clouds divide And show the morning's golden gates Unfolding bright and wide. A little bird begins to trill Upon a budding spray, And every branch and rosette hails The dawn of Easter day. The old gray church upon the hill Has left its doors ajar, And Easter lilies blow within, Each shining like a star.

Along the crimson altar steps Their snowy blossoms sway, Saluting with their rich perfume The dawn of Easter day. The ancient woods are all astir; The air is sweet and bland; The resurrection miracle Appears on every hand. Awake! Let joyous anthems rise, For death has passed away, And life eternal springs to greet The dawn of Easter day.

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

Cook cleans white and colored kid gloves with a quantity of flour in a cup or bowl, and enough gasoline to make a stiff paste. Apply to the gloves and when dry brush off the flour. The same process can also be used for the seams of gloves. White or light-colored kid gloves may also be cleaned in the following manner: and the gloves first of all with cream of tartar.

Leave them for an hour, and then rub them with Fuller's earth and powdered alum, mixed in equal proportions. Leave the gloves again until the next day, when they must be brushed again until all the powder is removed. The next process is to rub them with oatmeal. Wipe all this off with a dry cloth and the gloves will be ready to be worn again.

When washing white silk gloves, do not rub the soap directly on the gloves but make a suds and wash them in that. The water should be lukewarm, not hot. Then rinse in cold water. A dash of bluing added to the rinsing water will keep them white. Hang in a dark closet to dry, instead of out in the sunlight. Do not iron, but press them with the fingers. In case they are not to be worn at once, wrap carefully in blue paper and put away.

When cleaning teapots, not lid, the inside of pots and pans, cook has found that nothing can equal wet emery cloth. It is also good for cleaning tin or zinc basins. To clean a copper kettle, rub its surface with lemon skin and salt. Wipe the surface quickly, and rub with a dry cloth.

Keep breadboards and other wooden utensils clean by scrubbing with soap and lukewarm water, says cook, to which household ammonia or common soda has been added.

Stains may be removed from linens by scouring with common soda, then washing thoroughly and drying.

When baking fruitcake cook puts a quarter of an inch of flour in the bottom of the pan and then oiled paper over it; then pours in the batter. This will secure a tender under crust.

The secret of flaky pie crust is the use of hot water (not boiling) rather than cold in mixing the dough. If this hint is followed the crust will always be flaky, tender and crisp.

The addition of a little soda mixed with a teaspoonful of corn starch to the cream before pouring it into the mixture will prevent curdling in the making of creamed tomato soup.

I wonder how many women who use gas know what a help and saving a steamer is. Cook has a kettle with a steamer which fits in the top, but one can buy a tin steamer with a lid for a small sum and this will fit over most kettles and basins. In this way one can boil meat and steam potatoes or boil one vegetable and steam another at the same time and by using only one burner save a good deal of gas.

Then a steamer is so handy for warming leftovers, such as stale cake for a pudding or pudding left over from the day before. Cook often makes a suet pudding and many recipes make a big one and she puts it into empty pound coffee cans and steams it three or four hours and then what is left can be put in the steamer and warmed and it will be like a new pudding.

The reason she puts it in coffee cans is that it cuts off in nice round flat slices which look well served with sauce. This pudding will keep a long time and it is so handy when company comes, unexpectedly, or for Sunday dinner, as it saves so much work on Sunday.

Cook says when baking meats the oven should be very hot at first, and then the heat should be slowly lowered to allow the cooking to be done slowly.

Keep a piece of asbestos on hand to interpose between a dish and the hottest part of the oven when there is danger of burning. Dry or tough meats can often be made tender and of a good flavor by braising. They are shut in a close covered pot, with salt pork, stock and chopped vegetables and cooked slowly in the confined steam. Meats for broiling should be cut very thin and turned over a clear, hot fire as often as one counts ten. When the broiled appearance of broiled meat begins to disappear, it means that the moisture is evaporating and the meat will be hard and dry. Broiled meats have a better flavor than baked ones. The meat should be first placed near the coals to sear, and then drawn back to cook at lower heat.

Cook suggests that I give the standard table of weights and measures. One cup equals 1-2 pint, four cups equal 1 quart, three tablespoons equal 1 tablespoon, 1 gill equals 1/2 cup, sixteen liquid tablespoons equal 1 cup, two cups butter, solid, equal 1 pound; four cups flour, sifted, equal 1 pound; nine large eggs equal 1 pound; two cups sugar, granulated, equal 1 pound; two and one-half cups sugar, powdered, equal 1 pound. To measure use a measuring cup holding one-half pint and marked one-half, one-third, and one-fourth. Flour, sugar and meals are placed in the cup lightly and leveled off with a knife. Butter is packed in solid and leveled off. Tea and tablespoons are filled solid and leveled off. If a tablespoon of dry material is to be divided in half, fill spoonful and level off and divide lengthwise.

SPRING STYLES
The World Looks for New Evolutions During Coming Season

March may fairly be said to be the month of expectancy in the world of dress. The French opening will take place before its close and there are always advance rumors of what will be shown. The southern resorts are not alone open, they are enjoying the height of the season and there are numbered among the fortunate few who seek them, or among the stay-at-homes, who are apt to be considering what is to be worn when the stormy season shall have passed and spring is with us. This season makes no exception to the rule and there is perhaps a greater sense of interest than common for the reason that conditions are peculiar. There is a great deal of effort being made to get the best of the home talent to take advantage of the opportunity for exploitation which does not come every year. The very fact that Paris has announced its usual March displays entitles that city to the keenest interest and appreciation for the work must have been done under exceptionally trying conditions and given evidence not alone of the wonderful ability of which the French are noted, but also of a steadfastness of purpose and a determination to continue even in face of a tragedy, that cannot fail to win admiration. We must be glad to know that the dressmakers are equal to their task and it cannot fail to be a gratification to realize that there will be employed many of the most talented and skillful of the modern world. The French are not alone in this, but we have artists on this side of the sea and that it is time that we outgrow the fetish that seems to possess the words "imported" and "Parisian" with special charm and significance whether the actual output merits it or does not. As has been said, the Parisian fashion is being demonstrated week by week that we can and do make wonderful colors, that we can and do make wonderful fabrics and what we need to stimulate these industries and to give to their owners that sense of personal pride that is perhaps the greatest asset of the foreign manufacturer, the appreciation of American buyers, the willingness to lend for home products and to pay for home products and just that encouragement which always comes with recognition. Our manufacturing interests are too young in this country to have that inherent pride which belongs to the foreigner. It is not often that a single industry remains in a family from generation to generation and if we can build up just that condition and bring about that sense of pride, we will have come a long way toward creating a condition from which we may expect an output equal to any that the world has to show.

This season, colors are wonderfully beautiful and are wonderfully interesting. In addition to the color card mentioned last week, we have those that are named after the western nation and have also the grays that suggest the quiet tones of the uniforms of the soldiers when it is desirable to avoid recognition and then we have the brilliant military effects of the dress uniforms that are worn upon parade and we have indeed a great many echoes of the prevailing conditions that differentiate the seasons from any other we have known. One of the most blues is called soldier blue. It is not the tone we are accustomed to think of by that name, but a beautiful grayish blue that can be trusted to blend with the horizon and render him as inconspicuous as a moving object can be. We have a little green that is just the color that will be shown on some of the decorations of the exposition grounds and have various other colors and names that are equally suggestive. In fabrics are many of notable beauty that are soft and lustrous.

GOWNS IN BECOMING EMPIRE STYLES AND TYPES THAT SHOW THE NEWEST FASHION FEATURES

Empire models are always becoming to girlish figures. Just now the girl's Empire frock is in the height of style, and here is one of the prettiest possible. The full skirt is arranged over a narrower foundation and the lunic idea is always charming. The plain little body portion is the real Empire effect and the full skirt across the lower edge emphasizes the high waist line. In one view, flowered silk crepe is combined with a lace collar. In the smaller view, embroidered voile is used over mull and the model is a good one for many materials. Plain crepe de chine would be lovely in place of the material mentioned, and chiffon could be used, or the net that is so well liked. If the ruffle at the lower edge is not becoming, the edge can be bound or banded with a little fur or embroidered with a few beads to make a good effect. The plain gown in Empire style is one of the very latest developments and this model is especially attractive for the reason that it can be utilized for many materials and finished in two different ways. On the figure, the neck is high with a stock collar, but the suggestion for the V-shaped neck with a high military collar at the back and sides, which is shown in the small view, is a good one and will be preferred by many women. Long sleeves are smart, but there is no fixed rule and those of three-quarter length are quite correct, they are finished with pointed cuffs and these cuffs may be of the same material or of the trimming. Just now there is a notable fancy for sleeves of a different material, but here again there is opportunity for choice since matching sleeves are used in equal numbers. In the picture the gown is made of gabardine, the sleeves and trimming are of velvet and braiding of soutache, which is both handsome and fashionable, but the model is one that can be utilized for a still handsomer gown of velvet or broadcloth, or of chartruse satin or of any material which is heavy enough to be made in so simple a style.

This is the season when girls are looking ahead to commencement and to all the various entertainments and fetes that great event is sure to mean. Here is a fascinating little frock that can be made either with low or with half high neck, with or without sleeves, and can be utilized both for the evening occasions and for the afternoon as well. It is Empire in effect, and Empire lines are always becoming to the girls. It is absolutely simple and consequently can be made with little effort and at little expense while it is just as smart and pretty as can be. There is a short waisted body portion or lining to which the full straight skirt is attached and the trimming at the front and back and the drapery over the shoulders are arranged over a lining, and the girly also is attached to it at the upper edge. In the picture, silk net is trimmed with chiffon velvet and roseband banding, but all the pretty, dainty materials that girls like can be utilized for the model. Silk voile or chiffon would make up most effectively, and some of the new cotton stuffs are really exquisite and either a fine crepe or cotton voile would be charming with trimming of taffeta.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

The Sultan of Turkey has no less than 300 wives in his harem. Oregon has two women harness-makers and 23 female hatmakers. Ten thousand women are being added to the colleges every year. Colorado will probably have a woman juvenile court judge. Wisconsin stores and factories employ nearly 50,000 women. Temple university in Philadelphia has a woman's fencing club. The woman suffrage party in New York city has over 150,000 members. Columbia, Ga., has a board of trade composed exclusively of women. Fargo, S. D., has three women deputy food inspectors who serve without pay. The army in Holland always trains the watchful eye of Queen Wilhelmina. The suffrage bill in the Texas legislature was defeated by four votes. Thirteen Fort Dodge, Ariz., girls have mutually agreed to walk 500 miles each year. Branches of the National Woman's peace party are now maintained in seven cities. Miss Marie Maitland of France is considered the greatest female athlete in the world. Miss Helen V. Drogalis pays $1000 a month rent for a flower stand in New York city. Twenty-one per cent of the wage earning women in Michigan receive less than $5 per week. Thirty-eight per cent of the graduates of Goucher college have married during the past year. In Florida girls are often married to their cousins in order to keep the family property intact. Mothers in Kansas are allowed a pension of $12 per month for the first child and $5 for each additional child. Philadelphia now has four female assistant judges whose duty it is to try all cases of children now under 15 years of age. Miss Gladys Newman, an English girl motorcyclist, has been detailed to the Red Cross service in the French war zone. Owing to the shortage of funds, Cleveland, O., has been compelled to discontinue the service of the only female policeman in that city. Graduates of the Hagerstown, Md., high school for girls are required to make their own graduation gowns which cannot cost more than $5. The first woman to hold the position

BEAUTY AND AFTERNOON TEA

The afternoon tea has become a conventional and necessary institution in this country, and is altogether a pretty habit.

The afternoon tea considered from the health viewpoint, is decidedly more harmless than some other social functions, where late hours are observed and an excess of dancing is indulged in in overheated rooms. Afternoon tea is a leisurely quiet affair, or, at least, should be. It occurs in those dull hours in the late afternoon, when there does not seem to be anything very exciting going on; the tea itself, when made right, is a wholesome enough beverage, mildly stimulating, not heavy, cleansing to digestive organs.

The main temptation at an afternoon reception which is a foe to good complexion is found in the things which so often accompany the tea, such as rich sweets, elaborate cakes, large and small sometimes varied, sandwiches of almost unhealthful composition and things, both sweet and sour, which stimulate the appetite. All of these are usually very good and the temptation is to partake, not wisely, but too well, and thus spoil a 'perfectly good' dinner served and an excess of dancing is indulged in in overheated rooms. Afternoon tea is a leisurely quiet affair, or, at least, should be. It occurs in those dull hours in the late afternoon, when there does not seem to be anything very exciting going on; the tea itself, when made right, is a wholesome enough beverage, mildly stimulating, not heavy, cleansing to digestive organs.

The afternoon tea guest, as well as the afternoon tea user, will therefore be warned in time and choose sparingly of all these kickbacks and condiments. Just a small portion of this or of that, just a tiny bit of many things will not harm her; but to yield to temptation and take too much to eat, particularly of things which so often accompany the tea, such as rich sweets, elaborate cakes, large and small sometimes

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

Hortense says a dry, harsh skin needs a cold cream and almond oil. If the skin is red and oily, leave all creams alone and first apply an astringent or a paste of almond meal. Do not put creams and oils on a skin already too oily.

Proper treatment for blackheads is the complexion brush of fine bristles used with warm water and pure soap at night. Follow with a tepid rinsing, a gentle drying and an anointing with crema marisala.

For a shiny nose, bathe your nose with witch hazel night and morning. To make beet rouge bold the beet roots, when they are soft, take them out of the water, wash them with the skins on and then put them under a heavy press until juice is abstracted; add one-half ounce of alcohol to two ounces of the juice and bottle.

The girl with the oily hair must be especially painstaking about keeping it clean in warm spring weather, says Hortense. It should be shampooed at least once a week, and right here a word against the inordinate use of ammonia, borax and washing soda for shampooing is appropriate.

To a basin of warm water soda or borax the size of a pea is sufficient, and a dozen drops of toilet, not household, ammonia. To this should be added enough finely shaved white soap to make a thick lather. Many girls use a teaspoon of borax to a bowl of water, thinking they can thus prevent a future accumulation of oil in the scalp.

The remedy is futile. The oil will come back, oozing from the pores, and borax, soda or ammonia is useful only to 'cut' the oil if the water is hard, not to effect a cure.

Hortense says that I must fight against a morbid disposition, which I am afraid I have given away to too much lately. A morbid disposition shows itself, she says, in the melancholy droop of the lips at the corners, where they terminate, as it were, in lines almost reaching the chin.

Irritable nerves are among the most successful agents for encouraging ageing lines. And I want to tell you confidently that even the best natural little marmoset does not relax a nervous patient, because the results are hopelessly slow, and at the end of a treatment, if the nerves have been allowed to linger, very little improvement will be noted in the drawn and wrinkled visage. This you must realize is very discouraging and a bad advertisement for her.

Other mediums active in producing shriveled skins and old faces are ill-health, grinning, fatigue, weak eyes, lack of essential oils, lack of sufficient exercise in the open air, and long periods of concentration on the work in hand. Of course, every woman will be able to contribute other causes, for every wrinkle tells a tale of its own. The only method of eliminating wrinkles is to stop encouraging them, and the best beauty formulas in the world are not so good as the fact that unless a woman first corrects the habits which bring them.

The woman who values her graceful, arched instep will not contract the habit of walking about in her bedroom in slippers without heels.

Little by little this spreads and weakens the arch of the foot and even if actual flat foot does not result with its accompanying pain and distress, the practice will inevitably make the foot longer as years go by, and the instep less arched.

Many women wonder why they require a number five or five and half boot now, when only a few years ago a four fitted them perfectly. They have worn heel-less bedroom slippers for years and do not realize that the arch of the foot has little by little widened, with a consequent effect on the length of the foot.

Hortense says while you cannot change the natural color of your teeth, constant brushing with a good tooth powder will whiten them. Once a year they should be thoroughly cleaned by a dentist.

The teeth should be cleaned before breakfast and after each meal, especially before retiring. This practice will be found very purifying to the breath. Antiseptic mouth wash—boric acid, 45 grains; tincture of eucalyptus, 4 drams; alcohol, 25 drams; oil of peppermint, 4 minims.

Following is a recipe for a splendid tooth-paste: Orris root powder, 2 ounces; marsh powder, 8 ounces; oil of cloves, 2 drams; oil of lemon, 2 drams; oil of rose, 30 drops. Use solution of carmine sufficient to color, and honey enough to form a paste.

Misery of the feet is self inflicted, says Hortense. There is no need for anyone to have corns, hard or soft, bunions or other foot troubles when common sense and intelligence are given a chance, she avers. Soft corns, which are the most painful, are found on the bottom of the feet, between the toes. As you say, there are most painful.

The first thing to do for corns is to relieve them of all pressure. A perforated corn plaster may be used, or disk of white felt or cambric with a hole in the center. The feet are soaked in hot water, the corns are picked out, but no instruments should be used, which have not been sterilized; that is, by dipping them in boiling hot water.

A good lotion for corns is composed of salicylic acid and collodion. Soft corns should be protected by a bit of linen placed between the toes. Sprinkle the linens with powder. Warning: Pointed corns on the bottom of the feet are treated by putting several layers of adhesive plaster to act as a kind of cushion over the corn. This keeps the corn protected from friction and in time it will disappear.

ZEPPELINS MAKE CALLS OFFICERS TO THE COLORS

Eight Persons Injured by Bombs Dropped From Airship

Trumpets Warned the Citizens and Thousands Fled to Cellars

PARIS, March 22.—Zeppelin airships raided Paris early yesterday morning and dropped over 50 bombs. Seven or eight persons were injured, but only one seriously. Four of the airships started for the capital, following the valley of the Oise. Only two, however, reached their goal. Missiles also were dropped at Compiègne, Rheims and Dreux without serious result.

Paris remained calm while the aerial invasion was in progress, residents of the city showing more curiosity than fear as to the results. Trumpets gave the signals that all citizens must be extinguished as soon as warning was received of the Zeppelins' approach. Searchlights were turned upon the clouds, anti-aircraft guns opened fire, and aeroplanes rose to attack the Germans. The operations of the French flyers, however, were hampered by a heavy mist.

Official Statement
An official communication regarding the raid declares it served only to show how well the defensive arrangements would work when put to the test. The statement follows:
"Between 1.15 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning four Zeppelins started toward Paris from the direction of Compiègne following the valley of the Oise. Two were compelled to return before reaching Paris, one at Rheims, the other at Nantes. The other two were attacked by anti-aircraft guns and only passed over outlying districts of the northwestern part of Paris and neighboring suburbs. They withdrew after having dropped a dozen bombs, some of which did not explode. The damage done was unimportant. Seven or eight persons were injured, but only one seriously."

"The different stations for anti-aircraft defense opened fire upon the Zeppelins, which were constantly kept illuminated by searchlights. One appeared to have been hit. The aeroplanes searched for them in the action, but were hampered by the mist."

"Summing up, the Zeppelin raid on Paris was a complete failure. It only served to demonstrate how well the defensive arrangements work. The population was calm. On their way back the Zeppelins dropped a dozen incendiary explosive bombs on Compiègne, doing only unimportant damage. Three bombs were dropped on Rheims and Dreux, without result."

Italian Officers of All Arms Notified to Report

Austria Strengthening Frontier—Relations at Acute Stage

LONDON, March 22.—The relations between Italy and Austria are believed to have reached an acute stage. A dispatch from Rome says Austrian and German subjects have been advised by their consuls to leave Italy in the shortest possible time and that a number of Germans who recently arrived in Italy are being watched because of the suspicion that they are military spies.

There have been reports for some days that Germany's efforts to secure the continued neutrality of Italy by inducing Austria to cede Trent and other territory to her were not meeting with success.

Italy, it was said, was demanding that the territory be handed over to her at once, but the Teutonic allies desired to make the transfer after the war.

Following this came reports that Austria had commenced strengthening her southern frontier, and according to a dispatch received in Paris from Rome yesterday, Italian officers of all arms belonging to the first line, who have been on half pay, have been called to the colors.

In military circles here this order is considered significant, it being contended that these officers belong to the public administration, from which they would not be called unless the situation was serious. No Austrian news on the subject is available in London, it is said, prohibited any comments.

There also are reports that Greece is preparing to adopt a more active attitude. Following a series of prolonged cabinet meetings at Athens the Greek minister of marine is quoted as having said that the Greek government had received all guarantees and to have decided that the country was about to engage in some enterprise.

As the chief objection to former Premier Venizelos' policy of helping the allies against Turkey was declared to have been that Greece had no guarantee that she would receive adequate compensation, this statement of the minister of marine is considered in high circles in London as an intimation that the new Greek government is now satisfied with the allies' guarantees.

The lights of the city flickered and then disappeared as the city firemen hastened through the streets blowing on trumpets, the signals of the approach of hostile aircraft.

Buzzing motors of the aeroplane guards, which were the first to be notified, and searchlights flashing from the vicinity of the Eiffel tower to be interest and excitement among the population of the awakened city, but there was no panic.

Fled to Cellars
Thousands strained their eyes in an effort to catch a glimpse of the invaders, which many claimed to have seen moving swiftly in the vicinity of Compiègne, or to watch the work of French aeroplanes. Many of the more timid sought refuge in cellars or other places of safety where they remained until sure all danger was past. The comparatively few persons who were in the streets were interested spectators, apparently careless of possible danger. All taxicabs were stopped and the occupants forced to alight.

Soon a distant roar was heard, but it was not known whether it was caused by the explosion of bombs dropped by the Zeppelins or by the fire of anti-aircraft guns. Then reports were received of the explosion of bombs in the Batignolles quarter, in the Rue Dulong and Des Dunes, thus making it certain that German aircraft had made another surprise attack.

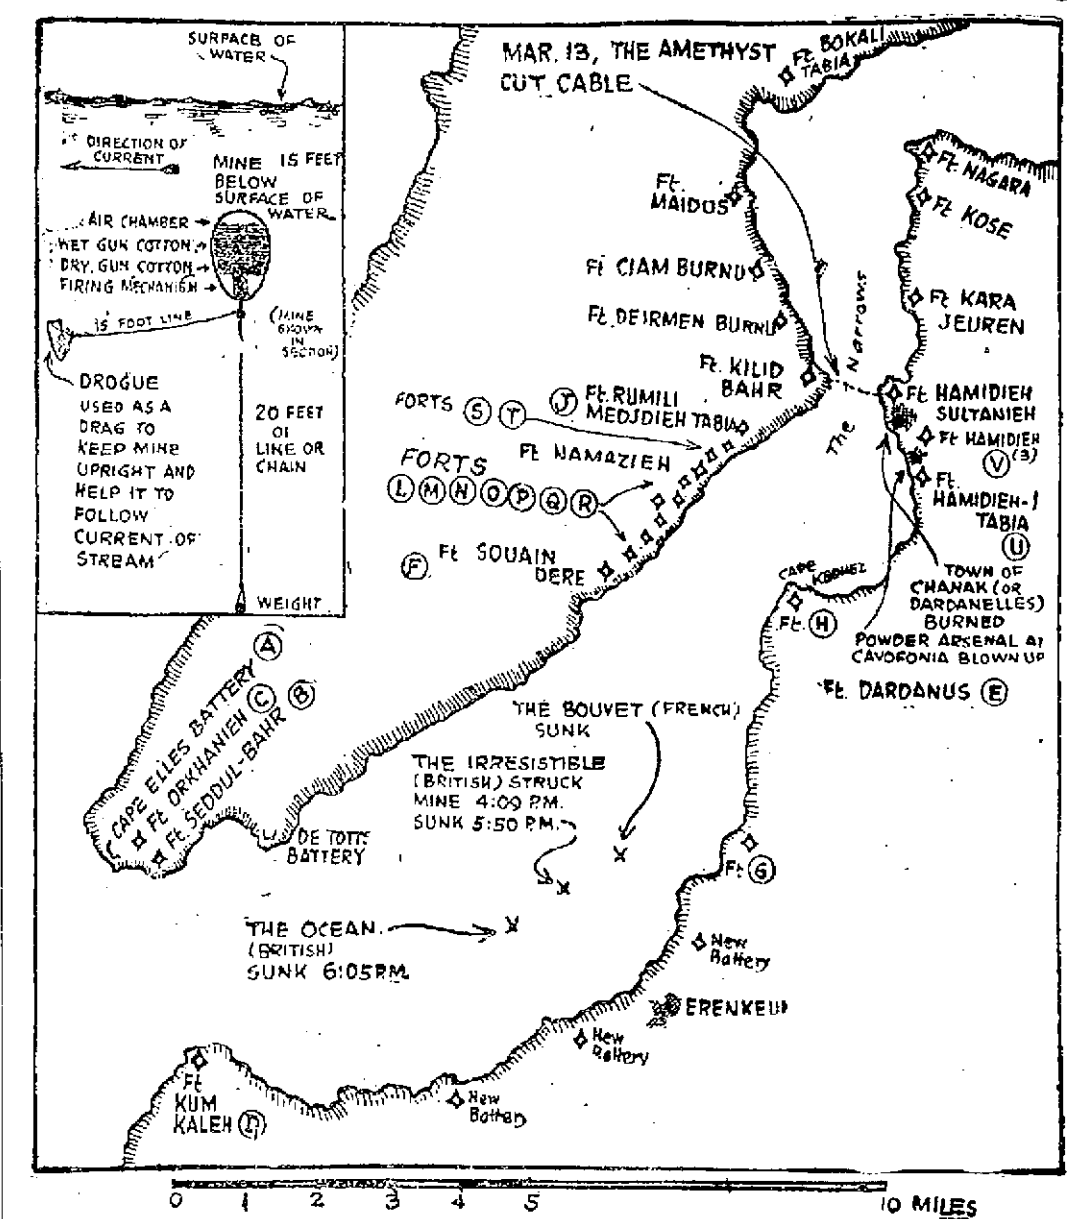

Powerful Explosions
Reports followed of two powerful explosions between Batignolles and St. Maurice, suburbs of Paris. Residents of this section reported having seen three dirigible flying towards the south and then returning to the north. The searchlight on Mont Valérien flashed its rays on the craft. At the same time cannon firing was heard, as well as the whirring of a powerful motor. Gradually the Zeppelin disappeared from view in the mist.

Official reports show that eight bombs were thrown at Asnières, where three persons were wounded. An incendiary bomb set fire to a house at Neuilly, but no one was hurt and the flames were quickly extinguished.

One of the projectiles fell through the roof of a residence at La Courneuve, into the nursery where a baby was sleeping in its cradle. Almost every piece of furniture in the room except the cradle was smashed by flying fragments. The child was not touched.

Two women living in the Rue Poissonnière at Levallois-Perret, whose husbands are at the front, were awakened by an incendiary bomb dropping through the roof. The chemicals which the missile contained burst into flames, but the women escaped unhurt.

MAP OF THE DARDANELLES, SHOWING WHERE BATTLESHIPS WERE SUNK BY FLOATING MINES

The destruction in the Dardanelles in one day of the three major fighting ships—the British Ocean and the Irresistible and the French Bouvet—represents the greatest naval disaster to date in the present war. These three vessels represented a total of 30,000 tons of battleship construction, and if these figures are added the displacement of the French Gaulois and the British Inflexible, both of which ships were damaged and, presumably, captured in return to drydocks for repairs, the total immediate loss to the allies reaches the enormous aggregate of 68,665 tons of warships. No such loss in any single engagement has been recorded since the war commenced. The waters in the Dardanelles are characterized by strong currents which run steadily out of the sea of Marmora through the strait of Gallipoli and thence down through the Dardanelles into the Aegean sea. The current attains to velocities of from three to four knots, and it was this current which the Turks availed of to launch current mines which would float down from off the allies lying below. These current mines have all the destructive power of a torpedo fired by a submarine. They contain gunpowder charges, the same as operative mines, the usual charge weighing 500 pounds. The mines float along with the current and are invisible, since they are weighted so as to keep submerged at a distance of about fifteen feet below the surface. A drag attached to the up and down chain seems to give direction to the mine, keeps it in the current and prevents it from shooting off shoreward. Once the mines are launched fair with the current they may be depended upon to float true along with it, unseen and unharmed, and only needing the shock of contact with a ship's bottom to cause the fulminate of mercury detonators to function, and in turn to detonate the whole tremendous mass of gunpowder contained within the shell casing. No warship afloat has been built that can withstand the effect of 500 pounds of gunpowder detonated along side her underwater hull, and the effect is to blow asunder hull and bulkheads, and with even chances of exploding by sympathetic shock the majesty of the ship herself. This is just what in all probability happened to the Ocean and her helpless consort. This destruction appears to have been as complete as it was sudden, and the masts were tidily those of the deadly current mine.

U.S. SHOTS HALT TWO KILLED, ONE HURT IN CRASH

Steamer Held at San Juan Since August 6, 1914

SAN JUAN, P. R., March 22.—The German merchant steamer Odenwald, which attempted to leave port yesterday afternoon without obtaining clearance papers, was stopped as she was passing out the entrance to the harbor, by two shots across her bow from a 5-inch gun, and direct shots from a Maxim.

She then returned and was taken in charge by the collector of customs. Permission to sail was refused. The Odenwald by the collector, pending instructions from Washington.

The steamer has been at San Juan since Aug. 6. She was bound for European ports from the West Indies with freight and passengers and sought refuge here. Three days ago she began coaling and taking on provisions.

Failing to obtain the necessary clearance papers, her commander apparently decided to risk the attempt to put to sea. A heavy gun on Morro Castle sent two shots across her bows in way of warning, but it was not until the machine gun opened a direct fire that the steamer stopped and headed back to port.

Joy Ride Ended When Car Hit Tree at Gardner

Driver Arrested and Held in $5000 in Manslaughter Charge

GARDNER, March 22.—Two men were instantly killed and a third seriously injured early yesterday morning when a joy ride terminated with the crash of their machine into a tree in the Ashburnham road, in the outskirts of this town.

Charles Peabody of Winchendon, 27 years old, and Leon Bezio, 25, of Winchendon, are dead as a result of the tragedy. Walter Peabody, a brother of Charles, is at the Gardner hospital with a broken leg and several bad bruises.

The police arrested and charged with manslaughter Maurice Dery, who they allege drove the car and who, of all the occupants, was uninjured.

Dery has been bailed, the sum of $5000 having been raised for his release by relatives.

Lowell Opera House

L and G
The sign of the fast word in amusement.
To the People of Lowell:

One week in your company has been a delightful experience. We came here with the idea of giving you the very best in music and in pictures, having abundant faith in your discriminating judgment. Consistent with this belief we spared no expense in striving for the best in every respect, and we state frankly that your appreciation has been more than we anticipated. You have given us every encouragement possible to bring to the Lowell Opera House the very best the world offers in picturization. We assure you that your confidence is prized, and that we shall endeavor to justify it.

This week, we offer as our first feature film, dainty and magnetic Marguerite Clark, in the fascinating romance, "Greta Green," management of Daniel Frohman, a production of the highest type. This will entertain for three days, following which will come John Barrymore, in the comedy success, "Are You a Mason?" Other films of variety and quality we promise for every performance.
A feature will be the first of a series of paintings by the celebrated French artist, Paul Philippoteaux, entitled "The Congress of Nations," with specially arranged lighting effects. We know this is a feature that will please you, and later, we are going to tell you about a proposition by which you may have all of the famous works of this great master reproduced for your home.
Please remember that Dr. Delevanti presides at the Wuritzer pipe organ and has for his program feature, selections from "The Mikado," the first three days, afternoon and evening. The Fredette orchestra of soloists will deliver an exceptional program.

SWAMPED IN HEAVY SEAS

Lt. Commander Bricker of U. S. Converted Yacht Scorpion and Three Sailors Drowned

CONSTANTINOPLE, via Berlin and London, March 22, 1915. A. M.—Lieut. Commander William F. Bricker of the United States converted yacht Scorpion and three sailors named Ford, Lowell and Leverings were drowned on the night of March 20 while attempting to reach their vessel with a rowboat. The Scorpion was anchored in the Bosphorus off Constantinople near Dolmabahche Palace. The rowboat was swamped in a heavy sea thrown up by a south gale. Lieut. Herbert Babitt and one sailor who were in the boat were saved. Lieut. Commander Bricker arrived at Constantinople only on March 16 to succeed Lieut. Commander Edward McCauley, Jr., in command of the Scorpion. The Scorpion is a converted yacht purchased for the navy in 1896. It has a displacement of 350 tons and has been stationed at Constantinople for some time. Lieut. Commander Bricker who formerly was naval attaché at the American embassy at Paris left that city on Feb. 25 for Constantinople to assume command of the Scorpion. He was born Jan. 15, 1878, in Pennsylvania and appointed to the naval academy from the same state in 1896. GREAT REGRET AT WASHINGTON. SEC. GARRISON AWAIT'S FULL DETAILS OF ACCOMPLISHMENT BY BRIG. GEN. SCOTT. WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Secretary Garrison today awaited full details as to how Brig. Gen. Scott, chief of staff of the army, succeeded in persuading the four Plute Indians who recently led a band of their tribesmen on the warpath when the federal authorities attempted to arrest Tse Ne-Gat for murder to return with him. Only meagre advice had been received from General Scott, who in a message from Bluff, Utah, announcing the success of his mission, said he was on his way to Salt Lake City with the four Plutes and that all was quiet when he left southern Utah. Secretary Garrison promptly sent a message of congratulation to General Scott, who in undertaking his mission went unarmed and accompanied only by an orderly and two Navajo scouts. JAMMED IN HEAVY FLOES

WIRELESS REPORTS FROM SEALING FLEETS INDICATE THAT OUTLOOK IS UNFAVORABLE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 22.—Wireless reports received today from the sealing fleets indicate that the outlook for the season is unfavorable. The eight steamers off the eastern coast after working their way through the ice for some 250 miles up the eastern coast of Newfoundland are now jammed in the heavy floes off Cape St. John at the northern point on Notre Dame bay and about 125 miles south of the easterly entrance to the strait of Belle Isle. Five hundred seals taken by the steamer Florizel last Saturday comprise the total catch to date. In the average season the eastern fleet captures about thirty thousand seals by this date. The vessels of the western fleet so far have made no catch. It was reported by wireless today that the steamers Adventure and Bel-Aventure had sustained damage to their propeller blades which will impair their activity somewhat.

EVANGELISTS CURRIE AND PETERS HELD FINAL SERVICES AT PAIGE ST. CHURCH YESTERDAY

Evangelists Currie and Peters completed their four weeks of revival services at the Paige Street Baptist church last night. Rev. Mr. Currie's theme for the evening was "Repentance." The afternoon meeting was inspiring and the church was crowded to the doors. The chorus choir completely filled the large organ and pulpit platform, and the singing was as usual, no small feature of the service. Mr. Currie complimented the singers on their efficiency and their sustained effort throughout the month of service and said he felt that Lowell had been an inspiring field for work because he found such willing and efficient helpers. It was not his effort alone, nor that of Mr. Peters that counted, but rather the gathering of the harvest so well prepared by Rev. B. R. Harris, the pastor of the church. Mr. Currie also paid a generous tribute to his wife, who had joined him only last night and who was present at the meeting as a member of the chorus. Rev. Mr. Harris thanked Mr. Currie and Mr. Peters for their work here. He said they had come here unknown except by reputation, but they went away with the blessing of the entire congregation. Rev. George M. Suttley, pastor of the Central Methodist church, assisted at the evening service by offering the prayer.

Forty years ago this week the founders of this business began a basement selling by moving the bedding into the floor below the street, giving it a counter by itself and one clerk who assisted upstairs when he was not busy. From such a beginning has grown the large plant so familiar to you with its scores of counters and half an acre of selling space, salespeople into the hundreds, offering Household Needs of every sort, Clothing, Footwear etc. etc. at the lowest prices in this section.

Known everywhere as the most Economical Shopping Place in New England, our Great Underprice Basement celebrates its 40th anniversary with bargains in every department.

GINGRAS MURDER TRIAL

Continued

SATURDAY AFTERNOON'S SESSION

The court came in at 2 o'clock, sharp, and Mr. Hogan resumed his examination of Sanita continuing the tracing of witness' course from his house to the tannery on the morning of the murder. Sanita named the same streets as were named by Barris.

"About what time did you and Barris reach the gate on Perry street?"

"We were hearing the second door when the bell on the door was striking half-past three."

"Was the gate open?"

"Yes."

"Did you notice any street lights going?"

"Yes."

"Was there any light in the passageway?"

"No."

"Was there a light coming out of the centre of the doorway into the passageway?"

"There was a lamp there but it wasn't burning."

"How did you light the light?"

"No, Barris did."

"How did he light it?"

"He turned a switch on the wall."

"What light switch when the switch was turned?"

"A light in the corridor."

"Which one of you was first to enter the second door to the beam house?"

"Andrew."

"What did you do then?"

"I turned on a light."

Witness then pointed on the plan to the location of the switch turned by him.

"Where did you and Andrew go next?"

"We went up stairs."

"Andrew was the first to enter the drying room?"

"Yes."

"Who turned the switch for the light in the drying room?"

"Andrew."

"Where did you go then?"

"To the dressing room."

"When you undressed, what clothes did you take off?"

"Took off street clothes."

"Did you take off undershirt and drawers?"

"No."

"What clothes did you put on?"

"Jumper and working pants."

"What kind of boots?"

"Rubber boots."

"Did the jumper have any sleeves?"

"No—cut off."

"How long did it take you and Andrew to change your clothes?"

"Five, six or perhaps seven minutes."

"How did you go then?"

"Down stairs, to our work."

"Did Andrew start to work with you?"

"Yes."

"Did you put on any other clothing?"

"Two aprons."

"About what time was it when you and Andrew arrived at the machine where you were to work?"

"How long did it take you and Andrew to put on your aprons?"

"Minute or so."

"Did you see Charlie Gingsras that morning?"

"Yes. I saw him go by."

"Before you started the motor did you do anything with tracks on the floor?"

"No."

"Who started the first motor that morning?"

"I did."

"What did you and Andrew next do?"

"Turned on steam and water and started to pull out the skins."

"Did you see Martin Olynski that morning?"

"Yes—later."

"How long after you saw Charlie did you see Martin?"

"It was then about 3 minutes past four."

"What time was it when you saw Charlie?"

"Ten or eight minutes of four."

"Did you see Martin when he came to where you were working?"

"No."

"What did he do?"

"He put on his apron and started to work."

"Did you give him any order about a motor?"

"No."

"Was there a second motor started that morning?"

"Yes. I started another motor."

"How long did you and Andrew and Martin continue to work there?"

"At 5.30 we finished pulling out skins from the water."

"Was your work done before 6 o'clock?"

"Yes, at half-past five."

"From 5.30 up to the time you learned about Gingsras did you run the wheel?"

"Yes."

"Did you take out any more skins?"

"No—only a certain number designated to be soaked."

"What was Martin doing?"

"Sitting near the wheel."

"What were you doing?"

"Running the wheels."

"What was Andrew doing?"

"Lying on the table."

"How did you first about Charles Gingsras being assaulted up stairs?"

"Charles was first to tell me. It was then after 5 o'clock."

"What did you do then?"

"We ran up stairs."

"Did you go into the drying room?"

"Just inside the door, Gingsras was moving a little bit and then I went down stairs to find a telephone."

"Did you see blood on the floor?"

"Yes—a lot of blood."

"What part of his body moved?"

"His breast was heaving."

"Where did you go when you ran down stairs?"

"I went to the big office."

"Was there anyone in the office?"

"No. There were two men standing inside and I shouted that a man was in and I asked them, to telephone. They only laughed at me."

"Were they near the office?"

"Yes—on the left of the office."

"After you spoke to them what did you do about telephoning?"

"A man heard me shouting and he went to the machine shop and telephoned."

"Then where did you go?"

"I went back to my work."

"Did you go up stairs again to where Gingsras was?"

"Yes. There was a lot of people there then."

"Did you remain until the body was sent away?"

"I can't remember."

"Did you see the ambulance?"

"Yes."

"What did you do after the body was taken away?"

"I went to work."

"Did you work all morning?"

"Until the police came and took me to the police station."

"When was that?"

"Perhaps 15 or 20 minutes past seven."

"How many of you were taken to the station?"

"Five."

"What was done at the police station?"

"Police questioned us."

"All together, or separately?"

"Every way—singly and collectively."

"How long were you at the police station?"

"Through the day."

"When did you go out?"

"About half past four."

"Where did you and Andrew go to?"

"We went toward the shop and told the boss we would be at work next morning."

"Did you go to work next morning?"

"No."

"Did you work Monday?"

"No."

"Did you go to work Tuesday?"

"Yes."

"Were you taken to the police station a second time?"

"Yes."

"How many men did the police take to the station that day?"

"Three of us, Andrew, myself and Martin Olynski."

"What time were you taken?"

"We left the shop at 5 o'clock."

"Did you walk to the police station?"

"Yes."

"Were you locked up?"

"Yes—over night."

"What time did they lock you up?"

"About 12 o'clock at night."

"From the time you reached the station at 5.30 until midnight when you were placed in the cell, what were you doing?"

"Sleeping and sitting."

"Did anybody ask you questions?"

"Yes—the police questioned us."

"Did they question you most of the time before you were locked up?"

"Yes."

"At 3.15 another recess was declared and the court came in again at 2.45. Mr. Hogan continued with the examination of Sanita."

"You said you were taken up stairs at the police station. Who took you there?"

"Men higher up."

"Was Mr. Donahue there that morning?"

"Yes."

"What time did you leave the courtroom that day?"

"One o'clock, I think."

"Where did you go to?"

"I think I went home."

"Did you go to work that afternoon?"

"I don't know if I did any work or leave the boss."

"Where about what?"

"About work the next morning."

"Did you go to work the next morning?"

"Yes."

"Did Andrew and Martin go to work, too?"

"Can't remember."

"Did you continue to go to work every morning up to the third time you were taken to the police station?"

"Yes."

"How were you taken to the station the third time?"

"The police took us there."

"What time in the day?"

"Don't remember. Think it was just before dinner."

"What part of the station did they take you to?"

"Upstairs."

"Who went to the station with you that day?"

"Police in plain clothes came for us."

"How long did you remain?"

"Until three or four."

"What was done there?"

"The president of the police station, another man and a woman."

"Did you answer all the questions that were asked of you?"

"Yes."

"Then did you go home?"

"Yes."

"Witness then said that his apron was taken by the 'president of the police station'."

"Did you get the apron back again?"

"Not yet."

"Did you go to work the next morning?"

"Yes. I think so."

"Did you continue to work at the tannery up to the time you were arrested and taken to Cambridge?"

"Yes."

Sanita Cross-Examined

Mr. Hogan finished his direct examination of Sanita at 4 o'clock and the district attorney then took him in hand.

"When did you start to work on the morning Gingsras was killed?"

"Four o'clock."

"You told the police that you were at the factory earlier than usual that morning that Gingsras was killed, didn't you?"

"We were hearing the shop at 3.30."

"Did you understand the question I asked you?"

"No."

"Did you understand the interpretation?"

"Yes."

"You can understand what I say, too, can't you?"

"I can't speak English well."

"Didn't you tell the police you came to the factory earlier than usual that morning?"

"Don't remember."

"What time did you come the morning before?"

"Can't remember."

"You can't remember only what you want to remember—isn't that so?"

"I don't understand."

"How long did it take you to change your clothes on the morning of the Gingsras murder?"

"Five minutes."

"How long did it take you to come down stairs?"

"Can't remember."

"How long did it take you to put on your apron?"

"One or two minutes."

"What time did you see Gingsras?"

"Ten or eight minutes to 4."

"What kind of material were your aprons made from?"

"Something like oilcloth."

"Are they waterproof?"

"Yes."

"You wear them to keep the water from getting on your clothes underneath?"

"Yes."

"You told Mr. Hogan you turned on the first motor?"

"Yes."

"Who started the second motor?"

"I did."

"Did you start them before you saw Martin?"

"Just before and one after."

"When did Martin go to work that morning?"

"Three minutes past 4."

"It wasn't two minutes?"

"I don't know—I didn't have a watch."

"Then how do you know it was three minutes past 4?"

"I don't like to have reckoning of time."

"And you reckoned your time from what you heard Barris say today—is that so?"

"I don't understand you."

"When did Martin come in?"

"I saw him come in at 20 minutes of 4."

"How long after he came in before he went to work?"

LADY LOOKABOUT

While the autolog world in general has been up in arms for a long time over the glare of the headlights in the other fellow's machine, especially when he used a tungsten lamp and a powerful lens, and while automobile manufacturers have been bending their energies to overcome this objectionable feature of night riding, and have produced only the dimmer, along comes a simple little device which overcomes the difficulty at once. This is the glass-scope, a 5-inch disc of green tinted paper, or some such material which is to be pasted on to the windshield directly in front of the operator's eyes. It relieves the blinding glare without interfering with his delirious rush, judging by the large number to be seen on machines, has already proved its efficiency.

School Entrance

Often I have felt that there is cause for a protest in the fact that so many of our schoolboys open directly on streets frequented by the main traffic of the city. In many cases where access to a side street could be easily effected, I passed St. Peter's parochial school at closing time a few days ago, and I could not help commending the foresight and consideration of the architect who so planned the gates of the yard that they opened on to quiet Union street rather than on to Graham street with its street cars, auto trucks, pleasure cars, funerals and the heavy traffic to be found on a leading thoroughfare. When we consider the obvious rush to the middle of the street, ordinarily made by the average schoolboy, the wonder is that we are so free from accidents.

Women Judges

Should the assertion of the dean of Columbia law school, that juvenile courts should be presided over by women judges, be put into actual practice, it probably would be met with a storm of protest. Yet why should not such an innovation be good for all concerned? Women have long surpassed men as teachers of small children. Men, we are told, withdraw from this field of teaching on account of the low wages paid, but surely the love of the work would have kept a few men in this line of work. If they found it wholly congenial, it is forced upon us that the direction of the young child is essentially woman's work, and the young child unconsciously recognizes this fact. I believe that the true reason is that woman thinks with her heart fully as much as with her head.

And in the handling of children it is the heart thought that is needed.

The Suffrage Color

Shaw yellow has been adopted as the suffrage color, the jonquil has taken on a new significance. At this season, when it is the only flower of that color to wear eye stamps (the wearer an advocate of the cause), a masculine party, of manifestly rural persuasion, passed through Merrimack square a few days ago, adorned with a beautiful jonquil. I have not a doubt he bought it from some street vendor just for pure love of the flower, and I also doubt if suffrage had met with his personal approval, granting that he had ever heard of it. Not much escapes the watchful eyes of the newsboys on the square. Immediately shouts of "Piss the suff," "Votes for women," and the like, rose from them, but the innocent cause of their mirth smiled at them in ignorance of why they laughed but happy with his lovely jonquil.

A Supreme Court Decision

In regard to the judgment pronounced by Supreme Court Justice McHugh, in which he declares that the earnings of a wife belong to her husband unless a specific contract has been made between them, by which the husband allows the wife to keep her earnings, there is nothing to be said which will not occur to the average person. The judge should not be censured for making the ruling, he simply followed the law. The interesting part of it is that both suffragists and anti-suffragists are a unit in considering the law. It well illustrates a principle of political economy, practiced for centuries by left and right, that national unity is best protected by outside war. Here we find no national unity, perhaps, but the unity of diverse factions of women preserved by an injustice to all women, and one which all women, whatever their beliefs in regard to suffrage may be, unite in condemning.

It is not possible that a series of injustices which would affect all women might be the means of placing them all under one standard, all working under one rule, in that position in which she would be of the greatest value to the individual, the home, and the nation. Surely, with so many diverging opinions of her value, there must somewhere be a little strip of common ground which little by little could be enlarged as prejudices break down and disappear, and a broader sympathy for the opinions and dissatisfactions of others take their place.

MORAN WILL TRY THE "COME BACK" IN BOUT WITH WELLS

LONDON, March 22.—Much interest is being taken in the coming twenty round bout between Bombardier Wells and Frank Moran, to be held here March 29. Both men have been training hard for the past two weeks and are in splendid condition. Moran has had no fights of importance since he was defeated by Jack Johnson in Paris last June. His coming battle with Wells will be in the nature of a come back stunt for the American. Upper photo shows him with his partner jumping over a fence. Lower one shows him ready for a battle.

THE SUFFOLK HALL FIRE

STATE OFFICERS UNABLE TO DETERMINE THE CAUSE—LETTER SAYS IT WAS SET.

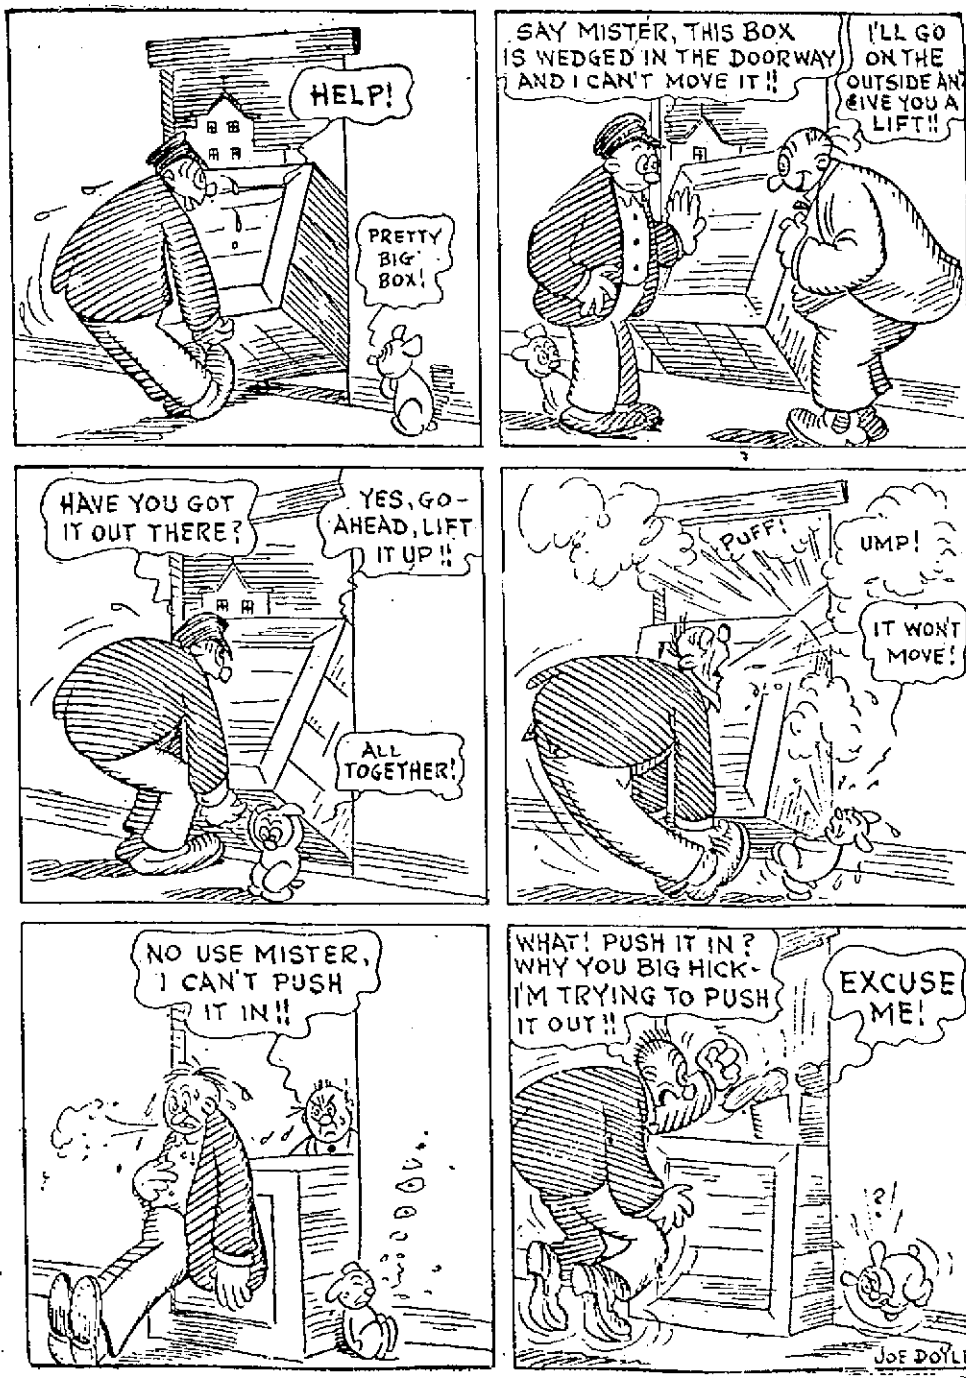

State Officers Horrigan and Rice and Fire Chief Edward F. Saunders were unable to ascertain the cause of the fire which gutted Suffolk hall early Thursday morning, as there was no evidence to show that the fire was set. It was destroyed by the flames. From what could be learned, the officers stated that the fire seemed to have started from a carelessly thrown lighter match or cigarette.

Chief Saunders has received an anonymous letter written partly in English and partly in Greek, stating that the fire was set in two different places by a person who was seen to leave the building a few minutes before the blaze was discovered. The letter has been turned over to the state police but it resembles many misleading anonymous letters received in newspaper offices and the officers have little faith as to the reliability of its contents.

EXCUSE ME

DANGEROUS DEBILITY

Debility may result from a number of causes—worry, after-effects of acute illness, lack of nourishment due to disordered digestion, or anything that makes the blood thin, thereby preventing it from carrying health and nourishment to the tissues of the body. The symptoms of debility vary but weakness is always present, often a tendency to fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, dizziness, watery eyes, and inability to stop thinking, and unrefreshing sleep. Debility is dangerous because it weakens the body's defence against disease. For instance, debilitated people take cold easily and winter is always a trying time for them. When one cold follows another the system surely needs building up. The treatment of such run-down conditions with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is based on sound medical principles and common sense. These pills build up the blood so that it nourishes every part of the body, nerves as well as muscles and brings vigor, strength and health. Mention this paper and we will mail you the booklet "Building Up the Blood." Address: Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

There will be a meeting of the Loom-faxer's union tonight in Carpenters hall.

Peter Touhey of the Massachusetts mill thoroughly enjoyed the basket-ball game last Thursday evening.

John Moran, formerly employed at the Federal shoe Co., as shipper will accept a lucrative position with a Boston firm.

The mutual benefit association, formed by the clerks of the J. L. Chal-foux Co., has had the right start and is bound to be successful.

Joe Foley of the Merrimack Mfg. Co. will play no more basketball this season, according to intimate friends, in whom he has confided.

Morton Walker, advertising man for the J. L. Chal-foux Co., will be one of the big men at the Mercantile Bow-ling league banquet tomorrow night.

William Berry of the Bigelow-Hart-ford Carpet Co. has been selected to coach the Fairmount track team and he will give much of his time to his new duties.

Conditions at the local plant of the Thelwell-Hartford Carpet Co. have be-come more settled and the employees are more readily employed. The car-penters department worked five days last week.

Frederic Gillis of the Field Lumber Co., has been elected a member of the organization yesterday when he ap-peared as a tenant with the Fairmount club.

Charles B. Chase, agent of the Stevens mills of Fall River is reported to be a candidate for fire commissioner in that city, and it is also said that Mr. Chase is a successful candidate of land- ing the position.

Orders aggregating $32,000,000 in value, received in the course of the past six months, it is estimated, have been placed for textile commodities with American manufacturers by the various European powers.

Business Agent Michael A. Lee of the Carpenters' union has moved from Cen-tralville to his old residence in Belvidere.

Jim Denchey, foreman of one of the departments at the Meers, Adams Shoe Co., stated some time ago that he was about to quit the bowling game, but we notice he's still at it.

Several large orders are said to have been received by the new Bur-ton Varn Co., of Clinton, Mass., and a night shift is to be put on as soon as the machinery in the card room is set up.

A baseball team will be organized by the clerks of the shoe department of the A. G. Pollard store, according to reports. It is said that Sam Ber-ner will be organized as manager of the aggregation and that he will also officiate behind the bat. Fred Rand will probably be given a tryout in the box.

A $500,000 order for 300,000 army blankets for the French government has been placed in Pittsfield woolen mills, delivery to be made in New York, May 1. The order has been divided between Pontowus, Wilson and Berk-shire Woolen mills, and the Strong and Hewitt mills of North Adams.

Richard Preston of the Meers Adams Shoe Co. came near beating the city duck pin record on Saturday afternoon when he bowled the high single of 177 on a local alley. The city record is 176. Preston has been bowling a little less than a year which makes his feat all the more remarkable, and he will probably try to arrange match games with Martell, Keaton, the Italian, and other alley stars of the city.

Freight Handlers' Union

The Freight Handlers' union met in regular session in Trades & Labor hall yesterday afternoon and transacted considerable routine business. A num-ber of interesting reports were read and the secretary's report showed the union to be in a strong financial condi-tion.

A Spring Tonic

It has been appropriately remarked that "when capital catches cold, labor freezes to death." Capital has had a bad cold for a long time and labor has been suffering from the effects. But things look much better and the spring tonic is going to set up both capital and labor.

Candidates Appointed

At a special meeting of the nomi-nating committee of the 8th Associa-tion of America, the following candi-dates for the board of managers were appointed to be elected for three years at the annual meeting of this month: Albert Blum, Sidney Blumen-thal, Fritz Hill, Charles E. Lotte, Joseph Schickler, Charles E. Lotte, Jan- J. Stelli and Alexander D. Walker.

Soldiers' Socks Burned

Seventeen thousand dollars' worth of stockings in boxes ready to be shipped abroad for the French army, were destroyed by fire Tuesday morn-ing, at the plant of the Blackstone Knitting Co., Central Falls, R. I. The storehouse was destroyed and a portion of the power house burned. The plant has been running day and night knitting socks for the French army. The loss is estimated at be-tween $50,000 and $75,000.

400,000 Unemployed in New York

Four hundred thousand persons are unemployed in New York, the Metro-politan Life Insurance Co. estimates after making a canvass of 100,000 families.

The census, according to Vice Presi-dent Fiske, of the company, was begun in January and continued for several weeks. Agents of the com-pany made the inquiry among its in-dustrial policyholders. Of the 650,000 persons covered in the investigation, 252,912 are unemployed, or 38.9 per cent. On the basis of these figures the company estimates the total unemployment.

Textile Workers' Union

A largely attended meeting of the Greek operatives connected with the Textile Workers' union was held in Trades & Labor hall in Middle street on Saturday afternoon and several new members were received into the organization. A number of stirring ad-dresses were made by several promi-nent Greek business men and by or-ganizer Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers.

Yesterday afternoon the Polish weavers held a similar meeting with equally satisfactory results.

Typographical Union

The Typographical union, local 316, held its regular meeting in Post 11 hall Saturday evening with a large attendance. A number of reports and communications were read and properly referred, and Organizer Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers and Charles E. Anderson, sec-etary of the Trades & Labor council made brief addresses in which they asked the support of the organization in the coming labor forward move-ment.

Following the business session the members were entertained by the Man-battani cabaret singers. This feature proved very enjoyable and consisted of songs by Al Olson, James Shugrue, Patrick McAndrews, Dave Boyle, Geo. Campbell and Joseph Perry. The typ-ographer, Charles Nobiles, and his par-tner, Ed. Turnbull, also assisted in the program and they made their usual hit. Mr. Nobiles also favored with a num-ber of selections at the piano and served as accompanist of the evening. A banquet followed under the direc-tion of William H. Taylor.

DEATHS

WOODS—Henry Woods, for the past 16 years head bookkeeper at the North Chelmsford Machine & Supply Co., and well known among business men in this city, died very suddenly Saturday afternoon at his home in Middlesex street, North Chelmsford, of heart trouble. Mr. Woods hurried for a car while re-turning home from the Vesper-Country club and had just stepped into his house when he dropped dead. He was 71 years.

Mr. Woods has been associated in business in North Chelms-ford with George C. Moore for the past 25 years and was a man of keen busi-ness instinct and mental capacity. He was born in England in 1843, one of a family of nine children. In 1861 he married Eliza Woodcock Parry and came to this country in 1859 and has lived in North Chelmsford since 1891. His wife died in 1899 and he later married Marion Alice Wells of Bos-ton, who survives him. Besides his wife, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. George A. Kingsbury of Roxbury; a son, George H. Woods of Boston; four grand-children and one great-grandchild. He was a member of the Vesper-Country club, Lowell council, No. 5, Royal Ar-murium and Greenhalge council No. 100, Royal association.

MOONEY—Mrs. Mary Mooney, wife of Thomas Mooney, about 60 years of age, was found dead in bed early yes-terday morning by her husband at her home, 141 Fayette street. Medical attributed death to natural causes. She leaves besides her husband, a brother, Patrick J. Powers.

MELVIN—Mrs. Eliza A. Melvin died yesterday at her home in South Chelms-ford, aged 75 years. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Annie L. Melvin of South Chelmsford, and two sons, Charles E. Dame of Chelmsford Cen-ter.

KANE—Mary Kane, infant daughter of Daniel and Katherine Donohoe (Kane), died Saturday at the home of her parents, 32 Lawrence street, aged 9 months.

KILBANE WOULD LIKE TO TACKLE
WELSH FOR LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE

NEW YORK, March 22.—Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, who handed out a thrashing to Kid Williams, holder of the bantamweight title in Philadelphia recently, is now hot-foot after Freddie Welsh, the possessor of the lightweight emblem. Johnny believes he can easily take away the crown from Welsh and would like nothing better than a chance to prove it. The matter is now up to Welsh. As the promoters in New York are willing to stage such a battle it is more than likely that the men will meet in a ten round bout some time in the near future. A battle between these two boys should be worth watching, as they are two of the cleverest men that have ever appeared in the ring. There are many who believe Kilbane would not experience much difficulty in outpointing Welsh in a ten round contest. Kilbane handed out a severe beating to Williams in their recent bout. Upper picture shows Kilbane resting on the steps of his home. Lower, fighting pose of Kilbane.

Interested Lecture by Miss Meyer, the Mag-dalen of the Drama

Merrimack Square theatre was crowded last evening on the oc-casion of the illustrated lecture on the Passion Play by Franklin Marle Meyer, who in the last performance of the drama at Oberammergau took the part of Mary Magdalen.

The speaker, who is a cultivated German lady, speaks English with a fair degree of fluency, but of course with a marked foreign accent. She was introduced in complimentary terms by Rev. W. George Mullen, who on behalf of the Knights of Columbus, under whose auspices the lecture was given, stated that the proceeds would go to the aid of Catholic children who are led astray by the forces of evil. In the past, he said, this charity had been generously carried on by au-thentic organizations and it was time that Catholics should assume their share of this work. He was glad to see such a large audience and thanked those present for the attend-

ST. ANNE'S CHURCH

The preacher at St. Anne's Episcopal church, this city, last night was Rev. Appleton Lawrence, assistant rector of the Grace Episcopal church of Law-rence. He took for his text the words of the Saviour, "This I do for their sake." Prior to the service a half hour organ recital was given by Charles Brown, the organ brought by Miss Kathleen Wright, violinist. The sun-ghild choir also sang several appropri-ate hymns.

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

Cook cleans white and colored kid gloves with a quantity of flour in a cup or bowl, and enough gasoline to make a stiff paste. Apply to the gloves and when dry brush off the flour. The same process can also be used for the seams of gloves. White or light-colored kid gloves may also be cleaned in the following manner: and the gloves first of all with cream of tartar.

Leave them for an hour, and then rub them with Fuller's earth and powdered alum, mixed in equal proportions. Leave the gloves again until the next day, when they must be brushed again until all the powder is removed. The next process is to rub them with catenae. Wipe all this off with a dry cloth and the gloves will be ready to be worn again.

When washing white silk gloves, do not rub the soap directly on the gloves but make a suds and wash them in that. The water should be lukewarm, not hot. Then rinse in cold water. A dash of bluing added to the rinsing water will keep them white. Hang in a dark closet to dry, instead of out in the sunlight. Do not iron, but press them with the fingers. In case they are not to be worn at once, wrap carefully in blue paper and put away.

When cleaning teapots, pot lids, the inside of pots and pans, cook has found that nothing can equal wet emery cloth. It is also good for cleaning tin or zinc basins. To clean a copper kettle, rub its surface with lemon skin and salt. Wipe the surface quickly, and rub with a dry cloth.

Keep breadboards and other wooden utensils clean by scrubbing with soap and lukewarm water, says cook, to which household ammonia or common soda has been added.

Stains may be removed from linens by scouring with common soda, then washing thoroughly and drying.

When baking fruitcake cook puts a quarter of an inch of flour in the bottom of the pan and then oiled paper over it; then pours in the batter. This will secure a tender under crust.

The secret of flaky pie crust is the use of hot water (not boiling) rather than cold in mixing the dough. If this hint is followed the crust will always be flaky, tender and crisp.

The addition of a little soda mixed with a teaspoonful of corn starch to the cream before pouring it into the mixture will prevent curdling in the making of cream-topped soup.

I wonder how many women who use gas know what a help and saving a steamer is. Cook has a kettle with a steamer which fits in the top, but one can buy a tin steamer with a lid for a small sum and this will fit over most kettles and basins. In this way one can boil meat and steam potatoes or boil one vegetable and steam another at the same time and by using only one burner save a good deal of gas.

Then a steamer is so handy for warming leftovers, such as stale cake for a pudding or pudding left over from the day before. Cook often makes a suet pudding and many recipes make a big one and she puts it into empty pound coffee cans and steams it three or four hours and then what is left can be put in the steamer and warmed and it will be like a new pudding.

The reason she puts it in coffee cans is that it cuts off in nice round flat slices which look well served with sauce. This pudding will keep a long time and it is so handy when company comes unexpectedly, or for

Cook says when baking meats the oven should be very hot at first, and then the heat should be slowly lowered to allow the cooking to be done slowly. Keep a piece of asbestos on hand to interpose between a dish and the hottest part of the oven when there is danger of burning.

Dry or tough meats can often be made tender and of a good flavor by brining. They are shut in a close covered pot, with salt pork, stock and chopped vegetables and cooked slowly in the confined steam. Meats for broiling should be cut very thin and turned over a clear, hot fire as often as one counts ten. When the puffed appearance of broiled meat begins to disappear it means that the moisture is evaporating and the meat will be hard and dry. Roasted meats have a better flavor than baked ones. The meat should be first placed near the coals to sear and then drawn back to cook at lower heat.

Cook suggests that I give the standard table of weights and measures. One cup equals 1-2 pint, four cups equal 1 quart, three teaspoons equal 1 tablespoon. 1 gill equals 1/2 cup, sixteen liquid tablespoons equal 1 cup, two cups butter, solid, equal 1 pound; four cups flour, sifted, equal 1 pound; nine large eggs equal 1 pound; two cups sugar, granulated, equal 1 pound; two and one-half cups sugar, powdered, equal 1 pound.

To measure use a measuring cup holding one-half pint and marked one-half, one-third, and one-fourth. Flour, sugar and meals are placed in the cup lightly and leveled off, with a knife. Butter is packed in solid and leveled off. Tea and tablespoons are filled solid and leveled off. If a tea or tablespoon of dry material is to be divided in half, fill spoonful and level off and divide lengthwise.

SPRING STYLES
The World Looks for
New Evolutions During Coming Season

March may fairly be said to be the month of expectancy in the world of dress. The French opening will take place before its close and there are always advance rumors of what will be shown. The southern resorts are not alone open, they are arousing the height of the season and whether we are numbered among the fortunate few who seek them or among the stay-at-homes, we are apt to be considering what is to be worn when the stormy season shall have passed and spring is with us. This season makes no exception to the rule and there is perhaps a greater sense of interest than common for the reason the conditions are peculiar and that there is a great deal of effort being made to get the best of the home talent to take advantage of the opportunity for exploitation which does not come every year. The very fact that Paris has announced its usual March displays entitles that city to the keenest interest and appreciation for the work must have been done under exceptionally trying conditions and give evidence alone of the wonderful ability for which the French are noted, but also of a steadfastness of purpose and a determination to continue even in face of a tragedy, that cannot fail to win admiration. We must be glad to know that the dressmakers are equal to their task and it cannot fail to be a gratification to realize that these two conditions will be met. There will be enjoyed many who therewith must suffer the pangs of poverty added to others that war entails, but we nevertheless must realize that home talent is to be encouraged, that we have artists on this side of the sea and that it is time that we outgrow the fetish that seems to possess the words "imported" and "Parisian" with special charm and significance whether the actual merits or does not. As has been stated in previous letters, it is being demonstrated week by week that we can and do dye wonderful colors, that we can and do make wonderful fabrics and what we need to stimulate these industries and to give to their owners that sense of personal pride that is perhaps the greatest asset of the foreign manufacturers, the appreciation of American buyers, the willingness to look for home products and to pay for home products and just that encouragement which always comes with recognition. Our manufacturing interests are too young in this country to have that inherent pride which belongs to the foreigner. It is not often that a single industry remains in a family from generation to generation and if we can build up just that condition and bring about that sense of pride, we will have gone a long way toward creating a condition from which we may expect an output equal to any that the world has to show.

This season, colors are wonderfully beautiful and are wonderfully interesting. In addition to the color card mentioned last week, we have those that are named after the western prairie where the colors are new and we have also the greens that suggest the quiet tones of the uniforms of the soldiers when it is desirable to avoid recognition and then we have the brilliant military effects of the dress uniforms that are worn upon parade and we have indeed a great many colors of the prevailing conditions that differentiate the season from any other that has been known. One of the new blues is called sailor blue. It is not the tone we are accustomed to think of by that name, but a beautiful grayish blue that can be trusted to blend with the horizon and render him as inconspicuous as a moving object can be. We have a lattice green that is just the color that will be shown on some of the decorations of the exposition grounds and we have various other colors and names that are equally suggestive. In fabrics are many of notable beauty that are soft and lustrous.

That we are to have wide skirts

TYPES THAT SHOW THE NEWEST FASHION FEATURES

Empire models are always becoming to girlish figures. Just now the girl's Empire frock is in the height of style, and here is one of the prettiest possible. The full skirt is arranged over a narrower foundation and the tunic idea is always charming. The plain little body portion is the real Empire effect and the full across the lower edge emphasizes the high waisted line. In one view, the skirt is shown in a solid color, the plain little body portion is the real Empire effect and the full across the lower edge emphasizes the high waisted line. In one view, the skirt is shown in a solid color, the plain little body portion is the real Empire effect and the full across the lower edge emphasizes the high waisted line.

and extended skirts, modifications of the Crinoline idea, is demonstrated day by day. In the union of such fashions with the soft silks, is to be found another interest. The silks are lovely as those of our grandmothers were not, for they take beautiful folds and beautiful lines and are without stiffness. To obtain the desired effect, cords, ruffles, flounces and trimmings of all sorts are used. We are taking our suggestions from the Victorian Era but we are making them our very own by means of variations, adaptations and the like.

For the dance and for all indoor functions, there will be a dominant picture of a quait note; for the street, simple styles and tailored effects will prevail and no matter what modifications will occur, it is certain that these two conditions will remain. In Florida, white serge, white gabardine and white flannel made into simple coat suits make the prevailing costumes for morning wear. For the dinner and for the dance, there is no limit to be set, but it is safe to say that nothing that is extreme, nothing that is bizarre, nothing that is overdone will have any permanent place. We are promised a season of rare opportunity and rare beauty with just that range of variety that makes it possible for each woman to be dressed at her best.

Conspicuous in the display of the new fabrics are the bordered materials that are to be found in such silks as gros de Lendre and faille, in crepes and in taffeta and they are shown in chiffon to be really marvellously exquisite and in many of the most costly fabrics that are made of both wool and cotton. Whenever bordered materials are unusually attractive, the straight skirts will prevail. An exceedingly interesting development of the situation is a gown that is made with skirt of white material and with a little pointed bodice of velvet either in black or in harmonizing color. An exceedingly beautiful model of the kind combines without much bulk over the hips, the bodice is a little pointed one of the velvet matching the deepest red. It is laced together at the front, is cut with round neck and without sleeves and is worn over a glimpse of white net that drapes the upper edge most charmingly and provides short draped sleeves. To obtain the very wide skirts that already are in demand without too much bulk over the hips, designers frequently are sewed into the other. A most attractive costume designed for a debutante is made in that way, each feature being slightly finished in two different ways. On the figure, the neck is high with a stock collar, but the suggestion for the V-shaped neck with a high military collar at the back and sides, which is shown in the small view, is a good one and will be preferred by many women. Long sleeves are smart, but there is no fixed rule and those of three-quarter length are quite correct, they are finished with pointed cuffs and these cuffs may be of the same material or of the trimming. Just now there is a notable fancy for sleeves of a different material, but here again there is opportunity for choice since matching sleeves are used in equal numbers. In the picture the gown is made of gabardine, the sleeves and trimming are of velvet and braiding of soutache, which is both handsome and fashionable, but the model is one that can be utilized for a still handsomer gown of velvet, of broadcloth, or of charmeuse satin, or of any material which is heavy enough to be made in so simple a style.

full and joined to the succeeding one by means of a silk-covered cord. The cords providing sufficient flare to give the lines that are demanded by the latest decree. At the lower edge of the skirt is a narrow band of black velvet ribbon and the little pointed bodice is all of black velvet with white net finishing its upper edge. The black in contrast with the flowered silk is exceedingly beautiful and the whole costume is one of the quaint and interesting sort that always calls for comment. Velvet ribbon, indeed, may be counted among the revivals. It is being extensively used in black and in color and is perfectly adapted to the new styles. A most charming gown that is being packed for Florida is made of taffeta in a fascinating shade of rose. There is a three-piece skirt that is edged with two narrow gathered ruffles and these ruffles are each finished at their lower edges with a single band of black velvet ribbon less than one-half an inch in width, while at the upper edge they are turned under to form little headings.

The bodice is a modification of the baby idea for it is cut with round neck and short puffed sleeves and is softly draped, but is extended at the front to form a pointed girldle and at the back is finished with a looped bow and ends of black velvet ribbon and around the neck and finishing the sleeves are velvet edged frills like those on the skirt.

An afternoon costume is made of taffeta in one of the wonderful changeable effects that are obtained by many primary colors, but it gives the effect of pink silvery touches. It consists of a full skirt shirred over cords to form a deep Empire girldle and trimmed at about knee depth with three pinked-out ruffles.

to all the various entertainments and fetes that great event is sure to mean. Here is a fascinating little frock that can be made either with low or with high neck, with or without sleeves, and can be utilized both for the evening occasions and for the afternoon as well. It is Empire in effect and Empire lines are always becoming to the girls. It is absolutely simple and consequently can be made with little effort and at little expense while it is just as smart and pretty as can be. There is a short waisted bodice portion or lining to which the full straight skirt is attached and the trimming at the front and back and the drapery over the shoulders are arranged over this lining, and the girldle also is attached to it at the upper edge. In the picture, silk net is trimmed with chiffon velvet and rosebud banding, but all the pretty, dainty materials that girls like can be utilized for the model. Silk voile or chiffon would make up most effectively, and some of the new cotton stuffs are really exquisite, and either a fine cotton crepe or cotton voile would be charming with trimming of taffeta.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

The Sultan of Turkey has no less than 300 wives in his harem. Oregon has two women harness-makers and 20 female hatmakers. Ten thousand women are being added to the colleges every year. Colorado will probably have a woman juvenile court judge. Wisconsin stores and factories employ nearly 50,000 women. Temple university in Philadelphia has a women's fencing club. The women's suffrage party in New York city has over 150,000 members. Columbus, Ga., has a board of trade composed exclusively of women. The army in Holland always trains under the watchful eye of Queen Wilhelmina. The suffrage bill in the Texas legislature was defeated by four votes. Thirteen Fort Dodge, Minn., girls have mutually agreed to walk 500 miles each year.

Branches of the National Woman's peace party are now maintained in seven cities. Miss Marie Marvingt of France is considered the greatest female athlete in the world. Miss Helen V. Drexler pays $1000 a month for a flower stand in New York city.

Twenty-one per cent of the wage-earning women in Michigan receive less than $8 per week. Thirty-eight per cent of the graduates of Goucher college have married during the past year.

In Persia, girls are often married to their cousins in order to keep the family property intact. Mothers in Kansas are allowed a pension of $12 per month for the first child and $8 for each additional child. Philadelphia now has four female assistant judges whose duty it is to try all cases of children now under 15 years of age.

Miss Gladys Newman, an English girl motorcyclist, has been detailed to the Red Cross service in the French war zone. Owing to the shortage of funds, Cleveland, O., has been compelled to discontinue the service of the only female policeman in that city. Graduates of the Hagerstown, Md., high school for girls are required to make their own graduating gowns which cannot cost more than $5.

BEAUTY AND AFTERNOON TEA

The afternoon tea has become a rather a conventional and necessary institution in this country, and is altogether a pretty habit.

The afternoon tea, considered from the health viewpoint, is decidedly, and harmless than some other social custom, where late hours are observed and an excess of dancing is indulged in in overheated rooms, much that is not healthful and in Afternoon tea is a leisurely quiet affair, or, at least, should be. It occupies those dull hours in the late afternoon, when there does not seem ever to be anything very exciting going on; the tea itself, when made right, is a wholesome enough beverage, mildly stimulating, not heavy, cleansing to digestive organs.

The main temptation at an afternoon reception which is a foe to good complexion is found in the things which so often accompany the tea, such as rich sweets, elaborate cakes, large and small sometimes

will be able to contribute other causes, for every wrinkle tells a tale of its own. The only method of eliminating wrinkles is to stop encouraging them, and the best beauty formulas in the world are not going to combat the foe unless a woman first corrects the habits which bring them.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

Hortense says a dry, harsh skin needs a cold cream and almond oil. If the skin is red and oily, leave all creams and ointments and apply astringent or a paste of almond meal. Do not put creams and oils on a skin already too oily.

Proper treatment for blackheads is the complexion brush of firm bristles used with warm water and pure soap at night. Follow with a tepid rinse, a gentle drying and an anointing with cream.

For a shiny nose, bathe your nose with witch hazel night and morning. To make beet rouge blot the cheeks until they are soft, take them out of the water, wash them with the skins on and then put them under a heavy press until juice is abstracted; add one-half ounce of alcohol to two ounces of the juice and bottle.

The girl with the oily hair must be especially painstaking about keeping it clean in warm spring weather, says Hortense. It should be shampooed at least once a week, and right here a word about the shampooing use of ammonia, borax and washing soda for shampooing is appropriate.

To a basin of warm water soda or borax the size of a pea is sufficient, and a dozen drops of toilet, not household, ammonia. To this should be added enough finely shaved white soap to make a thick lather. Many girls take a teaspoon of borax to a bowl of water, thinking they can thus prevent a future accumulation of oil in the scalp.

The remedy is futile. The oil will come back, oozing from the pores, and horax, soda or ammonia is useful only to "cut" the oil if the water is hard, not to effect a cure.

Hortense says that I must fight against a morbid disposition, which I am afraid I have given away to too much lately. A morbid disposition shows itself, she says, in the melancholy droop of the lips at the corners, where they terminate, as it were, in lines almost reaching the chin.

Irritable nerves are among the most successful agents for encouraging ageing lines. And I want to tell you confidently that even the best natural little massesse does not relish a nervous patient, because the results are hopelessly slow, and at the end of a treatment, if the nerves have been allowed to range, very little improvement will be noted in the drawn and wrinkled visage. This you must realize is very discouraging and a bad advertisement for her.

Other mediums active in producing shrivelled skin and old faces are ill-health, grinning, fatigue, weak eyes, lack of exercise in the skin, insufficient exercise in the open air and long periods of concentration on the work in hand. Of course, every woman of justice of the peace in Montana is Mrs. John C. Duff, who has just been appointed in Chinook county.

Mrs. Anna G. Graham of Lansdowne, Pa., is past 30 years of age, but cherishes the hope that she will yet be able to cast a vote before she dies.

The Oregon legislature has passed a law providing that women school teachers shall be paid equal wages of men teachers for similar service.

Miss Hyvart Tharland and Radueld Jousseaume, German female lawyers, are now acting as Red Cross nurses with the French army in the field.

The woman's board of trade of Massachusetts has sent out an appeal to American women to join the Red Cross situation by patronizing home industries.

Miss Edna B. Lewis, of New York city, has a lucrative insurance and real estate business which she has worked to to the highest point of efficiency by her brains and skill.

Mrs. Serena H. Blue has the distinction of owning the smallest home in the United States. It is located at Turtle Creek, Minn., and the total cost to her was 10 cents.

The Korean wife must not only act as the washerwoman for the whole family, but must act as tailor as well, for she makes all her husband's clothes as well as her own and for her children.

Because she saw the national Serbian flag from an open window, Countess Adriani Desvignas has been sentenced to six months in the military prison at Vercia.

In a recent civil service examination for the position of recreation commissioner of Cleveland, Miss Pauline Williams worked to the highest average among all applicants.

Prof. Johnson of the University of Pittsburgh, claims that the failure of college women in this country to marry is due to their being offered some of our best bachelors.

Mrs. H. B. Dyer is president of the George Washington Memorial society, which is trying to raise $20,000,000 with which to erect a monument of the "Father of Our Country" in Washington, D. C.

GERMANY TO BLAME

Sir Edward Grey Says This is the Fourth and Last Time for Prussia to Make War Upon Europe

LONDON, March 22.—War might have been avoided by a European conference when and where Germany declared, Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey told an audience in London this afternoon. At the time he was acting as chairman of a gathering which was listening to a lecture on the strategy of the war. Continuing along this line the foreign secretary said:

"Germany, from her experience in the Balkan conference knew she could count on our good will and that we were ready to do last July what we did before. But Germany refused every suggestion and on her rests for all time the appalling responsibility for the war. We now know that Germany had prepared for war, and only those who have planned for war can prepare for it."

Amid loud cheers, Sir Edward added: "This is the fourth time within living memory that Prussia has made war upon Europe and we are determined it shall be the last."

"The expenditure of hundreds of millions of money and the loss of millions of lives might have been avoided by a conference of the European powers held in London or at the Hague or wherever and in whatever form Germany would have consented to hold it. It would have been far easier to have settled the dispute between Austria-Hungary and Serbia which Ger-

TINY GARMENTS FOR THE BABY

FOR COMFORT AND BEAUTY

Here are three garments that will go a long way toward making the wee baby comfortable. There is a simple little dress to be worn in the daytime and there is also the dainty little wrapper embroidered and finished with needle work, that can be slipped on when Miss Highness is cold, and there is a plain little wrapper that is perfectly adapted to morning wear while baby is waiting for her bath. The dress is made with round yoke and can be finished with a full of embroidery as it is here or with hem and tucks or with hem only and since the material and finish make the difference between the every day frock and the one designed for more formal occasions, the same pattern can be made available in several ways. Here the French nainsook is trimmed with dainty embroidery, and a very different effect would result from finishing the lower edge with hand-sewed hem and fine tucks and these tucks can be left plain or be headed with the yoke in place of being cut from all-over material can be made from plain material and embroidered with fine lace used as a finish and when a frock is made in that way it is just as elaborate as any that baby could need. To make it will require 2 1/2 yards of material 36 in. wide or 4 1/2 in. wide, with 4 yards of embroidery, 5 1/4 yards of insertion to trim as illustrated.

The little kimono seems especially adapted to fine soft flannel, cashmere, albatross and materials of the sort. In the picture, it is made of white silk flannel and the effect is charming, but French flannel, Scotch flannel both are adapted to the purpose and cashmere is often a better weight than any flannel could be. Both pale blue and pale pink always are good colors and white is pretty embroidered either with white or with color. The pattern is perforated for saque length and really that means two garments for the saque serves quite a different purpose from the long kimono. To make the kimono will require 1 7/8 yards of material 27 in. wide, 1 3/4 yards 36 or 44 in. wide, and for the saque will be needed 5/8 yard any width.

ARMY WHICH TOOK PRZEMYSL ON TO CRACOW COURT MARTIAL

Francois Descleaux Was Charged With Stealing Military Supplies

LONDON, March 22.—The great Galicia fortress of Przemyśl, which the Austrians had so staunchly defended since the early days of the war, fell into the hands of the Russian besiegers this morning.

The last of the improvised field fortifications were captured several days ago and the final act of the drama began toward the close of last week, when the commandant deliberately expended his reserve ammunition and sent the bulk of the garrison out on the frontier's hope of cutting its way eastward through the besiegers.

With the strong Russian line tightly drawn around the fortress, the last desperate effort of the Austrians was hopeless. On March 20, 2000 Austrian prisoners fell into the hands of the Russians. The loss of the Teutonic allies in dead and wounded was fully as much more. The shattered remnants of the force retired to the fortress and they now have fallen into the hands of the Russians.

The garrison of Przemyśl originally numbered 50,000 or 60,000 men, but had fought sorties and shells must have cut a considerable number of thousands from that total.

The besieging army, it is understood, numbers 120,000 men. This force will now march on Cracow, 125 miles to the east of Przemyśl, it being the assumed determination of the Russian commander in chief to reduce the strongly fortified ancient Polish capital as speedily as possible.

As soon as the news of the fall of Przemyśl reached the headquarters of the Russian commander-in-chief a Tsar's son was chartered in the presence of Emperor Nicholas and Grand Duke Nicholas and all their staffs.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

at least two drills per month and if possible a drill once a week.

Please notify the captains of this order.

Yours very truly,
James H. Carmichael,
Commissioner of Water Works and Fire Protection.

The Water Loan

City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessey was informed this morning that the bill authorizing the city of Lowell to borrow the sum of $225,000 for water works purposes, has not as yet been signed by the governor.

The bill was passed by the house and senate last week and the governor has until 12 o'clock tonight to sign it; if he does not affix his signature before midnight the bill will become law at midnight.

Contractor Gow, who is in charge of the construction of the purification plant on the boulevard, has done considerable work in connection with the plant and has not as yet received any compensation. He was a visitor at city hall this morning and in the course of a conference with Commissioner Carmichael stated that a foundry concern had supplied the city with pipes and other articles has demanded its pay. It is believed the money will be received in a few days and then the work will be rushed along.

Fire Department

Commissioner Carmichael does not wish firemen to visit their brethren on their days off, and accordingly he has sent the following letter, which is self-explanatory, to the chief of the department:

Edward F. Saunders, Chief of Fire Department,

My Dear Chief:—You will please notify the members of the department that on their days off they are not to spend their time in visiting other firehouses where the men are supposed to be on active duty and working for the citizens. When men are given their day off they are given this day for recreation, so that they may be efficient, except in case of second or third alarms. By visiting other houses on the day off they are creating discord and I believe the efficiency of the department would be very much improved if there were no visiting at the various houses by the men in the department.

Yours very truly,
James H. Carmichael,
Comm. of Water Works and Fire Protection.

Israel Greenberg, for the erection of two double houses at 215-217 and 251-253 Shaw street. Each tenement will contain six rooms and bath. The buildings will be 24 by 52 feet and the approximate cost of each will be $4000.

Helen M. Calise was granted a permit for the construction of a brick garage in the rear of 721 Merrimack street, the cost of which will be about $3000. Annie M. Gray has taken out a permit for an addition and interior alterations to the building numbered 30 Kinsman street. The approximate cost of the work will be $700.

Public Library

As soon as the temporary roof over the Memorial building is constructed the reading room in the basement of the building will be opened for the public. Librarian Chase so informed the writer this morning and he is hoping that this will be very soon. He said he would not dare open the room until the roof is constructed for in the event of a heavy rain he fears the water would leak through.

A gang of men was put to work on the construction of this roof this morning and it may be about a week before the job is finished.

City Hospital

Supt. Martin Conley of the Chelmsford street hospital is anxiously awaiting a report from the legislature in reference to the bill which is now before its members, and which calls for the children to support their aged fathers and mothers under penalty of a heavy fine or imprisonment. Mr. Conley in conversation with the writer said it is his hope that the bill will be passed and he hopes it does, it will greatly relieve conditions at the Chelmsford street hospital. He said during the past two weeks some 21 men and women were turned over to the hospital, these people being in age from 70 to 85. The present attendance at the hospital is 215 and unless the bill is enacted there is not the slightest hope of this number decreasing.

Building Operations

The following building permits were started at the public buildings' department since today:

Alfred T. Bates for the construction of a cottage in the rear of 950 Middlesex street. The building will contain six rooms with pantry and bath and reception hall. The dimensions of the building are 21 by 21 feet and two stories in height, and the cost will be $1000.

THE RECORD OF DRUNKS

ARRESTS SATURDAY AND SUNDAY NUMBERED 47—POLICE COURT CASES

When the sun peeped over the eastern horizon this morning and the preparations began for breakfast in the local police station, the largest number of drunken offenders that has been arrested over a Saturday night and Sunday for many months, rubbed their eyes and wondered what their fate would be when arraigned before Judge Enright in police court. Besides the unfortunate that filled the cells, friends of a great many more had come to their assistance and bailed them out. In all 47 men and three women were arrested and taken to the station charged with drunkenness, 24 of whom were released this morning as first offenders by Probation Officer Slattery.

So fast did the drunks come in Saturday night that it was necessary to put two in many of the cells over night, 38 men and women registering before midnight. This has seldom been necessary in the history of the local police station, although the same thing occurred once before during the past year.

Five boys were arrested yesterday by inspectors from the headquarters of the Boston & Maine railroad charged with unlawfully walking the railroad tracks in the vicinity of Wainwright street. A plea of pleas, his honor accepted the plea and placed the cases on file but before allowing the defendants to leave the court room gave them a severe lecture about their conduct on Sundays and said that it was only the fact that a conviction would give them a criminal record and possibly prevent some from securing positions in the future that caused him to be so lenient. The court said the next time anyone is brought into court for being on railroad tracks he would impose a severe sentence as it is becoming a most serious offense.

Took Horse and Wagon

Frank Scully, a youth of 21 years, pleaded guilty to two complaints charging him with drunkenness and unlawfully taking a horse and wagon, the property of John Palmer last Saturday night. The complainant, a sewing machine agent, testified that he left his horse near the corner of Central and Hurd streets about 6:30 o'clock and when he returned a few minutes later it was not there. He reported the matter to the police and later was given his team in the police station yard.

Wagon Driver Gannon told the court that he stopped the defendant driving along Hurd street and, believing that the horse had been stolen, took the young man to the station.

Although Judge Enright was about to impose a sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory, Scully pleaded for another chance and said that he would turn over a new leaf and abstain from using alcoholic liquors. On this condition he was fined $29 for taking the horse and six dollars for a second offense for drunkenness.

Not on the Level

Joseph Rooney, aged 20 years, pleaded guilty to the larceny of a level

President Wilson Sees No Need of Calling One at This Time

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Formal announcement was made at the White House today that at present President Wilson had no intention of calling an extra session of the senate or of congress before the beginning of the regular session next December. It was said that the president sees no prospect of any contingency arising which would cause him to alter his present intention.

PERSONALS

John Brockbridge of 131 Jewett street is confined to the Commonwealth wealth hospital in Boston, where he underwent an operation for a diseased eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Tinkey, who have been away from the city for the past six years, have returned to Lowell and are making their home at 50 Canton street.

Z. L. Blissett, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Co., attended a conference of managers of this company, which was held at the American house, Boston, Friday.

Miss Jennie Fitzgerald of this city suffered a painful automobile accident at the Panama-Pacific exposition a few days ago, where she stopped while on her way to Los Angeles, Cal., where she was to visit her sister.

RETREAT AT NOTRE DAME

According to the annual custom, the former pupils of Notre Dame Academy are cordially invited to attend the retreat which will open at the chapel of Notre Dame, Tuesday, March 22 at 5 p. m. The retreat will be given by Rev. D. F. Quinn, S. J.

MOLDERS STRIKE

WAKEFIELD, March 22.—Thirty-four molders at the Smith and Anthony stove foundry company's plant struck today. According to J. H. McMahon, superintendent at the foundry, the molders objected to four apprentices beginning work 15 minutes earlier than the other employees.

BASKETBALL SERIES

The second game of the series between the Centralville A. C. and the Belvidere Professionals, formerly called the V. M. C. I. Professionals, gives promise of being one of the hardest fought contests staged around these parts in a long time. Both teams have been putting in a good deal of preliminary practice, and every man is bound to be in perfect physical trim when the whistle is blown for the start of the game.

A report was current on the street this morning that Bill King, the Belvidere star, would be seen with the Belvidere team in the next game, and the writer immediately got in touch with Manager Clark who said that he had not heard anything from King, who is working in Boston. Manager Clark also stated that if King could be prevailed upon to play, he would try to have the lineup, which have been already posted by both managers, changed. He said that he did not think that Manager Grant would protest King's playing, and said that he would try to get in touch with both King and Grant as soon as possible.

GRASS FIRES TODAY

A grass fire in the vicinity of the Lowell General hospital this forenoon called out the members of Hose 10. The blaze proved a difficult one to fight and the flames were obliged to move the scene for nearly an hour. Shortly before noon Engine 6 responded to a telephone alarm for a chimney fire in a dwelling on Lilley avenue, occupied by a family named Dupont.

A grass fire in a field off Faulkner street caused a still alarm early this afternoon. No damage. Another still alarm about 1:30 o'clock was for a fire in the Aiken street dump. It was attended to by Hose 12.

FIRE IN SCHOOL

307 Boys in Sacred Heart School, Portland March Out in Order

PORTLAND, Me., March 22.—While fire was spreading through the walls and under the floors of Sacred Heart parochial school on Cumberland avenue, today, 307 boys, ranging in age from five to 11, marched from the building without mishap and remained in line in the school yard until all were dismissed. The interior of the building was burned out, the damage being estimated at $5000.

SUIT FOR $50,000

NEW YORK, March 22.—That the federal grand jury has begun an investigation of the complaint made by James W. Osborne, former assistant district attorney and now prominent in legal circles, that Miss Rae Tanzer used the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud became known today. Miss Tanzer recently sued J. W. Osborne for $50,000 for an alleged breach of promise to marry her and the lawyer quickly responded by producing a man who gave his name as Oliver Osborne and who that he was the man who had cultivated the girl's acquaintance. A criminal complaint against Miss Tanzer followed, and she is now at liberty under $5000 bail.

The fact that the grand jury had taken up the case was made public when David H. Slade, counsel for Miss Tanzer, was served with papers directing him to produce before the federal grand jury today a letter delivered to him last Friday and said to have been written to a young woman named Helen Kaiser by Oliver Osborne.

The case also came up in the supreme court, where J. W. Osborne had applied for a bill of particulars in the breach of promise case. On motion of Miss Tanzer's counsel this motion went over until Wednesday.

ALL MUST BE CHAUFFEURS

According to an opinion from the city solicitor, J. Joseph Hennessey, all chauffeurs in the employ of the city in operating motor vehicles, must be licensed, and the attention of the heads of the various departments at city hall has been called to that fact by Mr. Hennessey in a letter, a copy of which was sent to all commissioners. He quotes chapter 2, section 2, Acts of 1913, and says:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to operate any motor vehicle in the city of Lowell without a license issued by the city clerk, and every person who has operated motor vehicles for at least one year shall be exempt from examination, provided his application is accompanied by a written recommendation from the head of the department in which he is employed."

"If you require any further information concerning things to be done that come within the purview of the law, the city solicitor will be pleased to be of service to you."

"Trusting, therefore, that you will give immediate attention to the provisions of this law, for otherwise, consequences will be to your personal detriment."

NEW RATE SCHEDULE

BOSTON, March 22.—A new rate schedule under which certain classes of communication tickets are abolished was filed with the public service commission by the Boston & Maine railroad today. The schedule provides for new communication rates on a basis of two cents a mile for 25 trip tickets. All other communication rates, except the monthly individual tickets and the tickets to points within 15 miles of Boston are discontinued.

ZEPPELINS MAKE RAID ON PARIS TO THE COLORS

Eight Persons Injured by Bombs Dropped From Airship

Trumpets Warned the Citizens and Thousands Fled to Cellars

PARIS, March 22.—Zeppelin airships raided Paris early yesterday morning and dropped over 50 bombs. Seven or eight persons were injured, but only one seriously. Four of the airships started for the capital, following the valley of the Oise. Only two, however, reached their goal. Missiles also were dropped at Compiègne, Ribecourt and Dreuilcourt without serious result.

Paris remained calm while the aerial invasion was in progress, residents of the city showing more curiosity than fear as to the results. Trumpets gave the signals that all lights must be extinguished as soon as warning was received of the Zeppelins' approach. Searchlights were turned upon the clouds, anti-aircraft guns opened fire, and aeroplanes rose to attack the Germans. The operations of the French flyers, however, were hampered by a heavy mist.

Official Statement

An official communication regarding the raid declares it served only to show how well the defensive arrangements would work when put to the test. The statement follows:

"Between 1.15 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning four Zeppelins started toward Paris from the direction of Compiègne following the valley of the Oise. Two were compelled to return before reaching Paris, one at Rouen, the other at Nantes. The other two were attacked by anti-aircraft guns and only passed over outlying districts of the northwestern part of Paris and neighboring suburbs. They withdrew after having dropped a dozen bombs, some of which did not explode. The damage done was unimportant. Seven or eight persons were injured, but only one seriously."

"The different stations for anti-aircraft defence opened fire upon the Zeppelins which were constantly kept illuminated by searchlights. One aeroplane was seen to be hit. The aeroplanes squadron took part in the action, but mist hampered pursuit. "Summing up, the Zeppelin raid on Paris was a complete failure. It only served to demonstrate how well the defensive arrangements work. The population was calm. On their way back the Zeppelins dropped a dozen incendiary explosive bombs on Compiègne, doing only unimportant damage. Three bombs were dropped on Ribecourt and Dreuilcourt, to the

Austria Strengthening Frontier — Relations at Acute Stage

LONDON, March 22.—The relations between Italy and Austria are believed to have reached an acute stage. A dispatch from Rome says Austrian and German subjects have been advised by their consuls to leave Italy in the shortest possible time and that a number of Germans who recently arrived in Italy are being watched because of the suspicion that they are military spies.

There have been reports for some days that Germany's efforts to secure the continued neutrality of Italy by inducing Austria to cede Trent and other territory to her were not meeting with success.

Italy, it was said, was demanding that the territory be handed over to her at once, but the Teutonic allies desired to make the transfer after the war.

Following this came reports that Austria had commenced strengthening her southern frontier, and according to a dispatch received in Paris from Rome yesterday, Italian officers of all arms belonging to the first line, who have been on half pay, have been called to the colors.

In military circles here this order is considered significant, it being contended that these officers belong to the public administration, from which they would not be called unless the situation was serious. No Austrian news on the subject is available in London, the censor in that country having, it is said, prohibited any mention of the matter.

There also are reports that Greece is preparing to adopt a more active attitude. Following a series of prolonged cabinet meetings at Athens the Greek minister of marine is quoted as having said that the Greek government had decided that the country was about to engage in some enterprise.

As the chief objection to former Premier Venizelos's policy of helping the allies against Turkey was declared to have been that Greece had no guarantee that she would receive adequate compensation, this statement of the minister of marine is considered in high circles in London as an intimation that the new Greek government is now satisfied with the allies' guarantees.

north of Compiègne without result."

"The lights of the city flickered and then disappeared, as city firemen hastened through the streets blowing on trumpets, the signals of the approach of hostile airships."

"The first of the aeroplanes was lifted, and searchlights flashing from the vicinity of the Eiffel tower to the heights of Montmartre caused the keenest interest and excitement among the population of the awakened city, but there was no panic."

Fled to Cellars

Thousands strained their eyes in an effort to catch a glimpse of the invaders, which many claimed to have seen moving swiftly in the vicinity of Montmartre. Many of the more timid sought refuge in cellars or other places of safety where they remained until sure all danger was past. The comparatively few persons who were in the streets were interested spectators, apparently careless of possible danger. All taxicabs were stopped and the occupants forced to alight.

Soon a distant roar was heard, but it was not known whether it was caused by the explosion of bombs dropped by the Zeppelins or by the fire of anti-aircraft guns. Then reports were received of the explosion of bombs in the Batignolles quarter in the Rue Dulong and Des Dames, thus making it certain that German aircraft had made another surprise attack.

Powerful Explosions

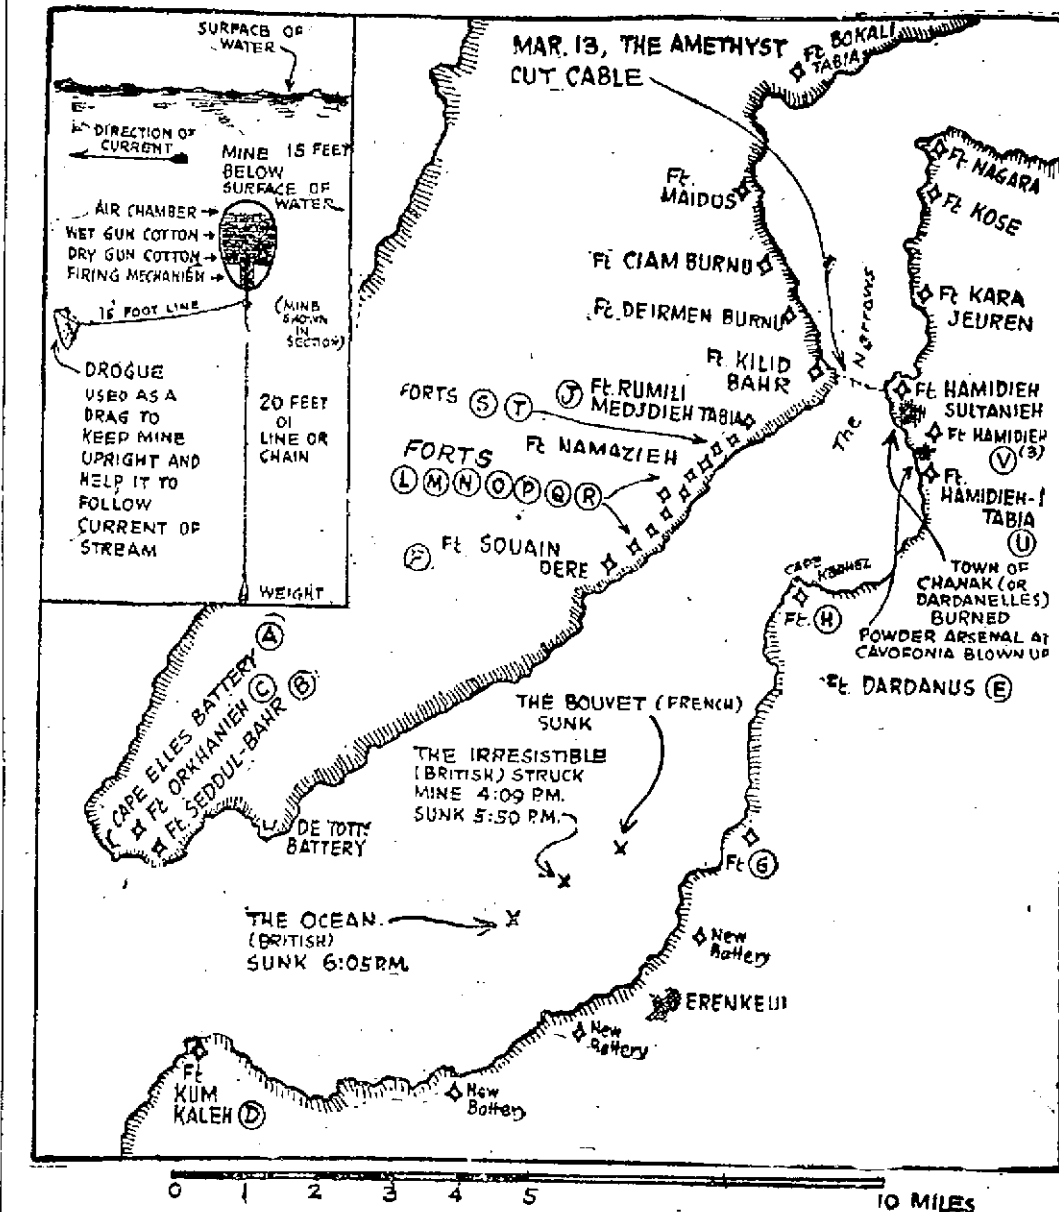

Reports followed of two powerful explosions between Puteaux and St. Omer, suburbs of Paris. Residents of this section reported having seen a large dirigible flying towards the south and then returning to the north. The searchlight on Mont Valérien flashed its rays on the craft. At the same time cannon firing was heard, as well as the whirring of a powerful motor. Gradually the Zeppelin disappeared from view in the mist.

Official reports show that eight bombs were thrown at Asnières, where three persons were wounded. An incendiary bomb set fire to a house at Neuilly, but no one was hurt and the flames were quickly extinguished.

One of the projectiles fell through the roof of a residence at La Courneuve into the nursery where a baby was asleep in its cradle. Almost every piece of furniture in the room except the cradle was smashed by flying fragments. The child was not touched. A woman living in the Rue Poissard at Levallois-Perret, whose husband was at the front, were awakened by an incendiary bomb dropping through the roof. The chemicals which the missile contained burst into flames but the women escaped unhurt.

Ten persons living in a little one-story house in the Place Courcelles, also at Levallois-Perret, had narrow escapes when a bomb apparently some what heavier than the others wrecked the building. Two youths who fell into the cellar were covered with debris, but they were merely bruised and choked with dust when dug out. No one else in the house was hurt. Other bombs fell in the Rue des

MAP OF THE DARDANELLES, SHOWING WHERE BATTLESHIPS WERE SUNK BY FLOATING MINES

The destruction in the Dardanelles on one day of the three major fighting ships—the British Ocean and the Irresistible and the French Bouvet—represents the greatest naval disaster to date in the present war. These three vessels represented a total of 40,153 tons of battleship construction, and if these figures are added the displacement of the French Gaulois and the British Inflexible, both of which ships were damaged and presumably considered for return to drydocks for repairs, the total immediate loss to the allies reaches the enormous aggregate of 88,665 tons of warships. No such loss in any single engagement has been recorded since the war commenced. The waters in the Dardanelles are characterized by strong currents which run steadily out of the sea of Marmara through the strait of Gallipoli and thence down through the Dardanelles into the Aegean sea. The current attains to velocities of from three to four knots, and it was this current which caused the catastrophe. The three vessels which would float down from Çanakkale directly toward the ships of the allies lying below. These current mines have all the destructive powers of a torpedo fired by a submarine. They contain gunpowder charges, the same as the usual charges, and are invulnerable, since they are weighted so as to keep submerged at a distance of about fifteen feet below the surface. A drag attached to the up and down chain seems to give direction to the mine, keeps it in the current and prevents it from shooting off shoreward. Once the mines are launched fair with the current they may be depended upon to float true along with it, unseen and unharmed, and only needing the shock of contact with a ship's bottom to cause the fulminate of mercury detonators to function, and in turn to detonate the whole tremendous mass of gunpowder contained within the shell. No warship afloat has been built that can withstand the effect of 500 pounds of gunpowder detonated alongside her underwater hull, and the effect is to blow asunder hull and bulkheads, and with even chances of exploding by sympathetic shock the magazines of the ship herself. This is just what in all probability happened to the Ocean and her helpless consort. This destruction appears to have been as complete as it was sudden, and the marks were indelibly those of the deadly current mine.

CARLOAD RATES ON APPLES
WASHINGTON, March 22.—Carload rates on apples over the Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania and other railroads from producing points in Virginia and West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and Southern Pennsylvania to various sections of the country were found not to be unreasonable today by the interstate commerce commission when compared with the rates from New York and New England producing points. Complaint by the Eastern Fruit Growers' association representing 540,000 acres of apple bearing trees was dismissed.

U.S. SHOTS HALT GERMAN VESSEL TWO KILLED, ONE HURT IN CRASH

Steamer Held at San Juan Since August 6, 1914

SAN JUAN, P. R., March 22.—The German merchant steamer Odenwald, which attempted to leave port yesterday afternoon without obtaining clearance papers, was stopped as she was passing out the entrance to the harbor, by two shots across her bow from a 3-inch gun, and direct shots from a Maxim.

She then returned and was taken in charge by the collector of customs. Permission to sail was refused the Odenwald by the collector, pending instructions from Washington.

The steamer has been at San Juan since Aug. 6. She was bound for European ports from the West Indies with freight and passengers and sought refuge here. Three days ago she began coaling and taking on provisions.

Falling to obtain the necessary clearance papers, her commander apparently decided to risk the attempt to put to sea. A heavy gun on Morro Castle sent two shots across her bows in way of warning, but it was not until the machine gun opened a direct fire that the steamer stopped and headed back to port.

Joy Ride Ended When Car Hit Tree at Gardner

Driver Arrested and Held in $5000 in Manslaughter Charge

GARDNER, March 22.—Two men were instantly killed and a third seriously injured early yesterday morning when a joy ride terminated with the crash of their machine into a tree in the Ashburnham road, in the outskirts of this town.

Charles Peabody of Winchendon, 27 years old, and Leon Bezio, 25, of Winchendon, are dead as a result of the tragedy. Walter Peabody, a brother of Charles, is at the Gardner hospital with a broken leg and several bad bruises.

The police arrested and charged with manslaughter Maurice Dery, who they allege drove the car and who, of all the occupants, was uninjured.

Dery has been bailed, the sum of $5000 having been raised for his release by relatives.

Lowell Opera House

L and G The sign of the last word in amusement.

To the People of Lowell:

One week in your company has been a delightful experience. We came here with the idea of giving you the very best in music and in pictures, having abundant faith in your discriminating judgment. Consistent with this belief we spared no expense in striving for the best in every respect, and we state frankly that your appreciation has been more than we anticipated. You have given us every encouragement possible to bring to the Lowell Opera House the very best the world offers in picturization. We assure you that your confidence is prized, and that we shall endeavor to justify it.

This week, we offer as our first feature film, dainty and magnetic Marguerite Clark, in the fascinating romance, "Gretna Green," management of Daniel Frohman, a production of the highest type. This will entertain for three days, following which will come John Barrymore, in the comedy success, "Are You a Mason?" Other films of variety and quality we promise for every performance.

A feature will be the first of a series of paintings by the celebrated French artist, Paul Philippoteaux, entitled "The Congress of Nations," with specially arranged lighting effects. We know this is a feature that will please you, and later, we are going to tell you about a proposition by which you may have all of the famous works of this great master reproduced for your home.

Please remember that Dr. Delevanti presides at the Wurflitzer pipe organ and has for his program feature, selections from "The Mikado," the first three days, afternoon and evening. The Frédette orchestra of soloists will deliver an exceptional program.

Key to Austrian Empire Surrendered to the Russians—Other War News

PETROGRAD, March 22.—It was announced officially this morning that the Galician fortress of Przemyśl surrendered to the Russians today.

The siege of Przemyśl, an Austrian stronghold in the province of Galicia, has been under way since the early days of the war. It has been a bitter and relentless siege which has never been relaxed for a day since the Russians invested the city. Several attempts of the Austrians to raise the siege, the latest of which was made only a short time ago, have failed.

THE POSTAL BILL

Sen. Weeks Takes Issue With Postmaster General Burleson

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Senator Weeks, republican member of the post-office committee, took issue today with Postmaster General Burleson's statement that the postal bill was defeated at the last congress by the activities of railroads disaffected with its provision for changing the basis of railway mail pay.

Senator Weeks declared in a prepared statement that the bill failed because senators insisted that the question be determined after mature deliberation of the subject and not on the department's own conclusions.

"The subject was not suitably debated in the house and there was absolutely no time for debate in the senate," said Senator Weeks. "I am astonished that the department is willing to be responsible for instituting such a propaganda."

Senator Weeks charged the postoffice department itself with being responsible for the bill's failure.

NO CHANGE IN POLICY

NO RECOGNITION OF MEXICAN GOVERNMENT WHICH IS NOT RESULT OF ORDERLY ELECTION

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Recent events in Mexico have not changed President Wilson's determination not to recognize any government there which is not the result of orderly elections. Various reports of efforts to induce the United States to recognize General Villa were met at the White House today with the statement that the president's policy was unchanged and that he had no intention of departing from it.

ARGUMENTS MADE IN THE MURDER CASE

Presentation of Evidence Concluded at 2.15 This Afternoon After Which Atty. Donahue Made Arguments for Defendants Followed by District Attorney Corcoran for Prosecution

The seventh and what was said would probably be the last day of the Gingsras murder trial was ushered in at the superior criminal court in Gorham street this morning and the crowd was greater than on any of the previous days.

The rush up the back stairs when the doors were thrown open was a scene such as is rarely witnessed at the superior court. Men and women were crowding and jostling each other and one of the court officers said it reminded him of a football rush. Three minutes after the door was thrown open at the foot of the stairs, every seat in the court room, with the exception of the jurors' seats was taken. The trial is not a very sensational one, but it seems to have great power of attraction.

Sanuta Cross Examined

The court came in at 10.10 and all jurors except the Gingsras jurors were excused until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

District Attorney Corcoran resumed his cross-examination of Sanuta, one of the two defendants.

"You stated Saturday that you started the two motors on the morning of the murder. Was that true?" said the district attorney.

"Yes, I started both motors," came Sanuta's reply through the interpreter.

"When did you start the second motor?"

"After we had one truck load of skins ready."

"You understand a good deal of English, don't you, Sanuta?"

"No—only some words."

"Did you ever tell anyone that Martin started the second motor?"

"I don't remember that."

"Do you remember testifying at the inquest at the police station?"

"Yes."

"Do you remember Supt. Welch asking you if you told Martin to start the second motor?"

"I don't remember."

"Do you remember telling Mr. Welch that after you had a pile of skins on the truck you told Martin to start the second motor?"

"I can't remember."

"How long after Martin got down did you have the skins on the truck?"

"Don't remember."

"Do you remember being asked that question at the inquest?"

"I can't remember."

"Do you remember that you told Supt. Welch that it was 15 minutes after Martin came down?"

"I don't remember."

"Do you remember being asked how long Martin was taking skins out of the vat before you told him to turn on the motor?"

"No."

"Do you remember replying four or five minutes?"

"I can't remember."

"Did you say at the inquest that you saw Martin coming, dressed and ready for work, about four minutes after you saw Gingsras going upstairs?"

"I saw Charlie about 5 or 10 minutes of 4."

"Then you never said that it might be three or it might be four minutes?"

SUITS FOR DAMAGES SIX FIREMEN INJURED

BROUGHT BY MR. AND MRS. HARRY CHESLEY AGAINST WILLIAM H. PENN

Two suits growing out of an automobile collision at the corner of Main and Talmage streets early in January have been brought by Harry W. Chesley and his wife, Mary J., against William H. Penn, of Lincoln street. The former claims $1000 damages while Mrs. Chesley asks for $5000. Attachments were filed at the local registry of deeds today and the writs are returnable on the first Monday in April, Warren W. Fox represents the plaintiffs.

It is alleged that in an automobile accident, Mrs. Chesley was thrown from the vehicle in which she was riding and seriously injured.

FUNERAL NOTICE

BERLIN, March 22.—(Via wireless to Sarville, N. Y.) An official statement given out today by the German army headquarters says:

"A fresh attempt to take the German position on the south slope of the Lorelei heights was made last night but resulted in failure. Another French night attack, this time north of Le Mesnil in the Champagne district, also was without success. Furthermore all the French efforts to win back the position at Reich Ackerkopf resulted in failure."

"The Russians yesterday were driven from Slesim on the Baltic sea. In the New Russia after a short engagement to the south of the town followed by a terrific fighting in the streets. Under the protection of Russian troops, a Russian mob looted the private property of German citizens in Mesnil. Carloads of goods were conveyed across the frontier. A special report on this looting will be published."

"North of Mariampol Russian attacks have been repulsed with heavy Russian losses."

"West of the Orze river near Jad-norask: to the northeast of Prasnyez and to the northwest of Chachano Russian attacks by night and day have broken down under the German fire. Russian prisoners to the number of 420 were captured."

FIRE DRILLS ORDERED BY ALD. CARMICHAEL

Letter Sent to Chief of Fire Dept.—Firemen Must Keep Away on Off Days—Other City Hall News

Commissioner Carmichael has ordered regular fire drills and has issued an order forbidding firemen to visit the fire stations on their days off except so far as may be necessary in responding to second and third alarms. The city solicitor notifies the council that every man driving an auto for the city must have a chauffeur's license.

The local members of the fire department, including the callmen, will henceforth be drilled once a week, according to a decision on the part of Commissioner Carmichael of the fire department. The commissioner has sent the following communication to the chief of the department: Edward F. Saunders, Chief of Fire Department, Lowell, Mass.

My Dear Chief:

In order to improve the efficiency of the fire department I wish you would have a regular day set apart weekly for drilling the firemen in the service of the city of Lowell. I would be much pleased if the days could be so arranged that the callmen would get

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES PRAISE MEMBERS OF CREW

COMMENDATORY LETTER FROM SEC. DANIELS TO CREW OF CRUISER SAN DIEGO

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Commendatory letters have just been sent by Secretary Daniels to members of the crew of the armored cruiser San Diego and the submarine tender Fulton for gallant conduct at the time of the explosions on board those vessels recently. The San Diego's boiler tube blew out following a steaming trial of the west coast of Mexico on Jan. 21, when several were killed and injured and an explosion in the fire box of the Fulton's boiler at the Charlestown navy yard Jan. 15, resulted in the serious injury of several of her crew.

Carlisle J. Christian and Maurice Twomey, both first class machinists' mates aboard the Fulton, who will receive the praise of Secretary Daniels, entered the vessel's fire room, which was filled with steam, rescued a fireman and prevented further destruction to the boilers.

Similar work was done aboard the San Diego by the following, who also receive letters of commendation: Frank Bush and Clement King, both chief water tenders and firemen; Talaford Trinidad, Willie Anding, Andrew Dethlefsen and Ray Lofgren.

POPE MAY BE WAR ARBITER

BOSTON, March 22.—The selection of the pope as an arbiter in the event of the belligerent nations in Europe endeavoring to bring about peace by arbitration was predicted by the Rev. William F. Toolis, acting pastor of St. Mark's church, Dorchester, in a sermon at the "Peace Sunday" service yesterday.

"When the time comes for discussion of peace between representatives of the warring nations all signs point to the head of the Roman Catholic church as being selected as one of the arbiters," said Father Toolis.

CHICAGO, March 22.

Pleas of not guilty were entered today in the federal district court by William Lortimer and three other officials of the former LaSalle street national bank to indictments charging irregularity in the management of the bank.

The court allowed recovery from the government of such taxes.

LONDON, March 22.

The Exchange Telegraph Co. has a despatch from its Petrograd correspondent saying that great enthusiasm was manifested in Petrograd on receipt of the news of the fall of Przemyśl. Crowds of people thronged the streets, cheering and indulging in patriotic demonstrations. The fortress was occupied by Russian troops immediately after its surrender.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—President Wilson refused today to give any information regarding negotiations between the United States and Japan over the demands made by Japan on China for commercial and other concessions. Reports of a split in the cabinet over the policy of silence adopted by the administration on the Japanese-China situation were denied at the White House.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 22.—Alleging that the Indianapolis Federal league club is insolvent, Flyn Bartholomew, former judge of the superior court and a stockholder, brought suit today to place the club in the hands of a receiver. He alleges that in addition to an indebtedness of $35,000 the club is indebted to the stockholders for the non-payment of six per cent. dividends on $50,000 worth of stock.

Judge Bartholomew alleges that the club is in an embarrassed financial condition and is losing money every day. He further alleges that he has been informed that the corporation controlling the club is about to dissipate its property and assets by transferring the club to unknown parties without in any way providing for or securing the payment to its stockholders or debtors sums already due them.

The case will be heard tomorrow in the superior court.

"AX" MURDERS

Man Held at St. Louis Accused of Slaying Three Persons

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 22.—The investigation of 30 "ax" murders committed in five states since 1911 was reopened here yesterday after the arrest last night of Irving Mitchell.

The warrant on which Mitchell was arrested charges him with the murder of William E. Dawson, his wife and daughter, who were slain in their home at Monmouth, Ill., on the night of Sept. 20, 1911. Since that time murders in Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Colorado and Kansas have been terrorized by similar crimes.

In every instance the murderer, armed with an ax, killed an entire family as they slept. Scores of persons have been arrested, but invariably the police were forced to release them for lack of evidence.

In the house at Monmouth where the Dawson family lived the police found an electric flashlight on which were scratched the words "Glorious Springs" and "Love" but it was not until the only evidence ever found by the authorities after the discovery of the bodies of the victims.

Mitchell's arrest followed a search of more than three years. He had been employed near Monmouth, but disappeared after the murders in the Dawson home. He was later traced to Independence, Mo., and from there to St. Louis.

Late last night the prisoner was taken back to Monmouth by Chief of Police Morrison and Mayor Brown of that city. Before leaving Chief Morrison said:

"Dawson, his wife and daughter were murdered by three negroes, two men and a woman. Revenge for at least ten years which the negroes believed Dawson had shown their relatives was the motive for the crime. The negro woman in the case I will arrest soon; the other man is now in the Joliet, Ill., penitentiary."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

A treat is promised Lowell Opera House patrons this week in the presentation of "Gretchen Green," with Marguerite Clark, dainty and magnetic, in the principal part, that of Dolly Erskine. "Gretchen Green" is a fascinating romance, with scenes laid in Scotland. The original play was named after the celebrated spot of the same name in Scotland where, according to the law of the early 16th century, eloping couples were married by the local clergyman, the town clerk, or in fact anybody who happened to be handy at the time such impromptu marriages occurred. About this novel fact is woven one of the most ingenious and amusing romances of the day.

In this picturesque comedy drama Marguerite Clark portrays the character of the capricious heiress, who meets and falls in love with the disguised Earl of Basset (who is residing at Harrowgate, Inconito), in the guise of a poor fishing master) disregarding the fact often proclaimed by her guardian, Sir William, that she will forfeit her fortune if she weds another than one with a title. The Earl, in a boasting moment, wagers with a friend that he will conquer the heart of Dolly Erskine, who is the heiress of a fortune worth a title. The Earl, in a boasting moment, wagers with a friend that he will conquer the heart of Dolly Erskine, who is the heiress of a fortune worth a title.

How, through an accidental statement intended to vindicate the honor of her sister, she realizes that she has declared herself to be the wife of Murray, how she threatens to obtain an immediate divorce, and how she subsequently learns that her marriage to Richard is not so undesirable, after all, are dramatically and humorously depicted in the development of the plot.

This latest Marguerite Clark characterization establishes her in a more pronounced manner than ever as one of the most charming and successful stars of the world, an actor greatly added to the already imposing number of her stage and screen admirers.

Miss Clark is surrounded with a superbly chosen cast, including such popular players as Arthur Hoops, Jolla Wolcott and Helen Luttrell. The numerous beautiful sets and the superb production, faithfully suggesting the pretty spot that is the origin of the play, and the striking and unique costumes of the period contribute to the general character of the production.

Dr. Delevanti has arranged for a program of music taken from the old time favorite, "The Mikado," and Frederick's will entertain with selections of variety and quality. Mutual and Keystone films will be seen at all performances, with the Paramount, of course, the central feature.

The management has leased the celebrated war paintings by Paul Philippot, and will exhibit them with special illuminations during the next week. "The first picture will be 'Congress of the Nations,' an admirable production.

Attention is called to the opening hours 1:30 and 8 p.m., with performances beginning at 2 and 8 o'clock p.m.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

How the "Hello" girl, by a very innocent mistake, caused six persons much grief and amusement, and how, in the end, she was rescued from the clutches of a villain, is told in "A Telephone Tangle," a straight comedy which will be presented by Joseph Hart at the H. F. Keith theatre, this week. Dorothy Regal will appear in the part of the telephone operator who caused all of the trouble, and six other carefully selected persons will play the parts of the subscribers who get thrown in contact with each other and who misinterpret everything which is said to them.

Julia Nash is one of the best known actresses on the native stage, and it is well that she has been chosen for the part of "Molly Farwell" in "What Molly Knows." Mr. Mack, since his "Kick in" was produced has risen very rapidly to the very forefront of American playrights. He has the very unusual knack of twisting life so that it shall fit into the limits of stage works, and nothing he has done demonstrates this any more clearly than does "What Molly Knows." As aforementioned the piece is not a comedy, rather does it deal with the demimonde, the half world, where those who are losing their sense of self-respect mingle with those who have quite lost it. It is a sort of melting-pot, where those who have not gone to the gutter are fast being leveled. And Mack has constructed of this a gripping story. Eleanor Cartleton will have the part of "Frankie" White, the woman in the case, and Henry Chesterfield will play the crook. The piece will be staged under the personal direction of Charles Mack, pianist and piano-accompanist, will add much of refinement to the bill, for the countless, who has long been known as one of the best entertainers on the European stage, brings here that polished refinement of manner which seems specially to be a part of imported artists. She will play several well known piano numbers and will then give a repertoire on the piano-accompaniment, which is one of the rarest of concert instruments and of which the countless is mistress.

"Lopez and Lopez" are Andalusian musicians who will bring with them not only several of the uncommon instruments of their native province, but who will show that wealth of costume for which the Spaniards are noted. Their act is called "Melodias in Crystal" and it is said to be wholly different from any other act before the public. Special electrical attachments are used in the presentation.

Herbert Cyril and Austin Stuart are English music hall performers, and their act is known as "The 'Chappies'." Cyril has appeared in this city in the past, and he is known as a most agreeable singer of ballads. Stuart has been in several of the bigger English musical comedies in leading roles. The men will offer the real flavor of the Strand, for they are exponents of the higher type of English comedy.

The "Lopez and Lopez" duo, two charming young women, are billed as "Two Girls and a Piano." They sing and dance and chatter, and play the piano. Eddie Howard is a tumbling clown with lots of novelties to offer, and the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial will offer a lot of new foreign and domestic pictures.

Grand seats may be obtained in advance. Phone 25.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

"The Black Box," perhaps the greatest motion picture serial ever produced will start at the Academy of Music today and the opening reels will be shown today, Tuesday and Wednesday. This is the first serial picture to be offered at the Academy since the theatre became the property of Mr. J. J. Lyons. "The Black Box" is a wonderful mystery story and its scenes, produced in various parts of the world, are most realistic. The picture is full of surprises and thrills. No one should miss the opening reels as they are among the very best in the entire series. It is a most unusual photoplay and will doubtless be a big drawing card at the Academy. "A Modern Magdalen" will be the multiple reel feature today, Tuesday and Wednesday, featuring Catherine Courtenay and Lionel Barrymore. There will be other fine dramas and the funniest comedy Billy Ritchie ever appeared in. This is the best program ever offered at the Academy.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
This will be a big night for the play "A Fool There Was," the title sporting editor of this paper for to-night his first attempt at play-writing is to be produced at the Merrimack Square theatre. The name of this young man as most every one knows is Cecil Dodge and the play is christened "The Lucky Nine." In four acts and as many scenes, with such a wealth of a thrilling, breath-taking human being and the action of the piece laid away out there in the West—it's a play that is bound to be a best-seller for rather partly written for Walter Woods assisted by a Lowell man, but because of the mark the first performance, and to you'll say the same thing after you've seen the play. And of course you want to see it. This afternoon will mark the first performance, and to-night will mark the first evening performance. A large variety of Mr. Dodge's friends have planned to make it a big event. Seats now.

THE OWL THEATRE
Well folks, we're to come back to boys: What do you think of Mlle. the old policy, never to change to the time. Beginning today, the regular four changes a week will prevail. And for a great big start, in order to spirit ahead of eminent and enterprising competitors, we will offer Kipling's performance.

taken from the first line, and you should see Edward Jose in this part. To understand the great folly of a vampire man. Thela Bava, an actress especially imported to play this part in this feature, will make you shudder with her weird and magnetic personality as the "Vampire." She plays in two scenes. One of which she calls her "Vampire" dress costume, the other her "Victor" dress. The first is made entirely of panther skin and has long tight sleeves falling over her hands—useful. Not only because it is a woman vampire, said Mlle. Bava one day. There are ten men in this scene, the men who take everything from women—love, devotion, beauty, youth and give nothing in return. The vampire I play is the vengeance of my sex upon its exploiters. You see, I understand. "I have the face of a vampire but the heart of a feminist." There is no denying that this woman is of a very peculiar nature, and her personality a wonderful mixture. Well, what do you think of Mlle. the old policy, never to change to the time. Beginning today, the regular four changes a week will prevail. And for a great big start, in order to spirit ahead of eminent and enterprising competitors, we will offer Kipling's performance.

THEATRE VOYONS
For the first half of the week the Voyons has a very good show with several of the best movie stars on the bill. Alice Joyce, one of the big stars, Helen Holmes, the queen of dancing stunts, Guy Condon and Leo D. Malatroy, considered two of the handsomest leading men on the screen and last, but not least, a 2-part comedy that will make you fall off your chair with laughter over two hours of entertainment for ten cents.

Lt. Commander Bricker of U. S. Converted Yacht Scorpion and Three Sailors Drowned

CONSTANTINOPLE, via Berlin and London, March 22, 10:24 a. m.—Lieut. Commander William F. Bricker of the United States converted yacht Scorpion and three sailors named Ford, Jewell and Leverings were drowned on the night of March 20 while attempting to reach their vessel with a rowboat. The Scorpion was anchored in the Bosphorus off Constantinople near Dolmabahceh palace. The rowboat was swamped in a heavy sea thrown up by a south gale. Lieut. Herbert Babbit and one sailor who were in the boat were saved. Lieut. Commander Bricker arrived at Constantinople only on March 18 to succeed Lieut. Commander Edward McCauley, Jr., in command of the Scorpion. The Scorpion is a converted yacht purchased for the navy in 1896. It has a displacement of 550 tons and has been stationed at Constantinople for some time. Lieut. Commander Bricker who formerly was naval attaché at the American embassy at Paris left that city on Feb. 28 for Constantinople to assume command of the Scorpion. He was born Jan. 18, 1875, in Pennsylvania and appointed to the naval academy from the same state in 1896.

GREAT REGRET AT WASHINGTON
WASHINGTON, March 22—Great regret was expressed by naval officers over the death of Lieut. Commander Bricker, who was well known here. Seaman Irvin Dowell was from Annapolis, Md., where his mother, Mrs. Hattie Dowell, lives. Charley Ford's home was in Oxford, Miss. Naval records show no sailor named Leverings. No official advice on the accident had been received by the navy department early today.

SEC. GARRISON AWAITS FULL DETAILS OF ACCOMPLISHMENT BY BRIG. GEN. SCOTT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22—Secretary Garrison today awaited full details as to how Brig. Gen. Scott, chief of staff of the army, succeeded in persuading the four Piute Indians who recently led a band of their tribesmen on the warpath when the federal authorities attempted to arrest Tse Xa-Gat for murder to return with him. Only meagre advice had been received from General Scott, who in a message from Bull, Utah, announcing the success of his mission, said he was on his way to Salt Lake City with the four Piutes and that all was quiet when he left southern Utah. Secretary Garrison promptly sent a message of congratulation to General Scott, who in undertaking his mission went unarmed and accompanied only by an orderly and two Navajo scouts.

WIRELESS REPORTS FROM SEALING FLEETS INDICATE THAT OUTLOOK IS UNFAVORABLE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 22.—Wireless reports received today from the sealing fleets indicate that the outlook for the season is unfavorable. The eight steamers off the eastern coast of New Foundland are now jammed in the heavy floes off Cape St. John at the northern point on Notre Dame bay and about 125 miles south of the easterly entrance to the strait of Belle Isle. Five hundred seals taken by the steamer Florizel last Saturday comprise the total catch to date. In the average season the eastern fleet captures about thirty thousand seals by this date. The vessels of the western fleet so far have made no catch. It was reported by wireless today that the steamer Adventure and Belaventure had sustained damage to their propeller blades which will impair their activity somewhat.

EVANGELISTS CURRIE AND PETERS HOLD FINAL SERVICES AT PAIGE ST. CHURCH YESTERDAY

Evangelists Currie and Peters completed their four weeks of revival services at the Paige Street Baptist church last night. Rev. Mr. Currie's theme for the evening was "Repentance." The afternoon meeting was inspiring and the church was crowded to the doors. The chorus choir completely filled the large organ and pulpit platform, and the singing was, as usual, no small feature of the service. Mr. Currie complimented the singers on their efficiency and their sustained effort throughout the month of service and said he felt that Lowell had been an inspiring field for work because he had found such willing and efficient helpers. It was not his effort alone, nor that of Mr. Peters that counted, but rather the gathering of the harvest so well prepared by Rev. B. R. Harris, the pastor of the church. Mr. Currie also paid a generous tribute to his wife, who had joined him only last night and who was present at the meeting as a member of the church.

Rev. Mr. Harris thanked Mr. Currie and Mr. Peters for their work here. He said they had come here unknown except by reputation, but they went away with the blessing of the entire congregation. Rev. George M. Smiley, pastor of the Central Methodist church, assisted at the evening service by offering the prayer.

Forty years ago this week the founders of this business began a basement selling by moving the bedding into the floor below the street, giving it a counter by itself and one clerk who assisted upstairs when he was not busy. From such a beginning has grown the large plant so familiar to you with its scores of counters and half an acre of selling space, salespeople into the hundreds, offering Household Needs of every sort, Clothing, Footwear etc. etc. at the lowest prices in this section.

Known everywhere as the most Economical Shopping Place in New England, our Great Underprice Basement celebrates its 40th anniversary with bargains in every department.

ON NEUTRAL RIGHTS

Almost every day some principle or rule that guided nations heretofore in their respective dealings with other powers, in time of war, is being broken or disregarded and chaos and confusion have taken the place of what was once known as international law. Germany has declared her intention of adopting certain policies which seem to disregard all the rights of neutrals, and England has declared reprisals that ignore neutral rights still further. Should Germany and England follow out their proposed naval policies, we will certainly be confronted with a time of serious friction and grave uncertainty, that will tax all the diplomacy of the nation and those who guide its destinies.

Since England established her recent blockade by the publication of the Orders in Council, four neutral powers have protested—Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Holland—and, according to reports from Washington, this country is preparing a vigorous protest. What form the American protest will take is not yet known, but it is expected that our government will insist on a full recognition of what we have regarded as our shipping rights since 1812. As in all previous complexities, neutral nations will probably be guided by the attitude of the United States, for this nation being the greatest of the neutral powers is the one best calculated to protect in the name of all.

Present complications throw into relief a suggestion made by some commentators many times since the war began, viz: that neutral nations call a great international conference for the purpose of deciding what the non-belligerent nations consider their inalienable rights, and bringing pressure to bear on the belligerents for the abandonment of any war policies that inflict illegal injury on those who are outside the war zone. Such a joint protest would have greater power than the proposals or protests of all the neutrals severally, and the proposition seems entirely practical, as all neutral powers have about the same interest in the present situation different in degree perhaps but alike in kind.

As the latest English blockade of German ports is understood, it proposes to exert all the rights of an actual blockade without considering the necessity of making it effective by the presence of a sufficient naval force. England, while declaring her intention of making full reparation for any damage unintentionally done, reserves the right to stop every shipment to and from Germany, and holds herself at liberty to consider any and all shipments contraband of war. In some cases, the ships and cargoes will be disposed of by a prize court, but in others, England will confiscate shipments to and from Germany if she considers their delivery contrary to her interests. This policy might easily create a serious situation here, even the stoppage of cotton shipments and dyestuffs, meaning a decided hampering of our cotton and textile industries. As the tendency would be to make the regulations stronger instead of relaxing them, American shipping can claim no liberty during the war except that allowed by England, unless the protest of our government proves effective.

In some quarters the suggestion is being made that the United States congress take steps towards reprisal in the form of an embargo against Great Britain and France for their declaration of an illegal blockade. Such a policy was adopted in this country in 1807, but it reacted more unfavorably on ourselves than on France and Great Britain. It is not likely that anything so drastic would be sanctioned by American public opinion at the present time and in all probability diplomacy will offer some way out of the difficulty without endangering our peace or straining our relations with any power.

In the last analysis we may as well make up our minds that Germany and Great Britain will not prevent international neutrals to interfere with any effective policy towards the enemy in the present war. Neutrals may suffer and will suffer to some extent, but the grievances of neutrals are merely secondary considerations. Yet, it might be well for all neutral powers to get together and protest so vigorously that their complaint may be heard above the din of war.

PLANS FOR CLEAN-UP

The plans made by the board of trade in cooperation with the Middlesex Women's club promise a thorough and complete clean-up campaign, calculated to arouse at least a temporary zeal for civic cleanliness in all parts of Lowell. Such a campaign has now lost its novelty but coming annually at this season it cannot but have some beneficial effect, and the offender one is stirred up to consciousness of its need, the stronger will its appeal appear where it is most disregarded. The objection is sometimes made that a period of clean-up activity is useless unless it fosters permanent habits, but surely a movement of general cooperation to such an end must leave some lasting results behind.

Publicity is the great agency making for civic cleanliness—full publicity, followed by discussion by the citizens generally. It is proposed by the two active bodies in charge to have hand bills printed in various languages giving instructions for the removal of rubbish and general cleanliness. This is a good idea, especially if supplemented by individual action in the congested districts, but the greatest effects may be achieved by cooperation between the police department and the ladies in charge. If the various police officers interested themselves for a week or so in their respective beats, they could call the attention of those responsible to all external agencies making for unclean or unsanitary conditions.

The problem of a clean-up campaign for the whole city is merely the problem of a great many units—an untidy house here and there, carelessly kept lawns, broken fences, run down property of all kinds. All that is necessary is to interest the individual owners and tenants and during the period of the campaign we shall have a zeal for cleanliness and healthy conditions that cannot but leave effective memories before the time of the next clean-up campaign comes round.

IN THE DARDANELLES

The loss of the English battleships Irresistible and Ocean and the French battleship, Bouvet, together with some minor vessels at the entrance of the Dardanelles last Friday indicates that the allies must be prepared for very heavy losses if they would take Constantinople. The fact that these losses did not cause a cessation of the attempt to silence the forts indicates, however, that grave losses had been anticipated. One factor in the losses is not yet clear but upon it depends a great deal, and this is whether the sinking of the three battleships was

and there is a feeling of confidence where until recently there was a feeling of uncertainty.

THE JITNEYS

In spite of determined opposition the jitneys are spreading their sphere of action and favorable reports generally follow their activity in large cities. One of the latest cities to report enthusiastically is Providence where the five cent bus has drawn a great deal of public patronage. In the west and south the jitney is an accepted institution, but as yet it is an experiment here. As is to be expected the street railroad men oppose them strenuously and they are also opposed by street railway employees and the labor unions for obvious reasons. On the other hand the public seems to approve, but this may be because of the novelty of the experiment. Outside of the larger cities the taxi has not been a success, and it is doubtful if the jitney would find permanent favor.

SEEN AND HEARD

It is just as easy to catch cold in March as it is in any other month.

Just how short does a note have to be to be a note and not a letter?

A man may eat fruit salad, on compulsion, but it takes a girl to get really enthusiastic over one.

If the Kaiser should forget and bestow an iron cross on the sultan, would he sultan come back with a crescent?

The time will come, and before many months, too, when the fashionable girl wouldn't be seen on the streets with a stick-up feather in her hat.

A very sensible Lowell woman says that so long as she can always get the men to do what she wants, she doesn't care to rule them.

What a rickety old contraption your new typewriter seems, after the agent of a rival machine has been in the office making a demonstration.

Perhaps there wouldn't have been any war if woman suffrage had been the universal rule, and perhaps the war would have been even fiercer still.

The women who go shopping have the opinion of the shop girls, but it is nothing sometimes to the opinion the shop girls have of the women who go shopping.

After the piano mover has been moving pianos all day long, how it must rest him to get home at night and sit down to get supper and take wife on his knee!

A man always has reason for a sense of pride if the dress of his nose, and he can tell her a bit of gossip that she hasn't heard in all her travels.

Again the season of the year has come when it is particularly timely that the professional baseball player, beginning his spring practice, should live on better cakes.

A man who was in Lowell last week says—and judging by the poorest whiskey in the world is the whiskey in prohibition states.

Some people make such careful preparations for doing a little thing that when they are ready to begin they have no time left in which to get it done.

Write for any of the sporting papers your reminiscences of a baseball game that was played 20 years ago, and somebody is sure to write in the next day to show where you were wrong.

You can't be sure nowadays that there is sickness in the family when you see a man going into the drugstore, for he may be after a pack of playing cards, an ivory toilet set, or a hot chocolate.

A romantic girl always has in her mind an ideal of the man that she would like to marry, but if she has common sense she doesn't turn down on that account a likely man who asks her to marry him.

Those of us who do not eat regularly in restaurants do not know how to sympathize with those that do. For instance, a man who went into one of these purveyors of everything the other day and ordered fishballs was making a quick getaway with them, when he found that he had ordered something else. He stopped the process of fishballing, he found a wire nail about an inch and a half long bent horseshoe shape. Perhaps it was used as a hook to catch the fish that was used in the cake.

Quickly Relieves Without Distress

The congestion of waste and refuse from the stomach, fermenting in the bowels, generates poisonous gases that occasion distress and invite serious illness. Health and comfort demand that this congestion be speedily relieved and the foul mass expelled.

The well-founded objection most people have to the violence of cathartic and purgative agents is overcome by using the combination of mild laxative herbs with potent that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A dose at night brings relief next morning, without discomfort or inconvenience. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, N.Y.

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

Finds Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have pains if I overworked or lifted anything heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what your medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and do all I can to recommend it."—Mrs. A. B. BOSCAW, 504 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.

For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminently successful in controlling the diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to any of the women whose testimonial letters we are constantly publishing. They will tell you their experience and give you confidence to try the medicine.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

WAR BARBARITY

If the report from Berlin that French aviators threw bombs on an undefended town in Alsace, killing two school children and badly injuring ten others, be true the aviators should be dealt with in the most severe manner by the French army authorities. It makes no difference that the German aviators have made a specialty of killing innocent non-combatants that fact does not establish a precedent which the other warring nations can point to as a justification for similar acts. France can not afford to alienate world sympathy by tolerating or encouraging acts of barbarism and brutality. The rules of civilized warfare have been but little regarded in this war, but there is a limit beyond which none of the nations involved should push. Its armed forces to go—Springfield Journal.

MILK SITUATION

If things are permitted to go on as they are now going, the price of milk is bound to rise still higher and the proportion of cows to inhabitants is bound to be cut still more. In view of these undeniable facts, some specific and drastic course of investigation and action is imperative and the objections raised against any further investigation by certain selfish interests should be entirely disregarded by the legislature in the face of the crying necessity for some remedial action.—Practical Politics.

CURE FOR JINGOLISM

Vice President Marshall recommends as a prescription for jingolism, the assignment of those affected with the mania to places in the front ranks of the army should they succeed in plunging the country into war. That would be apt to operate as a preventive rather than a cure, for as there would be precious few jingoes advocating a war with anybody, if they were to understand that such a policy was to be pursued.—Fall River Globe.

SUNDAY'S SALARY

Rev. Mr. Sunday's occupation is of the seasonal character; that is, he does not work all the year around. He doesn't have to in order to make a decent living. The people to whom he takes pay him well—more than well in fact. If his net receipts were everywhere so great as in Philadelphia and he worked the entire year his income would be $25,000, or $20,000 more than a thousand dollars a day. Eleven weeks in Philadelphia netted $30,000, according to reports. The annual salary of the president of the United States is $75,000.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

TWO FIRES YESTERDAY

Yesterday was comparatively quiet in fire department circles, only one alarm calling out the firemen during the day. An alarm from box 55 at 12:02 o'clock yesterday morning was for a piazza fire at the home of George Smith at 810 Lakewood avenue. The blaze is believed to have been started by a carelessly thrown lighted match or cigar stub. The damage was slight. At 3:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon a hose company No. 10 responded to a telephone alarm for a grass fire off Dunbar avenue. No damage.

Fire in the kitchen of a apartment at 17 Joliet street at 7:03 o'clock Saturday night was responsible for an alarm from box 118. The blaze was extinguished before the arrival of the firemen. A small fire on Mammoth road, shortly before 6 o'clock Saturday, was promptly quenched by the members of hose 10.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

MARIE ON INSOMNIA

"Some nights I can't sleep at all," sighed Marjorie, rubbing her eyes lazily and stretching herself. "I don't even feel sleepy, but of course, I feel wretchedly tired the next day."

"Well, if one keeps in trim one is pretty apt to sleep well at night," answered Marjorie. "Some keep in trim by walking, riding horseback, dancing, engaging in various sports. Turkish baths, gymnasium work, or by making regular visits to a masseuse. While out-of-doors exercise is first choice, massage cannot be too highly recommended; for one who is versed in the art of giving such treatment is able to direct the patient's efforts intelligently, which results usually in a very apparent reaction."

"Well, I can't afford those kind of exercises," Marjorie replied, drearily. "Housework is very good exercise," Marie answered promptly. "After breakfast is a good time for exercising; for one usually commences the day filled with hope and enthusiasm, and whatever one does is done energetically. As one goes about one's household shifting the furniture and making the beds—which entails the turning of mattresses, spreading the covers, etc.—various muscles are strongly brought into action that increases circulation and strengthens the various muscles brought into use."

"Well, I don't like housework, but I'll try it if it will bring me sleep," Marjorie agreed cheerfully.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A well attended and interesting meeting of Branch O'Neill Crowley, 553, Irish National Foresters, was held yesterday afternoon in Carpenters' hall with Chief Ranger Hugh Maguire in the chair. The anniversary of the birth of St. Patrick was celebrated with an appropriate program. Two new members were admitted to the branch and three applications for membership were received and acted upon. The quarterly reports of the financial secretary and treasurer showed that the society is in a good financial condition. Immediately following the regular meeting a social hour was enjoyed in the form of a St. Patrick's day celebration. The principal address was delivered by the mayor and one of the early members of the branch. Mayor Murphy gave an interesting talk on the trials of the early Irish settlers in this country and the uphill fight that they had to gain recognition. He referred to the prejudice held by early settlers that have long since ceased to exist. At the close of his remarks he was liberally applauded and congratulated by the members present.

Others to contribute to the success of the affair were: Past Chief, Rangers Ryan and Lincelan, John O'Connor, Thomas Costello, Thomas McNamara, James Vallery, Thomas O'Hara, William Burke, John Mullarkey, James Curran and others.

LUTHERAN ORGAN RECITAL

There was a large and appreciative audience at the organ recital in the Lutheran series given Saturday afternoon in the First Congregational church by Mr. George F. Hamer of Lawrence. The recital was one of the most enjoyable of the season. The program was as follows: Bach Sonata in A minor, Reinberger Tempo Moderato, Schumann Pastorale in G, Hollins Scherzo, Scherzo in D, Haydn Spring Song, Scherzo in D, Scherzo from Sonata No. 5, Schubert Prelude No. 20, Chopin Raymond Overture, Thomas

THE New Suits

Easter styles—not for old men, but who today is old?

It is true today, that men are only as old as they act and look—

Men in business—men everywhere—seem to be growing younger.

Note the men you meet, note the youthfulness they show.

This is the modern trend; the age is progressive; "Old Fogey"—there's not one in a thousand—and that man's a curiosity.

Youth is life's jewel—keep it as long as you can—don't throw it away by thinking in old ways—by acting and dressing an old man's part.

Our Suits this Spring are for men who want to keep their youth—

None of them suggest old age—they're individual, they're dignified, they all embody a sprightly touch of youth.

To see these Suits on yourself is to note at once that they have a style that other clothes lack—and we want you to see them. The Men's suits are ready, from..... $10 to $33

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

There will be a meeting of the Loom-housers' union tonight in the Carpenters' hall.

Peter Touhey of the Massachusetts mills thoroughly enjoyed the basketball game last Thursday evening.

John Moran, formerly employed at the Federal Ship Co., as shipper will accept a lucrative position with a Boston firm.

The mutual benefit association formed by the clerks of the J. L. Chalfoux Co., has had the right start and is bound to be successful.

Joe Kelly of the Merrimack Miz-Co. will play no more basketball this season, according to intimate friends, in whom he has confided.

Morton Walker, advertising man for the L. Chaffoux Co., will be one of the big men at the Mercantile bowling league banquet tomorrow night.

William Berry of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Co. has been selected to coach the Fairmount track team and he will give much of his time to his new duties.

Conditions at the local plant of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Co. are becoming more settled and the employees are more steadily employed. The cotton department worked five days last week.

Fred. Mills of the Field, Lumber
Shoe Co. made quite an impression among the members of a certain organization yesterday when he appeared as a tenor with the Fairmount quartet.

Charles B. Chase, agent of the Stearns mills of Fall River is reported to be a candidate for fire commissioner in that city. It is also said that Mr.
Chase stands an excellent chance of winning the position.

Orders aggregating $32,000,000 in value received in the course of the past six months, it is estimated, have been placed for textile commodities with American manufacturers by the various European powers.

Business Agent Michael A. Lee of the Carpenters' union has moved from Centralville to his old residence in Belvidere.

Jim Denchy, foreman of one of the departments at the Fairmount Carpet Shoe Co., stated some time ago that he was about to quit the bowling game, but we notice he's still at it.

Several large orders are said to have been received by the new Burbank factory in Lowell. The new night shift is to be put on as soon as the machinery in the card room is set up.

A baseball team will be organized by the clerks of the Fairmount Carpet Shoe Co. The team will represent the clerks of the A. J. Pollard store, according to reports. It is said that Sam Berner will be selected as manager of the aggregation and that he will also manage the team. Fred Rand will probably be given a tryout in the box.

A $500,000 order for 200,000 army shire mills, and the other two and Hewitt mills of North Adams.

Richard Preston of the Mears Adams
Shoe Co. came near beating the city duck pin record on Saturday afternoon when he bowled a 190. The record is a local affair. The city record is 176. Preston has been bowling a 170-less than a year which makes his feat all the more remarkable, and will probably try to arrange match games with Martell, Kempton, the husky fireman, and other alley stars of the city.

Freight Handlers' Union

The Freight Handlers' union met in regular session in Trades & Labor hall yesterday afternoon and transacted considerable routine business. A number of interesting reports were read and the secretary's report showed the union to be in a strong financial condition.

A Spring Tonic

It has been appreciably remarked that the men of the city are in better "frees to death." Capital has had were destroyed by fire Tuesday morning at the plant of the Blackstone Knitting Co., Central Falls, R. I.

The storehouse was destroyed and a portion of the power house burned.
The plant has been closed for several days. The loss is estimated at between $50,000 and $70,000.

400,000 Unemployed in New York

Four hundred thousand persons are unemployed in New York, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. estimates after making a canvass of 155,250 families.

The census, according to Vice President Fiske, of the company, was begun in January and continued for several weeks. Agents of the company made the inquiry among its industrial policyholders. Of the 655,000 persons covered in the investigation, 552,912 are wage earners, and the number of unemployed was 14,411, or 2.1 per cent. On the basis of these figures the company estimates the total unemployment.

Textile Workers' Union

A largely attended meeting of the Greek operatives connected with the Textile Workers' union was held in Trades & Labor hall in Middle street on Saturday afternoon and several new members were received into the organization. A number of stirring addresses were made by several prominent Greek business men and by Organizer Thomas P. McMahon of the United Textile Workers.

Yesterday afternoon the Polish weavers held a similar meeting with equally satisfactory results.

DEATHS

WOODS—Henry Woods, for the past
19 years head bookkeeper at the North Chelmsford Machine & Supply Co., and a well known among men in this city, died very suddenly Saturday afternoon at his home in Middlesex street, North Chelmsford. The cause of death was given as heart failure.

Mr. Woods hurried for a car while returning home from the Vesper-County club and had just stepped into his house when he dropped dead. His age was 71 years.

Mr. Woods had been associated in business in North Chelmsford with George C. Moore for the past 25 years and was a man of keen business instinct and mental capacity. He was born in England in 1842, one of a family of 11 children. In 1861 he married Eliza Woodroffe Darcy and came to this country in 1869. He resided in North Chelmsford since 1897.

His wife died in 1899 and he later married Marion Alice Wells of Boston, who survives besides his wife.
He leaves a daughter, Mrs. George H. Woods of Boston and four grandchildren and one great-grandchild. He was a member of the Vesper-County club, Lowell council, No. 8, Royal Arcade and Greenhalge council No.
100, Local association.

MOONEY—Mrs. Mary Mooney, wife of Matthew Mooney, about 60 years of age, died at her home in early yesterday morning by her husband at her home, 147 Fayette street. Medical Examiner Meigs viewed the body and attributed death to natural causes.

She leaves her husband, a brother,
Patrick J. Powers.

MELVIN—Mrs. Eliza A. Melvin died yesterday at her home in South Chamberlain street, aged 75 years. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Annie L. Melvin of South Chelmsford and a nephew, Charles E. Dams of Chelmsford Centre.

KANE—Mary Kane, infant daughter of Daniel and Katherine Donohoe Kane, died Saturday at the home of her parents, 24 Lawrence street, aged 6 months.

PERINIA—Frank Perinia, infant son of John and Virginia Perinia, died yesterday at the home of his parents, 5 Molloy's court, aged 9 months and 6 days.

SESTER—Mrs. Emma F. Sester died
Saturday in Westboro, aged 61 years,
2 months and 3 days. She leaves her husband, William F. and two sons, Percy and Arthur Sester. She ceased lived at 235 Cabot street, this city.

RACKLIFFE—Mrs. Emily E. Rackliffe died March 19 in Beverly at her home, 11 Glidden street, aged 66 years.
She leaves one son, Charles L., a daughter, Mrs. Lindsay E. Libby, and her sister, Mrs. Harriett A. Nichols, all of Beverly.

JONES—Mrs. Ann M. Jones died yesterday at the home of her son, Edwin Jones, 95 West Sixth street, aged 81 years.

PARENT—Della Parent died yesterday at the Chelmsford Street hospital, aged 75 years. The body was placed in the rooms of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

NUTTALL—Mrs. Anne (Teague) Nuttall, a well known resident of this city, died yesterday at her home, 94 High street, aged 26 years. She leaves her husband, John E. Nuttall, her son, John Monahan, Mrs. Patrick Hayden and Mrs. James McNulty of this city, and Mrs. John May and Mrs. John Donohue, all of this city, and her father, John Teague in Ireland.

MCCARTHY—The funeral of Mrs.
Hannah McCarthy took place this morning at 8 o'clock from the funeral chapel of Undertaker Charles H.
Molloy on Market street and was largely attended. A funeral high mass was sung in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock. The body was placed in the hearse in St. Patrick's cemetery where Rev. James Kerigan read the burial service. The bearers were John J. Farrell and James Whelan.
The funeral was in charge of Undertaker
Charles H. Molloy.

CLANCY—John E. Clancy, an employee of the street department, died Satcharge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

COLLINS—The funeral of the late Mrs. Martha A. Collins, wife of George Collins, and one of Lowell's well known and beloved matrons took place this morning from her home, 391 High street at 10 o'clock. The services were conducted at the services held at the immamulate Conception church, whither the remains were taken. Among those in attendance at the church were many who knew the deceased only by name. Mrs.
Collins was the soul of kindness and hospitality as those who had visited her home well know. As matron of the Chelmsford street home, her husband's administration as superintendent, she gave that same love and kindness to the unfortunate women who were brought to the home, and many were the blessings forth from the dying lips of friendless lunatics for the whole-hearted Christian woman who had made their closing days on earth comfortable and even happy, when forgotten by the rest of the world. A solemn high mass of requiem was sung in the church by Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O. M. I., pastor, assisted by Rev. John O'Brien, O. M. I., deacon and Rev. James McCarthy, O. M. I., sub-deacon, and assisting at the service within the sanctuary were Rev. James Hickey of Bechemont, Mass., and Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., of the Holy Name church, Lowell. The service also were two men from St.
Peter's orphanage, of which institution the deceased had been a true and generous friend. In the congregation were many relatives and friends from Somerville, South Weymouth, Lawrence, North Abington and Dorchester, Mass., and Providence, R. I. The music of the mass was sung by a choir composed of the following: Mrs. John Walker, who also presided at the organ, and the soloists were Miss Mae Whitely, Miss Margaret Griffin, and Messrs. John J. Dalton, James E. Donnelly, William L. Hookin and David P.
Martin.

At the conclusion of the church service the bearers proceeded to St. Patrick's cemetery where the services at the grave were conducted by Fr. Tighe, assisted by the visiting clergymen. The members of the house and church were Messrs. William L. Hookin, William L.
Cawley and John E. Adams. The casket was borne by Dr. J. A. Dorian of Lawrence, Paul Service Commissioner
John J. Moran and Messrs. Charles J.
Marren, M. J. Cahill, James Gookin and Thomas E. Macneire. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Daniel E. Hagan and the interment was in charge of Undertaker James W.
McGinnis.

The floral tributes were very numerous and of exceeding beauty. The service with short eulogies of the deceased in which deceased was laid by her numerous friends, and included a praising pillow inscribed "More Than a Mother," was read by a casket bearer from St. and Mrs. Daniel E. Hagan, and beautiful offerings from Miss Gookin and family, Gerald Gookin, Mr.
John J. Moran, Mrs. J. Norton,
Loughlin, Mr. and Mrs. F. Collins and family of Lawrence; Dr. William M. Collins, Pauline and Esther Mor-re, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Macneire.

WELSH FOR LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE

KILBANE

NEW YORK, March 22.—Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, who handed out a trouncing to Kid Williams, holder of the bantamweight title in Philadelphia recently, is now intent on after Freddie Welsh, the possessor of the lightweight emblem. Johnny believes he can easily take away the crown from Welsh and would like nothing better than a chance to prove it. The matter is now up to Welsh. As the promoters in New York are willing to stage such a battle it is more than likely that the men will meet in a ten round bout some time in the near future. A battle between these two boys should be worth watching, as they are two of the cleverest men that have ever appeared in the ring. There are many who believe Kilbane would not experience much difficulty in outpointing Welsh in a ten round contest. Kilbane handed out a severe beating to Williams in their recent bout. Upper picture shows Kilbane resting on the steps of his home. Lower, fighting pose of Kilbane.

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

Cook cleans white and colored kid gloves with a quantity of flour in a cup or bowl, and enough gasoline to make a stiff paste. Apply to the gloves and when dry brush off the flour. The same process can also be used for the removal of stains. White or light-colored kid gloves may also be cleaned in the following manner: and the gloves first of all with cream of tartar.

Leave them for an hour, and then rub them with Fuller's earth and powdered alum, mixed in equal proportions. Leave the gloves again until the next day when they must be brushed again until all the powder is removed. The next process is to rub them with oatmeal. Wipe all this off with a dry cloth and the gloves will be ready to be worn again.

When washing white silk gloves, do not rub the soap directly on the gloves but make a suds and wash them in that. The water should be lukewarm, not hot. Then rinse in cold water. A dash of bluing added to the rinsing water will keep them white. Hang in a dark closet to dry. Instead of out in the sunlight. Do not iron, but press them with the flunkers. In case they are not to be worn at once, wrap carefully in blue paper and put away.

When cleaning teapots, pot lids, the inside of pots and pans, cook has found that nothing can equal wet emery cloth. It is also good for cleaning tin or zinc basins. To clean a copper kettle, rub its surface with lemon skin and salt. Wipe the surface quickly, and rub with a dry cloth.

Keep breadboards and other wooden utensils clean by scrubbing with soap and lukewarm water, says cook, to which household ammonia or common soda has been added.

Stains may be removed from tinware by scouring with common soda, then washing thoroughly and drying.

When baking fruitcake cook puts a quarter of an inch of flour in the bottom of the pan and then oiled paper over it, then pours in the batter. This will secure a tender under crust.

The secret of flaky pie crust is the use of hot water (not boiling) rather than cold in mixing the dough. If this hint is followed the crust will always be flaky, tender and crisp.

The addition of a little soda mixed with a teaspoonful of corn starch to the cream before pouring it into the mixture will prevent curdling in the making of creamed tomato soup.

I wonder how many women who use gas know what a help and saving a steamer is. Cook has a kettle with a steamer which fits in the top, but one can buy a tin steamer with a lid for a small sum and this will fit over most kettles and basins. In this way one can boil meat and steam potatoes or boil one vegetable and steam another at the same time and by using only one burner save a good deal of gas.

Then a steamer is so handy for warming leftovers, such as starchy cake for a pudding or pudding left over from the day before. Cook often makes a nice pudding and many recipes make a big one and she puts it into empty pound coffee cans and steams it three or four hours and then what is left can be put in the steamer and warmed and it will be like a new pudding.

The reason she puts it in coffee cans is that it cuts off in nice round flat slices which look well served with sauce. This pudding will keep a long time and it is so handy when company comes unexpectedly, or for Sunday dinner, as it saves so much work on Sunday.

Cook says when baking meats the oven should be very hot at first, and then the heat should be slowly lowered to allow the cooking to be done slowly. Keep a piece of asbestos on hand to interpose between a dish and the hottest part of the oven when there is danger of burning.

Dry or tough meats can often be made tender and of a good flavor by braising. They are shut in a close covered pot, with salt, pork, stock and chopped vegetables and cooked slowly in the confined steam. Meats for broiling should be cut very thin and turned over a clear, hot fire as often as one counts ten. When the puffed appearance of broiled meat begins to disappear it means that the moisture is evaporating and the meat will be hard and dry. Braised meats have a better flavor than baked ones. The meat should be first placed near the coals to sear and then drawn back to cook at lower heat.

Cook suggests that I give the standard table of weights and measures. One cup equals 1/2 pint, four cups equal 1 quart, three teaspoons equal 1 tablespoon, 1 gill equals 1/4 cup, sixteen liquid tablespoons equal 1 cup, two cups butter, solid, equal 1 pound; four cups flour, sifted, equal 1 pound; nine large eggs equal 1 pound; two cups sugar, granulated, equal 1 pound; two and one-half cups sugar, powdered, equal 1 pound. To measure use a measuring cup holding one-half pint and marked one-half, one-third, and one-fourth. Flour, sugar and meats are placed in the cup lightly and leveled off, with a knife. Butter is packed in solid and leveled off. Tea and tablespoons are filled solid and leveled off. If a tea or tablespoon of dry material is to be divided in half, fill spoonful and level off and divide lengthwise.

SPRING STYLES

The World Looks for
New Evolutions During Coming Season

March may fairly be said to be the month of expectancy in the world of dress. The French opening will take place before its close and there are always advance rumors of what will be shown. The southern resorts are not alone open, they are enjoying the height of the season and whether we are numbered among the fortunate few who seek them or among the stay-at-homes, we are apt to be considering what is to be worn when the stormy season shall have passed and spring is with us. This season makes no exception to the rule and there is perhaps a greater sense of interest than common for the reason that conditions are peculiar and that there is a great deal of effort being made to get the best of the home talent to take advantage of the opportunity for exploitation which does not come every year. The fact that Paris has announced its usual biennial displays and that it is the keenest interest and appreciation for the work must have been done under exceptionally trying conditions and gives evidence not alone of the wonderful ability for which the French are noted, but also of a steadfastness of purpose and a determination to continue even in face of a tragedy, that cannot fail to win admiration. We must be glad to know that the dressmakers are equal to their task and do not fail to be a gratification to realize that there will be employed many who otherwise might suffer the pangs of poverty added to others that war entails, but we nevertheless must realize that home talent is to be encouraged, that we have artists on this side of the sea and that it is time that we outgrow the fetish that sends us across the water for "Parisian" with special charm and significance whether the actual output merits it or does not. As has been stated in previous letters, it is being demonstrated week by week that we can and do dye wonderful colors, that we can and do make wonderful fabrics and what we need to stimulate these industries and to give to their owners that sense of personal pride that is perhaps the greatest asset of the foreign manufacturer, the appreciation of American buyers, the willingness to look for home products and to pay for home products and just that encouragement which always comes with recognition. Our manufacturing interests are too young in this country to have that inherent pride which belongs to the freemason. It is not often that a single industry remains in a family from generation to generation and if we can build up just that condition and bring about that sense of pride, we will have gone a long way toward creating a condition from which we may expect an output equal to any that the world has to show.

This season, colors are wonderfully beautiful and are therefore of interest. In addition to the color card mentioned last week, we have those that are named after the western exposition whose doors are now open and we have also the grays that suggest the quiet tones of the uniforms of the soldiers when it is desirable to avoid recognition and then we have the brilliant military effects of the dress uniforms that are worn upon parade and we have indeed a great many echoes of the prevailing conditions that differentiate the season from any other we have known. One of the newest blues is called soldier blue. It is not the tone we are accustomed to think of by that name, but a beautiful, grayish blue that can be trusted to blend with the horizon and render him as inconspicuous as a moving object can be. We have a little green that is just the color that will be shown on some of the decorations of the exposition grounds and we have various other colors and names that are equally suggestive. In fabrics are many of notable beauty that are soft and lustrous.

That we are to have wide skirts

TYPES THAT SHOW THE NEWEST FASHION FEATURES

Empire models are always becoming to girlish figures. Just now the girl's Empire frock is in the height of style, and here is one of the prettiest possible. The full skirt is arranged over a narrower foundation, and the tunic idea is always charming. The plain little body portion is the real Empire effect and the full across the lower edge emphasizes the high waist line. In one view, flowered silk crepe is combined with charming satin. In the smaller view, embroidered voile is used over messaline and the model is a good one for many materials. Plain crepe do chine would be lovely in place of the material mentioned, and children could be used, or the net that is so well liked. If the ruffle at the lower edge is not becoming, the edge can be bound or banded with a little fur or embroidered with a few beads to make a good effect.

The plain gown in Empire style is one of the very latest developments and this model is especially attractive for the reason that it can be utilized for many materials and and extended skirts, modifications of the Crinoline idea, is demonstrated day by day. In the union of such fashions with the soft silks, is to be found another interest. The silks are lovely and those of our grandmothers were not for their take beautiful folds and beautiful lines and are without stiffness. To obtain the desired effect, cords, ruffles, flounces and trimmings of all sorts are used. We are taking our suggestions from the Victorian Era but we are making them our very own by means of variations, adaptations and the like.

For the dance and for all indoor functions, there will be a dominant picturesque or quaint note; for the street, simple styles and tailored effects will prevail and no matter what modifications will occur, it is certain that these two conditions will remain. In Florida, white serge, white gabardine and white dannel made into simple coat suits make the prevailing costumes for morning wear. For the dinner and for the dance, there is no limit to be set, but it is safe to say that nothing that is extreme, nothing that is bizarre, nothing that is overdone will have any permanent place. We are promised a season of rare opportunity and rare beauty with just that range of variety that makes it possible for each woman to be dressed at her best.

Conspicuous in the display of the new fabrics are the bordered materials that are to be found in such silks as grise de Lendre and fallie, in crepes and in taffetas and they are shown in children to be really marvellously exquisite and in many of the less costly fabrics that are made of both wool and cotton. Whenever bordered materials are unusually attractive, the straight skirts will prevail. An exceedingly interesting development of the situation is a gown that is made with skirt of such material and with a little pointed bodice of velvet either in black or in harmonizing color. An exceedingly beautiful model of the kind combines chiffon with velvet and the chiffon is so designed that it gives a graduation of colors from the hem to the bust. At the hem it is black, shading gently into a soft gray over which are shadowy flowers of the palest pink and above the flowers, it shades into a pale pink that deepens in tone until it is wonderful at the belt. The skirt is simple, straight and gathered, that the color effect may appear at its best. The bodice is a little pointed one of the velvet matching the deepest red. It is laced together at the front, is cut with round neck and without sleeves and is worn over a gumpie of white net that drapes the upper edge most charmingly and provides short draped sleeves. To obtain the very wide skirts that already are in demand without too much bulk over the hips, flounces frequently are sewed one to the other. A most attractive costume designed for a debutante is made in that way, each flounce being slightly finished in two different ways. On the figure, the neck is high with a stock collar, but the suggestion for the V-shaped neck with a high military collar at the back and sides, which is shown in the small view, is a good one and will be preferred by many women. Long sleeves are smart, but there is no fixed rule and those of three-quarter length are quite correct, they are finished with pointed cuffs and these cuffs may be of the same material or of the trimming. Just now there is a notable fancy for sleeves of a different material, but here again there is opportunity for choice since matching sleeves are used in equal numbers. In the picture the gown is made of gabardine, the sleeves and trimming are of velvet and braiding of soutache, which is both handsome and fashionable, but the model is one that can be utilized for a still handsomer gown of velvet, of broadcloth, or of charmeuse satin, or of any material which is heavy enough to be made in so simple a style.

This is the season when girls are looking ahead to commencement and

full and joined to the succeeding one by means of a silk-covered cord. The cords providing sufficient flare to give the lines that are demanded by the latest decree. At the lower edge of the skirt is a narrow band of black velvet ribbon and the little pointed bodice is all of black velvet with white net finishing its upper edge. The black in contrast with the flowered silk is exceedingly beautiful and the whole costume is one of the quaint and interesting sort that always calls for comment. Velvet ribbon, indeed, may be counted among the revivals. It is being extensively used in black and in color and is perfectly adapted to the flowered silk. A most charming gown that is being packed for Florida is made of taffeta in a fascinating shade of rose. There is a three-piece skirt that is edged with two narrow gathered ruffles and these ruffles are each finished at their lower edges with a single band of black velvet ribbon less than one-half an inch in width, while at the upper edges they are turned under to form little headings.

The bodice is a modification of the baby idea for it is cut with round neck and short puffed sleeves and is softly draped, but is extended at the front to form a pointed girdle and at the back is finished with a looped bow and ends of black velvet ribbon and around the neck and finishing the sleeves are velvet edged flills like those on the skirt.

An afternoon costume is made of tulle in one of the wonderful changeable effects that are obtained by many primary colors, but it gives the effect of pink silvery touches. It consists of a full skirt shirred over cords to form a deep Empire girdle and trimmed at about knee depth with three pinked-out ruffles.

Mrs. Sooklikian, the well known tailor and dressmaker, is now accepting orders for spring dresses and suits at her establishment, 218-220 Bradley Building. Mrs. Sooklikian learned her art in Europe and is well acquainted with the European ideas of tailoring and dressmaking. Mrs. Sooklikian is also familiar with three or more different systems of cutting and designing. All the work which leaves Mrs. Sooklikian's shops is guaranteed as to fit, style and workmanship.

to all the various entertainments and fetes that great event is sure to mean. Here is a fascinating little frock that can be made either with low or with high neck, with or without sleeves, and can be utilized both for the evening occasions and for the afternoon as well. It is Empire in effect and Empire lines are always becoming to the girls. It is absolutely simple and consequently can be made with little effort and at little expense while it is just as smart and pretty as can be. There is a short waisted body portion or tunic to which the full straight skirt is attached and the trimmings at the front and back and the drapery over the shoulders are arranged over this lining, and the girdle also is attached to it at the upper edge. In the picture, silk net is trimmed with chiffon velvet and rosebud banding, but all the pretty, dainty materials that girls like can be utilized for the model. Silk voile or chiffon would make up most effectively, and some of the new cotton stuffs are really exquisite, and either the cotton crepe or cotton voile would be charming with trimming of taffeta.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

The Sultan of Turkey has no less than 300 wives in his harem. Oregon has two women harness-makers and 20 female hatmakers. Ten thousand women are being added to the colleges every year. Colorado will probably have a woman juvenile court judge.

Wisconsin stores and factories employ nearly 50,000 women. Temple university in Philadelphia has a women's fencing club. The woman suffrage party in New York city has over 150,000 members. Columbus, O., has a board of trade composed exclusively of women.

Fargo, S. D., has three women deputy food inspectors who serve without pay. The army in Holland always trains under the watchful eye of Queen Wilhelmina.

The suffrage bill in the Texas legislature was defeated by four votes. Thirteen Fort Dodge, Minn. girls have mutually agreed to walk 500 miles each year. Branches of the National Woman's peace party are now maintained in seven cities.

Miss Marie Marlingot of France is considered the greatest female athlete in the world. Miss Helen V. Drogaris pays $1000 a month for a flower stand in New York city. Twenty-one per cent of the wage-earning women in Michigan receive less than $5 per week.

Thirty-eight per cent of the graduates ofoucher colleges have married during the past year. In Persia girls are often married to their cousins in order to keep the family property intact. Mothers in Kansas are allowed a pension of $1 per month for the first child and $5 for each additional child. Philadelphia now has four female assistant judges whose duty it is to try all cases of children under 15 years of age.

Miss Gladys Netmar, an English girl motorcyclist, has been detailed to the Red Cross service in the French war zone. Owing to the shortage of funds, Cleveland, O., has been compelled to discontinue the service of the only female policeman in that city. Graduates of the Hagerstown, Md., high school for girls are required to make their own graduating gowns which cannot cost more than $5. The first woman to hold the position

The afternoon tea has become rather a conventional and necessary institution in this country, and is altogether a pretty habit.

The afternoon tea, considered from the health viewpoint, is decidedly more harmless than some other social functions, where late hours are observed and an excess of dancing is indulged in in overheated rooms. Afternoon tea is a leisurely quiet affair, or, at least, should be. It occurs in these dull hours in the late afternoon, when there does not seem ever to be anything very exciting going on; the tea itself, when made for a right, is a wholesome enough beverage, mildly stimulating, not heavy, cleansing to digestive organs.

The main temptation at an afternoon reception which is a fee to good complexion is found in the things which so often accompany the tea, such as rich sweets, elaborate cakes, large and small sometimes varied, sandwiches of almost unwholesome composition and things, both sweet and sour, which stimulate the appetite.

All of these are usually very good for the system, but the temptation is to partake, not wisely, but too well, and thus spoil a "perfectly good" dinner appetite, load up the stomach with much that is not healthful and in a few days reap a harvest of tiny specks and pimples upon the chin and forehead.

The afternoon tea guest, as well as the afternoon tea host, will therefore be warned in time and choose sparingly of all these kickbacks and condiments. Just a small portion of this or that, just a tiny bit of many things will not harm her; but to yield to temptation and take too much, to over eat, particularly of the sweets, is to make a mistake which, unless a girl is careful of her complexion, will be guilty of.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

Hortense says a dry, harsh skin needs a cold cream and almond oil. If the skin is red and oily, leave all creams alone and first apply an astringent or a paste of alum. Do not put creams and oils on a skin already too oily.

Proper treatment for blackheads is the complexion brush of hair bristles used with warm water and pure soap at night. Follow with a tepid rinsing, a gentle drying and an anointing with cream margarine.

For a shiny nose, bathe your nose with witch hazel night and morning. To make heel rouge boil the beets until they are soft, take them out of the water, mash them with the skins on and then put them under a heavy press until juice is abstracted; add one-half ounce of alcohol to two ounces of the juice and bottle.

The girl with the oily hair must be especially painstaking about keeping it clean in warm spring weather, says Hortense. It should be shampooed at least once a week, and right here use of ammonia, borax and washing soda for shampooing is appropriate.

To a basin of warm water soda or borax the size of a pea is sufficient, and a dozen drops of toilet, not household, ammonia. To this should be added enough finely shaved white soap to make a thick lather. Many girls use a teaspoon of borax to a bowl of water, thinking they can thus prevent a future accumulation of oil in the scalp.

The remedy is futile. The oil will come back, oozing from the pores, and borax, soda or ammonia is useful only to "cut" the oil if the water is hard, not to effect a cure.

Hortense says that I must fight against a morbid disposition, which I am afraid I have given away to too much lately. A morbid disposition shows itself, she says, in the melancholy droop of the lips at the corners, where they terminate, as it were, in lines almost reaching the chin.

Irritable nerves are among the most successful agents for encouraging aging lines. And I want to tell you confidently that even the best natural little muscuss does not relish a nervous patient, because the results are hopelessly slow, and at the end of a treatment, if the nerves have been allowed to single, very little improvement will be noted in the drawn and wrinkled visage. This you must realize is very discouraging and a bad advertisement for her.

Other mediums active in producing shriveled skins and old faces are ill-health, grinning, fatigue, weak eyes, lack of essential oils in the skin, insufficient exercise in the open air and long periods of concentration on the work in hand. Of course, every woman of justice of the peace in Montana is Mrs. John C. Duff, who has just been appointed in Chinook county.

Mrs. Anna G. Graham of Lansdowne, Pa., is past 90 years of age, but cherishes the hope that she will yet be able to cast a vote before she dies.

The Oregon legislature has passed a law providing that women school teachers shall be paid equal wages of men teachers for similar service.

Miss Howard Tarlana and Radfield Rousselle, female law officers, are now acting as Red Cross nurses with the French army in the field.

The woman's board of trade of Massachusetts has sent out an appeal to American women to help in the industrial situation by patronizing home industries.

Miss Edna B. Lewis, of New York city, has a lucrative insurance and real estate business which she has worked up to the highest point of efficiency by her brains and skill.

Mrs. Serena H. Blue has the distinction of owning the smallest home in the United States. It is located at Turtle Creek, Minn., and the total cost to her was 19 cents.

The Korean wife must not only act as the washerwoman for the whole family, but must act as husband as well, for the Korean all her husband's duties as well as her own and for her children.

Because she sang the national Serblau air from an open window, Countess Dobrica Davidovic has been sentenced to one year at hard labor by the military tribunal at Venice.

In a recent civil service examination for the position of recreation commissioner of Cleveland, Miss Pauline Witherspoon made the highest average among 30 applicants.

Prof. Johnson of the University of Pittsburgh, claims that the failure of college women in this country to marry is due to the fact that they are killing off some of our best racial stock.

Mrs. H. F. Dimock is president of the George Washington Memorial society, which is trying to raise $2,000,000 with which to erect a monument to the "Father of Our Country" in Washington, D. C.

will be able to contribute other causes, for every wrinkle tells a tale of its own. The only method of eliminating wrinkles is to stop encouraging them, and the best beauty formulas in the world are not going to combat them unless a woman first corrects the habits which bring them.

The woman who values her graceful, arched instep will not contract the habit of walking about in her bedroom in slippers without heels.

Little by little this spreads and weakens the arch of the foot and even if actual flat foot does not result with its accompanying pain and distress, the practice will inevitably make the foot longer as years go by, and the instep less arched.

Many women wonder why they require a number five or five and half boot now, when only a few years ago a four fitted them perfectly. They have worn heel-less bedroom slippers for years and do not realize that the arch of the foot has little by little widened, with a consequent effect on the length of the foot.

Hortense says while you cannot change the natural color of your teeth, constant brushing with a good tooth powder will whiten them. Once a year they should be thoroughly cleaned by a dentist.

The teeth should be cleaned before breakfast and after each meal; especially before retiring. This mouth wash will be found very purifying to the breath: Antiseptic mouth wash—Boric acid, 45 grains; tincture of eucalyptus, 4 drams; alcohol, 25 drams; oil of peppermint, 4 minims.

Following is a recipe for a splendid tooth paste: Orris root powder, 4 ounces; myrrh powder, 2 ounces; oil of cloves, 2 drams; oil of lemon, 2 drams; oil of rose, 30 drops. Use solution of carmine sufficient to color, and honey enough to form a paste.

Misery of the feet is self inflicted, says Hortense. There is no need for anyone to have corns, hard or soft, bunions or other foot troubles when common sense and intelligence are given a chance, she avers. Soft corns occur on the bottom of the feet and in between the toes. As you say, these are most painful.

The first thing to do for corns is to relieve them of all pressure. A perforated corn plaster may be used, or disk of white felt or camels with a hole in the centre. The feet are soaked in hot water and the corns picked out, but no instruments should be used which have not been sterilized; that is, by dipping them in boiling hot water.

A good lotion for corns is composed of salicylic acid and collodion. Soft corns should be protected by a bit of linen placed between the toes. Sprinkle the linen with powdered tannin. Rub the corns on the bottom of the feet are treated by putting several layers of adhesive plaster to act as a kind of cushion over the corn. This keeps the corn protected from friction and in time it will disappear.

GERMANY TO BLAME ON TO CRACOW COURT MARTIAL

Sir Edward Grey Says This is the Fourth and Last Time for Prussia to Make War Upon Europe

LONDON, March 22.—War might have been avoided by a European conference when and where Germany declared Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey told an audience in London this afternoon. At the time he was acting as chairman of a gathering which was listening to a lecture on the strategy of the war. Continuing along this line the foreign secretary said:

"Germany, from her experience in the Balkan conference knew she could count on our good will and that we were ready to do last July what we did before. But Germany refused every suggestion and on her rests for all time the appalling responsibility for the war. We now know that Germany had prepared for war, and only those who have planned for war can prepare for it."

Audience cheers. Sir Edward added: "This is the fourth time within living memory that Prussia has made war upon Europe and we are determined it shall be the last."

"The expenditure of hundreds of millions of money and the loss of millions of lives might have been avoided by a conference of the European powers held in London or at The Hague or wherever and in whatever form Germany would have consented to hold it. It would have been far easier to have settled the dispute between Austria-Hungary and Serbia which Germany made the occasion for the war than it was to get successfully through the Balkan crisis of two years ago."

WOONSOCKET MAN KILLED

WALTER ADAMCZYK ARRESTED SAID TO HAVE BEEN PRESENT WHEN MAN WAS MURDERED

BROOKFIELD, March 22.—Walter Adamczyk, alleged to have been present when James McMahon of Woonsocket, R. I., was killed at Blackstone, Mass., Saturday night, was arrested at Warren today and held for a continued hearing tomorrow on a technical charge of carrying a dangerous weapon. Ball was fixed at $5,000 and in default of sureties the prisoner was committed to the Worcester jail. The police say Adamczyk admitted the shooting, claiming that he believed McMahon and his companions intended to rob him. It is expected that the Blackstone authorities will lodge a more serious charge against him. George Stryka, who is said to have been with Adamczyk at the time of the shooting was arrested yesterday.

TINY GARMENTS FOR THE BABY FOR COMFORT AND BEAUTY

Here are three garments that will go a long way toward making the baby comfortable. There is a simple little dress to be worn in the daytime and there is also the dainty little wrapper embroidered and finished with needle work, that can be slipped on when Miss Highness is cold, and there is a plain little wrapper that is perfectly adapted to morning wear while baby is waiting for her bath. The dress is made with round yoke and can be finished with a frill of embroidery as it is here or with hem and tucks or with hem only and since the material and finish make the difference between the every day frock and the one designed for more formal occasions, the one pattern can be made available in several ways. Here fine French nainsook is trimmed with dainty embroidery, and a very different effect would result from finishing the lower edge with hand-sewed hem and fine tucks and these tucks can be left plain or be headed with rows of narrow insertion, and the yoke in place of being cut from all-over material, can be made from plain material and embroidered with fine lace used as a finish and when a frock is made in that way it is just as elaborate as any that baby could need. To make it will require 2 1/2 yards of material 36 in. wide or 44 in. wide, with 4 yards of embroidery, 3 1/4 yards of insertion to trim as illustrated. The little kimono seems especially adapted to fine soft flannel, cashmere, albatross and materials of the sort. In the picture, it is made of charming, but French flannel. Scotch flannel both are adapted to the purpose and cashmere is often a better weight than any flannel could be. Both pale blue and pale pink always are good colors and white is pretty embroidered either with white or with color. The pattern is perforated for easy length and really that means two garments for the same price. To make the kimono will require 1 7/8 yards of material 27 in. wide, 1 3/4 yards 36 or 44 in. wide, and for the sacque will be needed 5-8 yard any width.

Army Which Took Przemyśl to Attack the Ancient Polish Capital

LONDON, March 22.—The great Galician fortress of Przemyśl, which the Austrians had so staunchly defended since the early days of the war, fell into the hands of the Russian besiegers this morning.

The last of the improvised field fortifications were captured several days ago and the final act of the drama began toward the close of last week. The commandant deliberately extended his reserve ammunition and sent the bulk of the garrison out on the far bank of the river, leaving the fortress in the hands of the Russians. With the strong Russian line tightly drawn around the fortress, the last desperate effort of the Austrians was hopeless from the start and 6000 Austrian prisoners fell into the hands of the Russians. The loss of the Teutonic allies in dead and wounded was fully as much more. The shattered remnants of the force retired to the fortress and they now have fallen into the hands of the Russians.

The garrison of Przemyśl originally numbered 60,000 or 65,000 men, but had fought sorties and shells must have cut a considerable number of thousands from that total. The besieging army, it is understood, numbers 120,000 men. This force will now march on Cracow, 125 miles to the east of Przemyśl, it being the announced determination of the Russian commander-in-chief to reduce the strongly fortified ancient Polish capital as speedily as possible.

As soon as the news of the fall of Przemyśl reached the headquarters of the Russian commander-in-chief, a Te Deum was chanted in the presence of Emperor Nicholas and Grand Duke Nicholas and all their staffs.

at least two drills per month and if possible a drill once a week. Please notify the captains of this order.

Yours very truly,
James H. Carmichael,
Commissioner of Water Works and Fire Protection.

The Water Loan

City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessy was informed this morning that the bill authorizing the city of Lowell to borrow the sum of $225,000 for water works purposes, was not as yet being signed by the governor.

The bill was passed by the house and senate last week and the governor has until 12 o'clock tonight to sign it. If he does not affix his signature before then the bill will become law at midnight.

Contractor Gow, who is in charge of the construction of the purification plant on the boulevard, has done considerable work in connection with the plant and has not as yet received any compensation. He was a visitor at city hall this morning and in the course of a conference with Commissioner Carmichael stated that a friendly concern that has supplied the city with pipes and other articles has demanded its pay. It is believed the money will be received in a few days and then the work will be rushed along.

Fire Department

Commissioner Carmichael does not wish firemen to visit their brethren on their days off, and accordingly he has sent the following letter, which is self-explanatory, to the chief of the department:

Edward F. Saunders, Chief of Fire Department, Lowell, Mass.:
My Dear Chief—You will please notify the members of the department that on their days off they are not to spend time in visiting other firehouses where the men are supposed to be on active duty and working for the citizens. When men are given their day off they are to be given a letter of relaxation, so that they may forget fire service, except in case of second or third alarms. By visiting other houses on the day off they are creating disturbance and trouble, and I believe the efficiency of the department would be very much improved if there were no visiting at the various houses of the men on their days off.

Yours very truly,
James H. Carmichael,
Com. of Water Works and Fire Protection.

Esrael Greenberg, for the erection of two double houses at 245 247 and 251 253 Shaw street. Each tenement will contain six rooms with pantry and bath. The buildings will be 24 by 52 feet and the approximate cost of each will be $1000.

Helen M. Caisse was granted a permit for the construction of a brick garage in the rear of 754 Merrimack street, the cost of which will be about $300. Annie M. Gray has taken out a permit for an addition and interior alterations to the building numbered 30 Kinsman street. The approximate cost of the work will be $700.

Public Library

As soon as the temporary roof over the Memorial building is constructed the reading room in the basement of the building will be opened for the public. Librarian Chase so informed the writer this morning and he is hoping that this will be very soon. He said he would not dare open the room until the roof is constructed for in the event of a heavy rain he fears the water would leak through.

A gang of men was put to work on the construction of this roof this morning and it may be about a week before the job is finished.

City Hospital

Sept. Martin Conley of the Chelsea street hospital is anxiously awaiting a report from the legislature in reference to the bill which is now before its members, and which calls for the children to support their aged fathers and mothers under penalty of a heavy fine or imprisonment. Mr. Conley in conversation with the writer said if this bill goes through, and he hopes it does, it will greatly relieve conditions at the Chelsea street hospital. He said during the past two weeks some 25 men and women were turned over to the hospital, these people having been in care from 10 to 55. The present attendance at the hospital is 515 and unless the bill is enacted there is not the slightest hope of this number decreasing.

Building Operations

The following building permits were granted at the public buildings department office today:
Alfred T. Gates for the construction of a cottage in the rear of 880 Middlesex street. The building will contain six rooms with pantry and bath and reception hall. The dimensions of the building are 24 by 24 feet and two stories in height, and the cost will be $1500.

Francois Descleaux Was Charged With Stealing Military Supplies

PARIS, March 22.—The case of Francois Descleaux, charged with stealing military supplies, was brought before a court martial in Paris at noon today. With this man appeared Madame Bechoff, the wife of a German and one of the best known dressmakers of Paris, accused of receiving the goods stolen by Descleaux.

Descleaux was formerly a chief subordinate to Minister Calliaux at the ministry of finance. He was arrested in January, charged with having stolen army rations which later were found in the home of Madame Bechoff. M. Verges and M. Dupuy, charged with aiding in the thefts, also were before the court.

An account of the conspicuous political connections of Descleaux and the prominence of Madame Bechoff, the court was overwhelmed with requests for cards of admission. Every seat in the courtroom was occupied long before the hour for the opening of the case.

FIRE IN SCHOOL

307 Boys in Sacred Heart School, Portland March Out in Order

PORTLAND, Me., March 22.—While fire was spreading through the walls and under the floors of Sacred Heart parochial school on Cumberland avenue, today, 307 boys, ranging in age from five to 11, marched from the building without mishap and remained in line in the school yard until all were dismissed. The interior of the building was burned out, the damage being estimated at $5000.

SUIT FOR $50,000

NEW YORK, March 22.—That the federal grand jury has begun an investigation of the complaint made by James W. Osborne, former assistant district attorney and now prominent in legal circles, that Miss Rae Tanzer used the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud became known today. Miss Tanzer recently sued J. W. Osborne for $50,000 for an alleged breach of promise to marry her and the lawyer quickly responded by producing a man who gave his name as Oliver Osborne and who that he was the man who had cultivated the girl's acquaintance. A criminal complaint against Miss Tanzer was filed and she is now at liberty under $3000 bail.

The fact that the grand jury had taken up the case was made public when David H. Slade, counsel for Miss Tanzer, was served with papers directing him to produce before the federal grand jury tomorrow a letter directed to him last Friday and said to have been written to a young woman named Helen Kaiser by Oliver Osborne.

The case also came up in the supreme court, where J. W. Osborne had applied for a bill of particulars in the breach of promise case. On motion of Miss Tanzer's counsel this motion went over until Wednesday.

ALL MUST BE CHAUFFEURS

According to an opinion from the city solicitor, J. Joseph Hennessy, all chauffeurs in the employ of the city in operating motor vehicles, must be licensed, and the attention of the heads of the various departments at city hall has been called to that fact by Mr. Hennessy in a letter copy of which was sent to all commissioners. It quotes chapter 2, section 2, Acts of 1915, and says:

"You will observe by this law that all persons operating motor vehicles used by the various municipal departments are chauffeurs, within the meaning of the law, and must be so licensed; and that every person who has operated motor vehicles for at least one year shall be exempt from examination, provided his application is accompanied by a written recommendation from the head of the department in which he is employed."

"If you require any further information concerning things to be done that come within the purview of the law, the city solicitor will be pleased to be of service to you."

NEW RATE SCHEDULE

BOSTON, March 22.—A new rate schedule under which certain classes of commutation tickets are abolished was filed with the public service commission by the Boston & Maine railroad today. The schedule provides for new commutation rates on a basis of two cents a mile for 25 trip tickets. All other commutation rates, except the monthly individual tickets and the tickets to points within 15 miles of Boston are discontinued.

THE RECORD OF DRUNKS

ARRESTS SATURDAY AND SUNDAY NUMBERED 47—POLICE COURT CASES

When the sun peeped over the eastern horizon this morning and the preparations began for breakfast in the local police station, the largest number of drunken offenders that has been arrested over a Saturday night and Sunday for many months, rubbed their eyes and wondered what their fate would be when arraigned before Judge Enright in police court. Besides the unfortunates that filled the cells, friends of a great many more had come to their assistance and bailed them out. In all 47 men and three women were arrested and taken to the station charged with drunkenness. 24 of whom were released this morning as first offenders after being given the once over by Probation Officer Slattery.

So fast did the drunks come in Saturday night that it was necessary to put two in many of the cells over night, 38 men and women registering before midnight. This has seldom been necessary in the history of the local police station, although the same thing occurred once before during the past year.

Five boys were arrested yesterday by inspectors from the headquarters of the Boston & Maine railroad charged with unlawfully walking the railroad tracks in the vicinity of Wameet. Each entered a plea of nolo. His Honor accepted the pleas and placed the cases on file but before allowing the defendants to leave the court room, he gave them a severe lecture about their conduct on Sundays and said that it was only the fact that a conviction would give them a criminal record and possibly prevent them from securing positions in the future that caused him to be so lenient. The court said the next time anyone is brought into court for being on railroad tracks he would impose a severe sentence as it is becoming a most serious offense.

Took Horse and Wagon

Frank Scully, a youth of 21 years, pleaded guilty to two complaints charging him with drunkenness and unlawfully taking a horse and wagon, the property of John Palmer last Saturday night. The complainant, a sewing machine agent, testified that he left his horse near the corner of Central and Hurd streets about 6:30 o'clock and when he returned a few minutes later it was not there. He reported the matter to the police and later was given his team in the police station yard.

Wagon Driver Gannon told the court that he stopped the defendant driving along Hurd street and, believing that the horse had been stolen, took the young man to the station. Although Judge Enright was about to impose a sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory, Scully pleaded for another chance and said that he would turn over a new leaf and abstain from using alcoholic liquors. On this condition he was fined $20 for taking the horse and six dollars for a second offense for drunkenness.

Not On the Level

Joseph Rooney, aged 20 years, pleaded guilty to the larceny of a level business, try The Sun "Want" column.

Present at Game
Bernard Robert was fined two dollars for being present at a game on the Lord's day. He was represented by Attorney George P. Toye. Two other boys arrested with Robert will be arraigned in the juvenile court Friday.

An Abused Husband

Margaret Bradbury was accused of drunkenness and assault and battery on her husband. It is alleged that she hit her husband with a pitcher, inflicting a severe wound. The case was continued until Saturday so that Bradbury, who is now in the hospital, will be able to appear in court.

First Offenders

After the 24 first offenders had been eliminated from the list of drunken offenders, Judge Enright, Clerk Savage, and Deputy Downey disposed of the remainder in a comparatively short time. In some cases direct sentences were imposed while many were ordered to pay small fines and a few placed on probation.

Among the group was one young man arrested wearing two suits of clothes but after giving a satisfactory explanation, he was allowed to wind his way, it being his first offense.

BASKETBALL SERIES

The second game of the series between the Centralville C. and the Belvidere Professionals, formerly called the Y. M. C. I. Professionals, gives promise of being one of the hardest fought contests staged around these parts in a long time. Both teams have been putting in a good deal of preliminary practice, and every man is bound to be in perfect physical trim when the whistle is blown for the start of the game.

A report was current on the street this morning that Bill King, the old Burke star, would be seen with the Belvidere team in the next game, and the writer immediately got in touch with Manager Clark, who said that he had not heard anything from King, who is working in Boston. Manager Clark also stated that if King could be prevailed upon to play, he would try to have the lineup, which have been already posted by local managers. He said that he did not think that Manager Grant would protest King's playing, and said that he would try to get in touch with both King and Grant as soon as possible.

GRASS FIRES TODAY

A grass fire in the vicinity of the Lowell General hospital, this forenoon, called out the members of Hose 10. The blaze proved a difficult one to fight and the firemen were obliged to remain on the scene for nearly an hour. Shortly before noon Engine 6 responded to a telephone alarm for a chimney fire in a dwelling on Lilley avenue occupied by a family named Dupont.

A grass fire in a field off Faulkner street caused a still alarm early this afternoon. No damage. Another still alarm about 1:30 o'clock was for a fire in the Allen street dump. It was attended to by Hose 12.

CARD OF THANKS

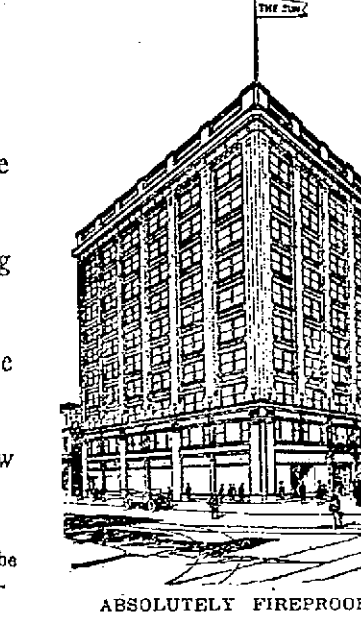

We, the undersigned, desire to thank all those who by their acts of kindness, words of sympathy, floral and spiritual offerings helped lighten our sorrow in our recent bereavement.

Signed,

RAID ON PARIS

Eight Persons Injured by Bombs Dropped From Airship

Trumpets Warned the Citizens and Thousands Fled to Cellars

LONDON, March 22.—The relations between Italy and Austria are believed to have reached an acute stage. A dispatch from Rome says Austrian and German subjects have been advised by their consuls to leave Italy by the shortest possible time and that a number of Germans who recently arrived in Italy are being watched because of the suspicion that they are military spies.

There have been reports for some days that Germany's efforts to secure the continued neutrality of Italy by inducing Austria to cede Trent and other territory to her were not meeting with success.

Italy, it was said, was demanding that the territory be handed over to her at once, but the Teutonic allies desired to make the transfer after the war.

Following this came reports that Austria had commenced strengthening her southern frontier, and according to a dispatch received in Paris from Rome yesterday, Italian officers of all arms belonging to the first line, who have been on half pay, have been called to the colors.

In military circles here this order is considered significant, it being contended that these officers belong to the public administration, from which they would not be called unless the situation was serious. No Austrian news on the subject is available in London, the censor in that country having, it is said, prohibited any comments.

There also are reports that Greece is preparing to adopt a more active attitude. Following a series of prolonged cabinet meetings at Athens the Greek minister of marine is quoted as having said that the Greek government had received all guarantees and to have indicated that the country was about to engage in some enterprise.

As the chief objection to former Premier Venizelos's policy of helping the allies against Turkey was declared to have been that Greece had no guarantees that she would receive adequate compensation, this statement of the minister of marine is considered in high circles in London as an intimation that the new Greek government is now satisfied with the allies' guarantees.

Paris, March 22.—Zeppelin airships raided Paris early yesterday morning and dropped over 60 bombs. Seven or eight persons were injured, but only one seriously. Four of the airship started for the capital, following the valley of the Oise. Only two, however, reached their goal. Missiles also were dropped at Compiègne, Ribecourt and Dreuilcourt without serious result.

Paris remained calm while the aerial invasion was in progress, residents of the city showing more curiosity than fear as to the results. Trumpets gave the signals that all lights must be extinguished as soon as warning was received of the Zeppelins' approach. Searchlights were turned upon the clouds, anti-aircraft guns opened fire, and aeroplanes rose to attack the Germans. The operations of the French flyers, however, were hampered by a heavy mist.

Official Statement

An official communication regarding the raid declares it served only to show how well the defensive arrangements would work when put to the test. The statement follows:

"Between 1.15 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning four Zeppelins started toward Paris from the direction of Compiègne following the valley of the Oise. Two were compelled to return before reaching Paris, one at Rouen, the other at Nantes. The other two were attacked by anti-aircraft guns and only passed over outlying districts of the northwestern part of Paris and neighboring suburbs. They withdrew after having dropped a dozen bombs, some of which did not explode. The damage done was unimportant. Seven or eight persons were injured, but only one seriously.

"The different stations for anti-aircraft defence opened fire upon the Zeppelins, which were constantly kept illuminated by searchlights. One appeared to have been hit. The aeroplane squadron took part in the action, but mist hampered pursuit.

"Summing up, the Zeppelin raid on Paris was a complete failure. It only served to demonstrate how well the defensive arrangements were working. The population was calm. On their way back the Zeppelins dropped a dozen incendiary explosive bombs on Compiègne, doing only unimportant damage. Three bombs were dropped on Ribecourt and Dreuilcourt, to the

The destruction in the Dardanelles in one day of the three major fighting ships—the British Ocean and the Irresistible and the French Bouvet—represents the greatest naval disaster to date in the present war. These three vessels represented a total of 40,155 tons of battleship construction, and if to these figures are added the displacements of the French Gaulois and the British Indefatigable, both of which ships were damaged and presumably compelled to return to drydocks for repairs, the total immediate loss to the allies reaches the enormous aggregate of $5,665 tons of warships. No such loss in any single engagement has been recorded since the war commenced. The waters in the Dardanelles are characterized by strong currents which run steadily out of the sea of Marmara through the strait of Gallipoli and thence down through the Dardanelles into the Aegean sea. The current attains to velocities of from three to four knots, and it was this current which the Turks availed of to launch current mines which would float down from off Chanak directly athwart the ships of the allies lying below. These current mines have all the destructive powers of a torpedo fired by a submarine. They contain gunpowder charges, the same as ordinary mines, the usual charge weighing 500 pounds. The mines float along with the current and are invisible, since they are weighted so as to keep submerged at a distance of about fifteen feet below the surface. A drag attached to the up and down chain seems to give direction to the mine, keeps it in the current and prevents it from shooting off shoreward. Once the mines are launched fair with the current they may be depended upon to float true along with it, unseen and unheeded, and only needing the shock of contact with a ship's bottom to cause the fulminate of mercury detonators to function, and in turn to detonate the whole tremendous mass of gunpowder contained within the shell case. No warship afloat has been built that can withstand the effect of 500 pounds of gunpowder detonated alongside her underwater hull, and the effect is to blow asunder hull and bulwarks, and with even chances of exploding by sympathetic shock the magazines of the ship herself. This is just what in all probability happened to the Ocean and her helpless consort. This destruction appears to have been as complete, as it was sudden, and the marks were indelibly those of the deadly current mine.

Dames, and the Rue Dulung without the outskirts of Paris at 1.45, and the first bombs began to drop on the Rue Dulung at 2.25 o'clock. At 4.30 o'clock the first bombs began to drop on the Rue Dulung at 2.25 o'clock. At 4.30 o'clock the first bombs began to drop on the Rue Dulung at 2.25 o'clock.

U.S. SHOTS HALT GERMAN VESSEL

TWO KILLED, ONE HURT IN CRASH

Odenwald Attempted to Leave Port Without Clearance Papers

Joy Ride Ended When Car Hit Tree at Gardner

Driver Arrested and Held in $5000 in Manslaughter Charge

SAN JUAN, P. R., March 22.—The German merchant steamer Odenwald, which attempted to leave port yesterday afternoon without obtaining clearance papers, was stopped as she was passing out the entrance to the harbor, by two shots across her bow from a 5-inch gun, and direct shots from a Maxim.

She then returned and was taken in charge by the collector of customs, by permission to sail was refused. The Odenwald by the collector, pending instructions from Washington.

The steamer has been at San Juan since Aug. 6. She was bound for European ports from the West Indies with freight and passengers and sought refuge here. Three days ago she began coaling and taking on provisions.

Calling to obtain the necessary clearance papers, her commander apparently decided to risk the attempt to put to sea. A heavy gun on Morro Castle sent two shots across her bows in way of warning, but it was not until the machine gun opened a direct fire that the steamer stopped and headed back to port.

GARDNER, March 22.—Two men were instantly killed and a third seriously injured early yesterday morning when a joy ride terminated with the crash of their machine into a tree in the Ashburnham road, in the outskirts of this town.

Charles Peabody of Winchendon, 27 years old, and Leon Beale, 25, of Winchendon, are dead as a result of the tragedy. Walter Peabody, a brother of Charles, is at the Gardner hospital with a broken leg and several bad bruises.

The police arrested and charged with manslaughter Maurice Dery, who they allege drove the car and who, of all the occupants, was uninjured.

Dery has been bailed, the sum of $5000 having been raised for his release by relatives.

Lowell Opera House

The sign of L and G the last word in amusement.

To the People of Lowell:

One week in your company has been a delightful experience. We came here with the idea of giving you the very best in music and in pictures, having abundant faith in your discriminating judgment. Consistent with this belief we spared no expense in striving for the best in every respect, and we state frankly that your appreciation has been more than we anticipated. You have given us every encouragement possible to bring to the Lowell Opera House the very best the world offers in picturization. We assure you that your confidence is prized, and that we shall endeavor to justify it.

This week, we offer as our first feature film, dainty and magnetic Marguerite Clark, in the fascinating romance, "Gretna Green," management of Daniel Frahman, a production of the highest type. This will entertain for three days, following which will come John Barrymore, in the comedy success, "Are You a Mason?" Other films of variety and quality we promise for every performance.

A feature will be the first of a series of paintings by the celebrated French artist, Paul Philippoteaux, entitled "The Congress of Nations," with specially arranged lighting effects. We know this is a feature that will please you, and later, we are going to tell you about a proposition by which you may have all of the famous works of this great master reproduced for your home.

Please remember that Dr. Delevanti presides at the Wur-litzer pipe organ and has for his program feature, selections from "The Mikado," the first three days, afternoon and evening. The Fredette orchestra of soloists will deliver an exceptional program.
